for taking the law in their own hands after the courts of justice have repeatedly and persistently failed to do their plain duty in meting out justice to law offenders?

I have always been decidedly opposed to mob law and am yet, and both as newspaper editor and sheriff of the county, I have for many years made a vigorous, open fight for the enforcement of all laws on the statute books, good or bad. The quickest and best way to get rid of the bad laws is to rigidly enforce them a while; but in advocating this policy the hardest struggle of the whole battle is the coming in contact with the extreme tenderness with which the governor and courts deal with the vicious, law-breaking element.

We need not look further than Morrow county to see the work of Gubernatorial delinquency. For instance, about three years ago Morrow county spent $1500 of the taxpayers' hard earned money to convict two horse thieves, who were sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. In 11 months they were pardoned out by the governor—just after election.

Another evidence that the law and courts are being played with is the recent "lapse of memory" of the governor when he failed to notify the courts that he would allow three judicial days to slip by, thus throwing all pending litigation throughout the state of Oregon into a bad mixup. This playful little trick will cost Morrow county alone hundreds of dollars for holding prisoners for five months until the next regular term of circuit court, besides causing endless loss and inconvenience to attorneys, officials and individuals. What a "non-partisan" lapse that was, anyway. No one of sound sense, of course, believes that this was due to an oversight.

The interests and welfare of society in general are of vastly more importance than is the welfare of any one individual or set of individuals, and if our governor and our judges and our juries would quit temporizing and sympathizing with criminals, and would try as hard to convict and duly punish the evildoer as they now do to find a loophole through which he may escape justice, the alarming growth of anarchy and disrespect and contempt for law would soon be checked in this country, and we would soon join the ranks of Canada, Australia and the other law respecting countries of the earth.

Newspaper men of Oregon, a great opportunity confronts you. Open up your powerful batteries of publicity and turn them onto those high in authority every time they deserve it. The Oregonian has set a splendid pace and let all follow it until our country is redeemed from the fate which awaits it if the present trend of affairs is permitted to continue.

A Cure for Misery.

"I have found a cure for the misery malaria poison produces," says R. M. James of Louellen, S. C. "It is called Electric Bitters and comes in 50c bottles. It breaks up a case of chills or a bilious attack in almost no time, and it puts yellow jaundice clean out of commission." This great tonic medicine and blood purifier gives quick relief in all stomach, liver and kidney complaints and the misery of lamb back. Sold under guarantee at the Delta drug store.

Under the head of "Not Much of a Bugaboo," the Portland Oregonian says: "The postmaster general's parcels post project which has made such a stir seems to have been pretty generally misunderstood. It is by no means so extensive as most people have supposed. He wishes to give the privilege of a parcel post to persons living along rural delivery lines, and not to anybody else. This is shown by the report of the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General. Articles to be sent by the parcels post could be mailed only at the distributing offices for rural routes or at postoffices along such routes. This would cut off the department stores and mail-order houses from the benefits of the innovation and it ought to quiet the opposition of the country merchants once and for all. The only dealers who could possibly benefit from it would be the country merchants themselves. As matters now stand, the rural population has no delivery system at all. The express companies will not send parcels even one mile from their country offices. Country storekeepers never dream of maintaining a delivery system outside of the villages where they do business. The carriage of parcels by the old star route, "stage drivers," which was formerly such a convenience to farmers is now to all intents forbidden by law along rural routes. Thus things are made as inconvenient for country people as they possibly could be. If they want a parcel, no matter how big or little, they must leave everything and go after it. The absurd injustice of such a state of things is evident. It injures the country storekeepers as much as it does the farmers, since they necessarily lose a great deal of trade by it. When purchases can only be made at serious inconvenience people will get along with as few as they can. It is amazing that there should be any rural tradesmen who do not see this. If they knew their own clear interest they would be a unit for Mr. Meyers' proposal. This proposal would permit rural carriers to deliver parcels by mail up to eleven pounds weight at 5 cents for the first pound and 2 for each additional pound or fraction. The report shows that star route carriers used to deliver parcels of all sorts at something like this rate and made money by it. Why, then should it not pay the goverement? Of course it would. The plea that parcels delivery by mail would prove a losing undertaking is due sometimes to ignorance, sometimes to willful misrepresentation. The project is a matter of simple justice to the rural population and its execution has already been too long delayed.

Rank Foolishness.

"When attacked by a cough or a cold, or when your throat is sore, it is rank foolishness to take any other medicine than Dr. King's New Discovery," says C. O. Eldredge, of Empira, Ga. "I have used New Discovery seven years and I know it is the best remedy on earth for coughs and colds, croup, and all throat and lung troubles. My children are subject to croup, but New Discovery quickly cures every attack." Known the world over as the King of throat and lung remedies. Sold under guarantee at the Delta Drug Store. 50c and $1; trial bottle free.

Frequently a woman who attempts to sew with double thread experiences a good deal of annoyance, because the two strands won't work evenly. Knots result. This trouble can be done away with if the thread to be used is doubled before putting it in the needle. Put the cut ends through the eye and draw it up at the end where the loop is. Then pass the needle through this loop and there you are! The slip knot as the needle's eye will prevent either strand from gaining on the other.

Notice to Fruit Growers.

The fruit inspector of this county has found that almost all trees are infected with fruit pests, and the law requires the owners, or persons having possession thereof, to destroy or eradicate such orchards or pests. You are, therefore, notified that unless such orchards or pests are destroyed or eradicated before the first day of March, 1908, I will proceed, under the law, to either cut down or destroy such orchards, or have the trees sprayed at the owner's expense.

W. R. HARRIS,
County Fruit Inspector.

"I have reachee a higher health level since I began using Dr. King's New Life Pills," writes Jacob Springer of West Franklin, Me. "They keep my stomach, liver and bowels working just right." If these pills disappoint you on trial, money will be refunded at the Delta drug store. 25 cents.
