WEATHER CONDITIONS.

A large high-pressure area overlies Southern Idaho and the barometer is relatively low near Cape Flattery. During the last 24 hours light rain has fallen in Northwestern Oregon, Washington and Northern Idaho, and a moderate southerly gale has prevailed along the Washington coast. The wire to North Head is down this evening, but the Tatoosh Island station reports a maximum wind velocity of 60 miles, from the south, during the last 12 hours.

The indications are for rain Friday in Oregon, Washington and Northern Idaho, and for generally fair weather in Southern Idaho. The winds will continue strong along the Washington coast and in the Puget Sound country.

FORECASTS.

For the 28 hours ending at midnight Friday:

Portland and vicinity—Occasional rain; southerly winds.

Western Oregon and Western Washington—Occasional rain, with a moderate southerly gale along the coast.

Eastern Oregon, Eastern Washington and Northern Idaho—Occasional rain.

Southern Idaho—Probably fair.
