OLD BARN MAY BECOME "GYM."

The question of what use could be made of the old car barn to make it a benefit to the town, has been asked many times.

The High school students are answering the question—"make it into a gym and ouditorium."

It is reportid that the P. R. L. & P. Co. is willing to give a long lease to the school or any other enterprise who could use the barn.

It is a good brick one-story building about 90 by 200 feet extending along the block in front of the High school.

The teachers of the grammar school gave Miss Clarke, one of the grade teachers, a very pleasant surprise on her birthday, March 11th. The teachers invited all of the High school teachers and Miss Clarke to join them and Miss Clark was completely taken by surprise. A banquet was served in the school dining room. A jolly time was enjoyed by all present.

William Kleeb, who recently purchased the Frank Plimpton property next to the Milwaukie grammar school, has taken possession, and will move his amily to their new location in a few days. WASHINGTON, March. 6.—The nation-wide campaign of the "senate 37" against the League of Nations constitution begins tonight in New York.

Senator Borah, leader of the opposition, will speak before the Society of Arts and Sciences there. On Saturday he will speak in Boston. Borah's speeches are the first of a series to be made in practically every state, in opposition to the provisions of the league constitution as drafted at Paris.
