The Portland Telegram's poker sharp remarks that "many people who sneer at kings have seen the time when they would have extended a glad hand to one, especially if it was a jack pot."

The apathy of voters is shown by the Seattle city election Tuesday, when but eighty per cent of the registered vote was cast. And it was hotly contested, too, at least on the head of the ticket, the part which draws the vote.

Lord Hope, an Englishman, hopes to do better in the future. He has spent three million dollars since coming to age and into his estate a few years ago, and now disposes of what estate he has left for a ten thousand-dollar a year life annuity.

It is reported that the New York doctor who offered himself for vivisection—with a string on the offer that it was subject to his wife's approval—has come into a large practice through the notoriety. It will not work in other cases, though. The pioneer faker gets all the glory, not to mention profits.

The big floods in Pennsylvania and adjoining states are barely over when a fierce snow storm adds to the misery of people left homeless or destitute. At noon yesterday much of Pennsylvania was covered with from eight inches to a foot of snow, and still snowing. This is another case of bad luck getting worse.

The two mammoth steamers now building in a Connecticut yard for the Great Northern Railroad will be the largest carriers in the world, their actual carrying capacity being thirty-eight thousand tons each. That load would fill a thousand ordinary freight cars, making a continuous train from Eugene to a point a mile or two below Irving. They will run out of Seattle to Japan and China.

Kentucky is noted for her beautiful women, fine horses, bluegrass, whiskey and murderous feuds. The state has gained another distinction through a jury that was considering a murder verdict opening the balloting by prayer. We have heard of almost everything else taking place in a jury room, but this is the first case of that kind. It was at Hopkinsville Tuesday, and the defendant got eighteen years.

The "Northern" railroads seek to escape the odium that attaches to the newly coined signification of the word "trust" by calling their consolidation of business interests a "merger." It will keep honest courts and legislatures busy for some time to come to circumvent these big combinations, the sole object of which is to reap greater profits from public patronage—to tax every man, woman and child in the territory they control in order that stockholders may draw down bigger dividends.

A new device for safety at railroad crossings is a shaft of electric light projected upwards for hundreds of feet the size of an ordinary human body. It can be seen ten miles, thus giving abundant warning to people along the track and approaching trains. There are places where the ordinary headlight cannot be seen until the train is almost on the crossing. For instance at McVey Point, three miles above Eugene, an up train is almost on a vehicle before the traveler coming down the short pitch to the track can see light or train. And the same light is projected ahead along the track making it lighter than day for the engineer.

Counterfeit Gold.

Few persons know that the gold used in color printing and on picture frames is made from a composition powder of bronze and spelter, and not from pure gold leaf, but which, however gives the same effect. There is another article that is very much imitated, and that is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Spurious dealers often refill the bottles, and thus give them the same appearance as the original, but unless they have our Private Stamp unbroken over the neck they are not genuine. Refuse all such imitations. The genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has an unequalled record of cures of stomach complaints back of it, such as dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, biliousness, nervousness, insomnia, and malaria, fever and ague.

Pure Home Made Brandy.

For liver, kidney or stomach troubles, colds, lagrippe or biliousness there is nothing better than Francis' pure brandies. All orders promptly filled with prune, apple or pear brandy at 75 cents per quart, or $2.50 per gallon. Orders by stage or express will be securely boxed. Made and sold to consumers only.

OLD PEOPLE

Have a charm of their own when they are not weak and feeble, but hale and hearty, enjoying the sports and pleasures of youth though they cannot participate in them. The whole secret of a sturdy old age is this: Keep the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition in perfect order. The young man who does not think of his stomach will be made to think of it as he grows old. It is the "weak" stomach, incapable of supplying the adequate nutrition for the body, which causes the weakness and feebleness of old age.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It makes the "weak" stomach strong, and so enables the body to be fully nourished and strengthened by the food which is eaten.

"I suffered for six years with constipation and indigestion, during which time I employed several physicians, but they could not reach my case," writes Mr. G. Poppiewell, of Barckes Station, Carroll Co., Ark. "It felt like there was a lump in me, could not retain food on my stomach, the vertigo and would fall helpless to the floor. Two years ago I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pellets' and improved from the start. After taking twelve bottles of the 'Discovery' I was able to do light work, and have been improving ever since. I am now in good health for one of my age—70 years. I owe it all to Dr. Pierce's medicines".

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Useful Men.

A well known Philadelphia society woman said the other day:

"I have come to separate the men of my acquaintance into three classes. There are the dancing men, the dinner men and the corner men, and each has his own place on my list. For instance, I would never think of depending upon dancing men for a dinner. The dancing man is generally callow, and he doesn't know much else besides dancing. On the other hand, the dinner man seldom dances, but he is a good talker, is superficially informed upon the lighter topics of the day—the opera, drama, the latest novels—and can more than hold up his end. He doesn't allow conversation to lag, and consequently he is an important factor at a dinner. Men will accept dinner invitations quicker than invitations of other kinds, but don't think from this that they are all dinner men. Far from it.

"The corner man? Oh, he is the one who has the knack of making himself generally useful and is quite in a class by himself. He looks after the comfort of the chaperons, runs handy little errands and can even be depended upon at afternoon teas. The other men don't think much of him, but he has his own value from the feminine point of view."—Philadelphia Record.

Emperor Honors a Dragon Fly.

The oldest extant poem about a dragon fly is said to have been composed 1,440 years ago by the Emperor Yuriaku of Japan. One day, while this emperor was hunting, say the ancient records, a gadfly came and bit his arm. Therewith a dragon fly pounced upon the gadfly and devoured it. Then the emperor commanded his ministers to make an ode in praise of the dragon fly. But as they hesitated how to begin he himself composed a poem in praise of the insect, ending with the words:

Even a creeping insect
Waits upon the great Lord;
Thy form it will bear,
O Yamato, land of the dragon fly!

And in honor of the dragon fly the place of the incident was called Akitsuno, or the moor of the dragon fly.—"A Japanese Miscellany."

When Frogs Are Best.

Frogs' legs are sold in Paris daintily threaded on little willow wands. People buy them for the home table instead of, as is the practice in this country, eating them exclusively in restaurants. They make a most palatable broth for invalids and convalescents, but ordinarily the legs are prepared by removing the skin, rolling them in flour, adding salt, pepper and butter, with a pinch of parsley, and cooking them gently in a frying pan or on the griddle. By Parisians it is considered that the frog is best in the fall of the year, when it is fattest and most delicate. However, large numbers of the batrachians are caught in the spring, when they are said to be more easily captured.—Saturday Evening Post.

Thought It Was Bargain Day.

Mr. Closefist had been out walking. He returned home tired and cross. "Just what I might have expected," he whined. "I gave the only 10 cents I had in my pocket to a beggar, and it started to rain, and I had to walk home. Don't ever talk to me about the rewards of Providence."

"And did you suppose Providence would postpone a shower of rain," his wife asked, "because you gave 10 cents to a beggar? You weren't expecting much for your money, were you?"—New York Commercial Advertiser.

An Aristocratic Grain.

Could plants lay claim to aristocratic position, as representing an old family, rice might safely claim to be of the most ancient pedigree. It is the earliest cereal known. Originally a native of India, it has crossed the ocean and made a home for itself where heat and moist soil could be found. It grows in all warm portions of the globe and furnishes the principal food of nearly one-third of the human race.

School Gardens.

Scientific gardening is taught in the national schools of Sweden and in the seminaries for the education of national schoolteachers. There is a school garden in nearly every rural school district in the kingdom. The garden is placed near the schoolhouse, and the children receive practical instruction in the cultivation of plants, berries, flowers, herbs and fruits, the management of hotbeds, greenhouses, etc.

A Sidewalk Prescription.

The busy doctor was hurrying down the street when he was stopped by a man noted for his ability to get "sidewalk" advice.

"I am thoroughly worn out and sick and tired. What ought I to take?" asked the man.

"Take a cab," replied the unfeeling doctor.—New York Times.

Some Remarkable Beliefs.

There are naturalists in this day and age who believe that horsehairs will turn to living snakes, that toads will live for thousands of years in the cavity of a rock without food or water, that the barnacle goose was developed from the shellfish of that name and that the bird called sora is a species of winged frog.

A Killer.

The Shasta Route.

In going over the famous "Shasta Route" of the Southern Pacific Co. the traveler ever finds something new to excite his admiration and interest. Starting at Portland, one travels the whole length of the Willamette valley, the gem of the Northwest. Mt Hood, Mt Jefferson, and the Three Sisters and other snow-capped peaks are kept in sight for hours. The beautiful valleys of the Umpqua and Rogue rivers, with their orchards of prunes, peaches, apples and other fruits are a delight in themselves. The crossing of the great mountain barrier between Oregon and and California reveals the grandest mountain scenery in the United States.

The wonderful turnings, twistings and doublings of the railroad bring into view a grand array of towering mountains and profound gorges into which we gaze from dizzy heights, forest clad mountain slopes stretching up to the line of perpetual snow, and the foaming mountain streams dashing fiercely down deep canyons, now and then stopping for a short rest in some quiet pool. After a day's enjoyment of old Mt Shasta, the finest peak on the continent, we drop rapidly down the canyon of the Sacramento to the broad plains of the Sacramento valley in California, and thence through vineyards and orchards to San Francisco.

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure backache, headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, fainting and dizzy spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble" writes Mrs Phebe Cherley, of Peterson, Ia, "and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and, although 78 years old, I now am able to do all my housework." It overcomes constipation, improves appetite, gives perfect health. Only 50c at W L Delano's drug store.
