Food 4 Thought

“My mother always taught us that if people don’t agree with you, the important thing is to listen to them. But if you’ve listened to them carefully and you still think that you’re right, then you must have the courage of your convictions.” — Jane Goodall (born April 3, 1934)

Pedestrian-motorist safety discussed

By CRAIG MURPHY
Of the Keizertimes

Could Public Service Announcements improve safety for pedestrians at intersections in Keizer?

That was an issue pondered by members of the Keizer Traffic/Bikeways/Pedestrian Safety committee during their March 26 meeting.

In particular, the intersection at Sam Orcutt Way and River Road North – by Bi-Mart – was discussed. There was also discussion of the intersection at Lockhaven Drive and Stadium Way in Keizer Station.

Hersch Sangster noted he had talked with Jason Heimerdinger, the video director at McNary High School, about doing videos highlighting safety issues.

“He asked what kind of budget we have and when we need it done,” Sangster said. “The issue with him, of course, is budget.”

Bill Lawyer, Public Works director for Keizer, said there is about $1,200 left in the committee’s budget.

Sangster noted changes have been made recently to improve the safety at Sam Orcutt and River.

“Some businesses on Sam Orcutt have complained about some near misses,” Sangster said. “Bill has changed the timing of the signals a little, turning from River onto Sam Orcutt. With Lockhaven and Stadium Drive, it’s the same thing. I don’t believe we have any data of actual accident at either place.”

Lawyer said there were some numbers.

“I did research on Sam Orcutt and River,” Lawyer said. “In the last 10 years there’s been three injury pedestrian-related accidents. Who knows how many near accidents there have been since those are not recorded.”

Trevor Wenning with the Keizer Police Department said he found reports of four injury accidents at the intersection.

“All of the pedestrian accidents were vehicles turning left from Orcutt onto River,” Wenning said. “When I looked into it further, a lot of it was timing. A lot of them were in the late afternoon when the sun is coming into a driver’s eyes. There are the shadows of the buildings, cars simply not seeing (pedestrians) and hitting them. It’s not an epidemic, but there are a lot of near misses.”

Sangster wondered which project would benefit the most from a PSA.

“I would like to start using money to do a video as soon as possible with McNary High School, but maybe not on this subject,” he said. “The big training will be when we do the roundabout. A locally done video on our roundabout might be good training.”

As recently noted in the Keizertimes, the roundabout at Chemawa Road and Verda Lane has been pushed back again, this time to spring 2016.

Debbie Lockhart, deputy city recorder for Keizer, noted the city already has K-23 production manager Phillip Wade on the payroll and thus Wade could be tapped to do PSAs.

Committee members Kathy Lincoln and Dennis Dunning both wondered if the money could be better utilized for a different project.

“I would rather use the money for something else,” Dunning said. “We can do a video, but I think we can come up with something else.”

Pat Fisher asked if existing PSAs could be utilized.

“I’d be curious what videos already exist, maybe do an intro and conclusion specific to the intersections and roundabout in Keizer, using the body of a video already existing,” Fisher said. “Other things may already exist in the public domain.”

Fisher noted she’ll look for such PSAs and report back at the next committee meeting on April 23.

David Dempster volunteered himself if local videos need to be done.

“I can go out and demonstrate how to do something wrong,” Dempster joked.

Sangster suggested that since spring is a busy time at MHS, anything done with the school should probably wait until the fall when school resumes. Such a decision could be made at the April meeting.

In other business March 26, Sangster gave an update on committee member John Henry Maurice. As mentioned in the Keizertimes last week, the Keizer bicyclist was hit recently while riding his bike in Central Oregon.

“He came back to Keizer today,” Sangster said. “He’s at a rehab facility off Alder Street, Sherwood Park. He wanted to make sure this committee knew he’s okay.”

Albertsons becomes Haggen, opens April 26

The Keizer Albertsons will convert to a Haggen near the end of the month.

Darcy Hagin with Weinstein PR said on Tuesday the grocery store, located at 5450 River Road North in the Keizer Creekside Shopping Center, will close at 6 p.m. on Sunday, April 26. Haggen officially takes ownership of the store at 12:01 a.m. on April 27. The store will reopen at approximately 4 p.m. Tuesday, April 28 as a Haggen.

Washington-based Haggen Food and Grocery is in the process of acquiring 146 Safeways and Albertsons in Oregon, Washington, California, Nevada and Arizona. Haggen previously had 18 grocery stores and 16 pharmacies in Oregon and Washington.

Company leaders at Haggen are planning a community meeting with local farmers, food producers, non-profit leaders and community members. The meeting is scheduled for 5 to 6 p.m. on Wednesday, June 3 in the Iris Room at the Keizer Civic Center, 930 Chemawa Road NE.

At the meeting, local farmers and producers can discuss selling their items on Haggen’s shelves, while non-profit leaders can learn about the company’s community giving philosophy and small businesses can explore co-marketing programs.

“We hope community members will join us for a fun evening to learn about how we can work together to strengthen our community,” said John Clougher, Haggen CEO, Pacific Northwest.

Band competes

The McNary High School band is tuning up for a performance in the Greater Valley League Concert Band Contest Friday, April 10.

The Celtics will play from 6:15 to 6:45 p.m. at West Salem High School.

The contest is scheduled from 1:50 to 8:30 p.m. with awards to follow immediately after.
