OREGON SYSTEM HAS FEW FRIENDS

Republican Leaders of Empire State Almost Unit Against Direct Nomination.

HUGHES LOSES SUPPORT

Those Who Stoood by Him on Other Measures Turn Against Him on Direct Primary as Contrary to Party System.

BY LLOYD F. LONERGAN.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—(Special.)—The up-state members of the Legislature are practically a unit in opposing the direct nomination plan of Governor Hughes, and are not making any bones about saying so. It was these same men who supported Mr. Hughes at Albany during his previous term and made his public service and anti-gambling bills part of the statutes. But they believe direct nominations would result in all sorts of dissensions, and perhaps turn the Empire State over to the Democracy.

Speaker James W. Wadsworth, Jr., is the decisive force in the Assembly. He stood with the Governor in all of his reform bills, and would probably be occupying the executive mansion today were it not for the announcement of Mr. Hughes that he was a candidate. The Speaker has issued a statement on the matter, which, because of his powerful influence, is of great importance. He says in part:

Wadsworth Gives Reasons.

"Because I believe the policy of direct nominations is subversive of the fundamental principles of our Government, I shall use every proper and legitimate influence I possess, among my Republican colleagues in the Assembly in opposing it.

"At the same time, mindful of the mandate contained in the Republican state platform as adopted at Saratoga, I shall urge legislation for perfecting existing primary laws, to the end that abuses may be prevented and that nominations may be made by delegates, representing the sentiment of the majority of the party voters, freely expressed.

"Our system of responsible party government on a representative basis should be perfected and dignified, not utterly abandoned. I venture to say that the government of the State of New York is today on as high a plane as that of any other state, and I even doubt that it is equalled. The system of representative government has not been a failure, but a success. Steady progress from year to year justifies this statement and clearly indicates that there is no necessity for revolutionizing it completely."

Senator Raines, president pro tem. of the Senate, is the man who drew up the primary and ballot plank adopted at the Saratoga convention. This was interpreted at the time and accepted since as meaning that the Republican party was opposed to what may be called a direct nominations bill and the so-called Massachusetts ballot.

Would Mean Republican Defeat.

In his speech seconding the nomination of Elihu Root for Senator, Mr. Raines made it clear that the direct nominations bill promises to be the only critical issue of the legislative session. Mr. Raines is well aware that a definite bill for direct nominations would call for a universal personal registration in the country districts, which explains why the rural legislators are almost solidly behind Mr. Raines and Mr. Wadsworth. Compulsory yearly registration would mean a big falling off of the vote and a consequent loss in the Republican majority.

"It is hard enough to get the country voters out once a year," says Mr. Raines. "If we had to drag them from their farms twice, it would be a losing proposition."

William Barnes, Jr., who rules Albany County with a rod of iron, brings out a novel argument in explaining his opposition to direct nominations.

"Any politician can survive if he has the cheapness of mind to do so," says Mr. Barnes, "under any system that may be devised by the reformer, and the only loser will be the intelligent and honorable voter. The result of the direct primary will be to demoralize the interest of the party manager in proper administration. In order to save himself he will be forced to confine his attention to the purely popular man or issue of the hour, regardless of his vote or its merits. He will cease to conserve the best interests of the people whom he represents and will simply support, at each particular primary, whatever is popular. What the people of a political party demand is leadership, which, for the general good, puts down selfishness, ignorance and transient popularity, and works to the best of its ability for the best possible results.

Remedy for Boss Rule.

"I sympathize readily with the man who believes that undue power exists in a political organization. But the remedy lies in defeating improper nominations at the ballot-box, not in endeavoring to destroy the homogeneity of the party by forcing unnecessary issues.

"The error into which the Governor has fallen is the confusion between the function of a political party and the function of independent voting. It is rare when a political party, through its nominations, does not appeal to a great majority of the party which it represents, and to a large number of independents, but when it does not it is certain to get a verdict at the ballot-box which will make it wise for the future."

Mr. Barnes, in his newspaper, the Albany Evening Journal, is running a series of articles on direct nominations. The main purpose is to show that the proposition conflicts with the spirit of American institutions, and if adopted in New York, must necessarily be the forerunner of direct legislation, the initiative and referendum, and the initiative and recall. This, Mr. Barnes urges, is contrary to Republican doctrine, and has a tendency to destroy the principles of representative government.

Leads to Demagogy or Plutocracy.

A careful study has been made of the operation of the direct primary system in Wisconsin, Missouri, Illinois and Kansas. The adoption of the plan in those states, according to Mr. Barnes, "has led to demagogy, to the elimination of men most desirable for public life, and to the substitution for them of money bags or demagogues."

Furthermore, he declares that the nomination of Judges for the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals by direct nominations would be "practically the sale of justice by those who were willing to announce in advance their judicial attitude toward various kinds of legislation."

The only supporters of the Governor's bill are Herbert Parsons, leader of New York County; Timothy Woodruff, leader of Kings County (Brooklyn), and Mr. Greiner, leader of Erie County (Buffalo). Here is the strength that they have in the State Legislature, counting on the solid votes of their territory:

Parsons—Senators 3, Assemblymen 9. Woodruff—Senators 6, Assemblymen 14. Grainer—Senators 3, Assemblymen 4. Total Senators 11, Assemblymen 27.

Party Will Decide Issue.

There are 35 Republican State Senators and 99 Republican Assemblymen. So it will be seen that, while these three leaders represent the most important cities in the state, the effect on legislation is not decisive. An up-state leader made this comment on the situation today:

"Chairman Woodruff two years ago, thoughtlessly perhaps, took up the theory of direct nominations and advocated it. Mr. Parsons has indorsed his standard, and I believe has failed to show that foresight and clearness of judgment with which his training and his education should have endowed him.

"Republicans who have the future of the party at heart deeply regret that these two powerful leaders are leaning away from the concise and clear judgment of the country districts, where Republicans look to the future with a vision far more prophetic than they. But the matter of direct nominations will be made a party measure and Mr. Parsons and Mr. Woodruff will be overruled by the votes of men who do not believe in radical changes."

There is some talk of a compromise whereby direct nominations for minor officials such as aldermen and assemblymen may be permitted in Greater New York. But state-wide direct nominations seem out of the question this year.

ALL HAVE FORMED OPINION

NOT A SINGLE MAN QUALIFIED FOR CALHOUN JURY.

Lawyers Wrangle About Questions Put to Talesmen About Grant of Immunity.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—Failing to find a citizen who had not already made up his mind as to the guilt or innocence of Patrick Calhoun, president of the United Railroads, attorneys engaged in the trial today completed their examination of 22 talesmen without acceptance of a single juror.

Today's session was enlivened by several spirited controversies between F. J. Heney and the attorneys representing the defense. The basis of disagreement was the form of questions put to talesmen under examination, and the interrogations, for the most part, related to the motives actuating the prosecution in its grant of immunity to the bribe-taking Supervisors. Upon one occasion Stanley Moore, of the defense, was rebuked by Judge Lawlor for criticism of one of the court's rulings.

The fourth panel, which originally consisted of 65 citizens and which constituted nearly half that number for actual investigation of their opinions and prejudices, was found, upon exhaustion today, to have brought forward not a single talesman without a firm conviction as to the merits of the case.

Judge Lawlor at the afternoon session completed his preliminary interrogation of a fifth panel of 60 men. Half of these escaped service for various reasons and the remainder will appear for examination as to their qualifications tomorrow.

Walter E. Buck, an employe of the Associated Oil Company, replying to a question by Stanley Moore, of the defense, declared he did not believe the situation warranted the grant of immunity to all the bribe-taking Supervisors of the Schmitz administration. Before taking issue with this opinion, Mr. Heney elicited the fact that Henry Ach was attorney for the Associated Oil Company, and that W. P. Herrin was a director.

The talesman was challenged for cause and dismissed.

RAISED NOTES IS CHARGE

Three Young Men Arrested by Seattle Secret Service Agent.

SEATTLE, Jan. 28.—Three young men who were alleged to have started out to earn a living by raising $1 bank notes to $10, are in the custody of Thomas B. Foster, United States Secret Service operative, in charge of the Puget Sound district, as the result of attempts to pass a number of the bogus bills. The alleged counterfeiters are Mark Page, aged 35, who the Secret Service men believe under the name of Mills served time at McNeil's Island for raising post-office money orders; Frank L. Gaybrook, of New Orleans, aged 19, who says he is a clerk; and Charles Irving, aged 22, of Chicago.

The three men, together with a complete outfit for doing the work, were found last night.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

The North Pacific high pressure area has advanced rapidly eastward and it is now central over Montana. A new low pressure area is approaching the Washington coast. Warnings for this disturbance were sent to seaports on the Strait of Fuca at 11:15 A. M. A maximum wind velocity of 68 miles from the east occurred at Tatoosh Island during the afternoon. This low pressure area will cause brisk east to southeast winds in Oregon and Washington for the next 24 hours. No rain or snow of consequence has fallen in this district since last night. The temperatures have fallen decidedly in British Columbia and Southeastern Idaho, but elsewhere they have remained nearly stationary, except in Montana and the Dakotas, where it is also much colder.

The indications are for rain Friday in Western Oregon and Western Washington, with rising temperatures. Fair weather will continue east of the Cascade Mountains, with a cold wave in Southeastern Idaho.

FORECASTS.

Portland and vicinity—Friday, rain; moderate southeasterly winds.

Oregon and Washington—Friday, rain west; fair east portion. Moderate east to southeast winds, except on the Strait of Fuca, where they will continue high.

Idaho—Friday, fair, with a cold wave southeast portion in the early morning.

DEAL STILL PUZZLE

Purchase of North End Blocks Remains Mystery.

WHO IS JOHN W. CRAIG?

Buyer of $1,500,000 Worth of Portland Realty Is Relative of C. K. Henry, but Backers Are Not Known.

"The Mysterious Mr. Craig" is a cognomen that hereafter will be given the man who is behind the deal for the tier of blocks between Twelfth and Thirteenth street, from Hoyt to Quimby, reported in The Oregonian yesterday. The only information coming to light yesterday regarding this man, who has picked up between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000 worth of choice factory and warehouse blocks, is that he is a brother-in-law of Charles K. Henry, who negotiated the transactions, and lives a few miles out of Los Angeles.

Rumors are as rife as ever concerning the real purpose of the investment, despite the fact that on the surface the purchase of the nine blocks would appear to be simply and wholly a speculative venture by unknown capitalists. General Manager O'Brien and General Counsel Cotton, of the Harriman systems in Oregon, said yesterday that the deal was not made by the Northern Pacific Terminal Company, for one sufficient reason that the company is enjoined by the courts from buying any more land until pending suits are determined. These suits were instituted by James J. Hill interests and have been in the courts many months, the cause being refusal of the Terminal Company to permit trains of the North Bank Road from using the tracks of that company, and entering the Central depot.

When asked to throw some light on the recent deals, Mr. Henry makes but one reply—"I have power of attorney to represent the purchaser and under that power of attorney may sell, lease or do any other thing with the property that appeals to my judgment. The management of this large property is absolutely in our hands and I have nothing to say regarding future plans, for I have not yet had time to consider propositions."

Asked if it was his intention to secure possession for his principals of the remaining pieces in the strip, he said that seven-eighths of the strip had been taken over and that he proposed to rest on his oars for a time, at least, before considering any further deals in the tier.

Mr. Henry said further that while he did not care to give Mr. Craig's address, it was simply because that gentleman did not want to be annoyed with inquiries concerning the deal, for the reason that he had placed the whole matter in Mr. Henry's hands and would refer all inquirers to him.

The Associated Press received the following dispatches yesterday concerning the deal:

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 28.—The Los Angeles financial world is unable to identify John W. Craig, of Los Angeles, stated in Associated Press dispatches from Portland, Or., to have negotiated the purchase of a valuable tract of land in that city. Members of the Craig Shipbuilding Company, whose plant is in Long Beach, have no knowledge of him. The only John W. Craig represented in the city directory is listed as a teamster. None of the banks here has knowledge of him.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 28.—President L. W. Hill, of the Great Northern Railroad, when his attention was called to the purchase of the nine blocks of property in Portland, said:

"I can say that the property was not purchased by the Great Northern, Northern Pacific, nor any of our connecting lines. We have discussed that purchase and have come to the conclusion that it was the work of the Portland Terminal Company. That company will need all of that property and a great deal more. It is quite as important to them as it would be to us."

CLOUD OVER POLICE CHIEF

Birmingham, of Aberdeen, to Be Given Investigation.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—Charges affecting the conduct of Chief of Police J. A. Birmingham have been made to the Mayor and Council, and a secret session of the Council was held last night to consider the allegations, which are of a serious nature, though not believed to be well fortified. They affect the moral character of the head of the department.

Chief Birmingham is about 60 years of age and has served as a policeman and assistant chief. The charges made are principally by Officer Kelly, formerly on the Tacoma force, who has been at outs with Chief Birmingham for some time.

Chief Birmingham is prominent in G. A. R. circles and has always stood well in the community. The chief has demanded a complete investigation of the charges, which will be given him.

FARMER SHOOTS NEIGHBOR

When Arrested, Alleges Man Had Been Intimate With Family.

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Jan. 28.—Edward Pease, a rancher and milman of Welser Lake, ten miles north of Bellingham, this morning fired two bullets into Henry Miller, a young rancher and his nearest neighbor. Pease was arrested this afternoon and claims Miller had been too intimate with his family. Miller's wounds probably will prove fatal.

BEAUTY DOCTOR

Says the New Method Increases the Bust Measurement and Rounds the Arms and Neck.

(BY CLARA BELLE M.)

(From Chicago Examiner.)

"Speaking from my own personal experience and from observation of many whom I have successfully treated in the past two years, I should say that Madame Moneaux really owed her great success as a beauty specialist to the use of a simple preparation which is used exclusively to develop the bust, arms and neck. I became acquainted with this formula and have used it ever since, much to the delight of patrons.

"If your bust lacks development or firmness you can rely on both increase and firmness from the persistent use of the following: Obtain from the druggist two ounces of glycerine and one ounce tincture cadoine and one ounce tincture cadomom), mix and let stand several hours; then add a teaspoonful of borax and three ounces of rosewater. Shake well and apply to the neck, arms and bust, rubbing and massaging until it is completely absorbed; then wash the parts treated with very hot water and soap and dry thoroughly. Apply the treatment morning and night regularly for several weeks or months as the case may require, and the most exquisite firmness and rounding out of hollow places will reward you.
