THE MONROE DOCTRINE AND PHILIPPINE CONQUEST.

Our statesmen talk Monroe doctrine—that European governments shall not make further conquest in this Western hemisphere—yet we go across the broad Pacific, almost to the shore line of continental Asia, and make conquest of an entirely dissimilar land and people. It is right for us to go eight thousand miles away and take forcible possession of another peoples' country; it is wrong for Europe to come three thousand miles over here to similarly steal land! And conscientious, Christian statesmen easily reconcile such diverse conclusions.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." To such sentiments John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, John Hancock and fifty-three other patriots subscribed their names—the gallows in sight in case of failure. And they gained the blessed freedom we enjoy.

General Miles is about leaving Manila for China and Japan. Here is what he says about the Philippine situation: "I have seen 13,000 troops and will inspect more of them before leaving. I found them in fair condition. I found the people generally impoverished from the effects of war and the pestilence which followed it, and I fear some may suffer from famine."

May 12, 1898, the Oregon volunteer, the Eugene boys with them, passed through Eugene from Portland on their way to Manila. That was over four and one-half years ago. Yet General Miles tells us we still have thirteen thousand men bearing arms in the Philippines. A peaceful conquest, the right of all nations? No! Retention of the Philippines is armed robbery. "Thirteen thousand troops!" "People generally impoverished!" "Pestilence!" "Famine!" What think you?

A GROWING INDUSTRY.

A bold, bad man over at Seattle not taking into account causes for thankfulness to a higher power for "the manifold blessings," etc, enumerated in the usual Thanksgiving proclamation, proceeded to provide himself with "turkey" on Thanksgiving eve. He walked into a gambling parlor and deliberately went about relieving the assembled speculators of their coin, to the value of about $1,000. He was aided in his work by a bulldog revolver—a powerful coadjutor. The dispatch announcing the sad event naively concludes, "The police were not notified as the game was illegal."

Too bad that the vigilant police must remain in ignorance of the robbery through the disinclination of the speculators to report the untoward event! This robbing of gambling resorts is getting so common that it may become necessary to appoint policemen to protect them. The gamblers pay for protection—they are entitled to receive it.

What is the use of making a name if there is no protection from the average printer and proofreader. Here comes the Butte, Montana, Miner with a dispatch referring to Ernest Bross, managing editor of the Oregonian, as "Ernest Brass!" The editor may be unable to make Mr Bross believe that the mistakes was unintentional.

KING CHARLES OF ROUMANIA.

Here is King Charles of Roumania, whose government was recently called to account for its treatment of the Jews in that country by the protesting note of Secretary of State Hay.
