What Constitutes Advertising
In order to allay a misunderstanding among some as to what constitutes news and what advertising, we print this very simple rule, which is used by newspapers to differentiate between them: "ALL future events, where an admission charge is made or a collection is taken IS ADVERTISING." This applies to organizations and societies of every kind as well as to individuals.
All reports of such activities after they have occurred is news.
All coming social or organization meetings of societies where no money contribution is solicited, initiation charged, or collecton taken IS NEWS.

The strike in Klamath Falls being practically off, that city proceeds to resume business on a normal basis: K. F. is a good deal like a rubber ball. It can stand a good many K. O.'s and then come back.

You can't lead the primitive life—that is not with any degree of safety—in this day and age. Notice that the Boston couple, who a couple of weeks ago went into the Maine woods to round out their existence on the Adam and Eve basis, have been haled into court and fined $354 on sundry counts of having fished, hunted and slain game without a license.

In the Klamath Falls circuit court the other day, a prospective juryman was asked by Judge Leavitt, whether or not he was married. Receiving a reply in the affirmative, and the voluntary information that he had formed connubial relations ten years ago, the judge continuing the examination, and referring to the case, queried: "Have you formed or expressed any opinion?"
"Not since," was the somewhat astonishing reply.

MARBLE CAVES OPENING

The development of the Oregon caves is of great importance in the contemplated plans of Ashland. It is of high importance to our future sucess that all of the scenic spots of southern Oregon be developed to their most attractive possibility. The new road to the caves will be completed and a great opening is being planned by the commercial club of Grants Pass for June 26, next Monday. Ashland should be there en-masse. Many will go Saturday and spend Sunday at the camp on Grayback. A fine program has been prepared for the entertainment of the visitors, and a commodious camp has been established.

On Monday, the visitors will be conducted over the new scenic road built by the federal government and the state of Oregon, and shown through the Caves by experienced guides. A special program will be put on throughout the Caves and anyone anticipating making a trip through these marvelous wonders should avail themselves of this opportunity as the program will be most spectacular. After visiting the Caves the visitors will go back to the general camp, where a huge free barbacue will be held and a general good time had.

Epworth Leaguers On Gypsy Tour

Sunburned and tired, but happy and enthusiastic over what they declare the most gorgeously scenic round-the-circle trip in the west, Methodist Epworth League members returned the latter part of last week from their annual outing. This year the outing shaped itself into a regular gypsy tour, lasting ten days and covering 500 miles of valley, mountain and sea shore roads. From Ashland to Crescent City, Calif., and return by another route was the trail followed.

Leaguers who heard the red gods call and up and followed were: Mr. and Mrs. High and little daughter, Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Crandall, Mrs. Eric Weren, Mrs. Burroughs, Mrs. Edna Clark, Isabelle Wattenbarger, Hazel Bruner, Edna Kennedy, Ethel Reid, Jean Anderson, I. C. Wilson and John O. Rigg. Loaded into two cars and two Fords, festooned with camp equipment, they left Ashland Tuesday, June 6, at 8:30 a. m., which by a strange coincidence, they say, was exactly the time planned for departure.

Through Medford and Grants Pass over the highway, their itinerary brought them to Waldo for the first night's sojourn under the stars. Here, the beauties of smoking cook fires and boulder-strewn couches were demonstrated, but undaunted, the pilgrims drove over the mountains the next day and camped Wednesday night in the giant redwoods of the extreme northwestern corner of California. Noon of the next day saw the party in camp on the beach at Crescent City, where for three days all the pleasures of life on the sea shore—bathing, clam digging, fishing for crabs, hunting for agates, and the pursuit of the elusive sand flea, were enjoyed to the last notch. The best of luck was encountered in unearthing the modest and retiring clam, but it is reported a few of the Leaguers were not so lucky when it came to eating him.

However, no casualties ensued, and Monday morning the gypsy trail was taken up again. Through Brookings and Gold Beach, over roads wonderfully smooth in parts and excruciatingly rough in others, the caravan journeyed to Port Orford, which the Leaguers say boasts the most beautiful camping grounds on their route, set among the famous cedar trees of that section, with the open sea for a background. Tuesday the trail led through Bandon, North Bend, Marshfield and over the old Coos Bay wagon road to Camas Valley, where the last camp was pitched at an abandoned sawmill. The occasion was celebrated as "stunt night, the ocupants of each car pulling off a little entertainment for the others, each in turn. Next day, the Pacific highway was encountered at Dillard, and followed to Ashland and home.

Members of the party report much interest in Ashland's Ford and Fourth days along the road, and state that many declared their intention of being in Ashland for the two big days, "with bells on." According to John Rigg, some of the denizens of Del Norte county, Calif., have never heard of Mr. Volstead and his well-known act, as some members of this upright caravan were asked to sample the local brand of "chain lightning." He also says that the scenery held such an attraction for one of the ladies of the party that she was forced to tie herself to her camp cot nights to keep from wandering around in it in her sleep.

All the amateur gypsies unite in raving over the beautiful redwoods, the hillsides blazing with rhododendrons and alzea, the little rivers that drop down toward the sea, and the sight of the sun sinking in the broad Pacific. With profound regret, it is said, they dropped their roving career for the old routine again.

RECOVERS JUST AS HE IS ABOUT TO GIVE UP JOB

Portland Man Says He Often Had to Lay Off Days at a Time Until Tanlac Entirely Overcome His Alarming Stomach Trouble.

"I was so bad off I almost gave up my job, but I feel just fine since taking Tanlac," said Andrew G. Kregness, 1140 East 11th street, North, Portland, Oregon.

"For over two years I suffered dreadfully from stomach trouble. Everything I ate would sour. I bloated terribly from gas and there was a burning just like a coal of fire in my stomach. My head ached fit to burst and I got so dizzy it was all I could do to keep from falling. I also had pains across my back so bad I could hardly stoop over. My sleep did me no good and I always got up with an awful bad taste in my mouth and feeling worse than when I went to bed.

"Six bottles of Tanlac completely rid me of my troubles. I now eat anything, never have a headache, have gained several pounds in weight and never lose a day from work. Tanlac sure is a great medicine."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.
