After learning how type is set and something about the different kinds of type the members spent the remaining time in watching the operations of the linotype. They learned how this machine, which is similar to a large typewriter, produces metal castings, arranges the matrices which impress the letters upon the castings or slugs, and automatically places the matrices back into their proper positions.

NORMAL REGENTS FAVOR MEASURE

BOARD MEMBERS ASSERT ONE SCHOOL AT MONMOUTH CANNOT SUPPLY NEEDS OF ENTIRE STATE.

Salem, Ore., Sep. 22.—The Board of Regents of the Oregon Normal School filed its final draft of a survey made of the Normal School condition to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction on Thursday. That the State of Oregon is sadly in need of an additional Normal School as is provided by the initiative measure creating such a school at Pendleton is recognized by the Board of Regents in their final report made after an exhaustive survey of the condition of the one present school at Monmouth. They recognize too, in their report, that any new Normal School should be located in a town having public schools large enough to provide ample teacher training practice for the (teacher) students of the Normal.

"It is apparent to anyone who has studied the situation that there is need of additional Normal School facilities in Oregon; the Monmouth School alone cannot care for the number of students who desire to be or should be enrolled in Normal School within the next two or three years, and it will be necessary to send Oregon students to Washington and California for their training."
