ADVANCE AWAITED BY BUTTER MART

Rise of at Least one Cent In Prints Held to be Justified

PORTLAND, Ore., March 18.—The local butter market is all set for an advance; while no definite action had been taken by creamery men early today, the market is in a very strong position and a rise of at least one cent in prints is fully justified.

Creameries are short of butter, especially ordinary grades, and the market is being scoured for sufficient stocks to meet the requirements. Cube prices are a cent higher in all grades. On the dairy exchange extras are quoted at 46c, standards at 45c and prime firsts at 44c.

Although the season for increased production is at hand, local butter makers report that cream receipts are disappointing. It is also reported that premiums are being paid for fats in many sections. The Portland delivery price remains unchanged at 47c.

The egg market is about steady with receipts and demand well balanced. Board quotations were unchanged today. The local market is almost bare of live poultry and buyers are scouring the street for supplies. Prices are very firm. Good hay is in demand especially alfalfa and the local team tracks are almost bare of No. 1 stock. There is plenty of second grade hay offered although the demand is lacking for this quality. Local buyers are offering following prices for hay delivered Portland:

Eastern Oregon timothy $21 to $24; valley timothy $21; alfalfa $19 to $19.50; clover $16; cheat $16; oat hay $18.50; oat and vetch $19 to $19.50; straw $8.50 per ton.
