Tips for staying safe this Halloween

Halloween is a night of scares and candy, but did you know that falls are the leading cause of injury among trick or treaters?

Parents can help prevent children from becoming injured on Halloween by following these safety tips from the American Academy of Pediatrics, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, and the National Safety Council.

Children should:

- Go only to well-lit houses and remain on porches rather than entering houses.

- Travel in small groups and be accompanied by an adult.
- Know their phone numbers and carry a cell phone for an emergency phone call.
- Carry a note in their pocket with their name and address.

- Bring treats home before eating them so parents can inspect them.

- When using costume knives and swords, ensure they are flexible, not rigid or sharp.

When walking in neighborhoods, they should:

- Use flashlights, stay on sidewalks if available, and avoid crossing yards.

- Cross streets at the corner, use crosswalks if available, and don't cross between parked cars.

- Stop at all corners and stay together in a group before crossing.

- Wear clothing that is bright, reflective, and flame retardant.

- Consider using face paint instead of masks.

- Avoid wearing hats that could slide over their eyes.

- Avoid wearing long, baggy, or loose costumes or oversized shoes to prevent tripping.

- Always look left, right, and left again before crossing the street.

Parents and adults should:

- Supervise the outing for children under age 12.

- Establish a curfew for older children.

- Prepare homes for trick-or-treaters by clearing porches, lawns, and sidewalks and by placing decorations away from doorways and landings.

- Avoid giving choking hazards such as gum, peanuts, hard candies, or small toys as treats to young children.

- Inspect all candy before children eat it.

To ensure the safety of pedestrian trick-or-treaters, parents and adults should:

- Make sure children under age 10 are supervised as they cross the street.

Elijah Montoya carves a pumpkin at the Keizer Heritage Center's Halloween night Thursday, Oct. 20.

- Drive slowly.
- Watch for children in the street and on medians.
- Exit driveways and alleyways carefully.

- Have children get out of cars on the curbside, not the traffic side.

Keizer School alums, teachers get in touch

As part of the centennial celebration of the Keizer School building, the Keizer Heritage Center is holding an All Class Reunion on Saturday, Nov. 12.

The organizers of the All Class Reunion is seeking and inviting anyone who was a student at any time at the school as well as former teachers and staff.

If you were a teacher or principal at Keizer School when it sat at the corner of River and Chemawa Roads in downtown Keizer, the Keizer Heritage Foundation wants you to be part of this event that helps mark the 100th birthday of the building.

Contact the Keizer Heritage Foundation at 503-393-9660 or Lyndon Zaitz, the foundation president, at 503-930-1860.

The Keizer School building was taken out of use in 1987. It was purchased by the Keizer Heritage Foundation and moved to its current location on the Keizer Civic Center campus in 1999. After renovation the Center became home to the Keizer Community Library, the Keizer Art Association and its Enid Joy Mount Gallery, foundation offices and an event room.

Black, White and Gray show takes shape

The Keizer Art Association encourages artists to submit entries to the Black, White and Gray Show. Children ages 4 to 14 are also welcome to enter.

Entries to the show must be black, white and/or gray, including the matting and frame. The intake for all entries is Nov. 2 from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m.

The reception for all of the artists will be held on Nov. 5 from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. Wine and appetizers will be served, and there will also be a raffle for many fun items. Awards will also be presented at this time.

The public is invited to attend.

Horrorween arrives Saturday

Tony's Kingdom of Comics, 3856 River Road N., will be celebrating Horrorween Saturday, Oct. 29, with free comics, live music and the Cherry City Bombers.

Visitors to the shop will receive two free comics during the store hours of 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Bringing along donations for the Marion-Polk Food Share will get you more free comics.

The Cherry City Bombers, owners of rat rod and cool cars, will host their annual Trick or Treat in the Keizer Village parking lot showing off their cars and passing out candy to visitors.

El Patrone Mexican Grill will have $1 tacos all day and numerous costumed heroes and horrors will be making an appearance.

Wire Monkey Mama, a punk band fronted by McNary High School teachers Ryan Somerville and Paul Shuirman, will perform alongside other local bands.

Donations will also be collected for Shriners Hospitals for Children.
