FOUR MEASURES LOST OF EIGHT BEFORE PEOPLE

City Hall, Salary, Band Tax and Limiting Indebtedness Amendments Shorn From the List

Four of the eight proposed measures passed in the special election yesterday. The appropriation for a city hall, the amendment providing salaries for the mayor and councilmen, the band tax and the measure limiting indebtedness were lost. The amendment giving the council the power to prescribe the qualifications of electors passed with a majority of nine votes. The plan to give the council the right to condemn land for general purposes carried almost two to one, and the measure governing liquor regulations also had a good majority. The measure for condemnation of land for sewers and streets had nearly 300 votes to spare.

The total vote cast was 840, about half of the registration in the city.
