Rheumatism

Inflames the joints, stiffens the muscles, and in some cases, if neglected, causes sufferings that are almost unendurable.

Thousands of grateful people have testified that they have been radically and permanently cured of this painful disease by the great constitutional remedy which neutralizes the acid in the blood on which the disease depends and expels it.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

In usual liquid form or in chocolated tablets known as Sarsatabs. 100 doses $1.

Overwhelming Success.

"You have the 3 cent fare in your town now, have you? How does it work?"

"Too well. There's only about one person in half a dozen that can get a seat in the street cars now."

A Bible Name.

An Alabama man tells of an old negro in Birmingham who became possessed of a seedy and forlorn-looking dog, to which he promptly assigned the name "Moreover." The story is printed in Harper's Weekly.

"Jefferson," he was asked, "how did you hit upon such a name as 'More over' for the dog?"

"I gits it outen de Bible," he replied.

"The Bible?"

"Sure, sah. Doan' yo' 'member where it says, 'When Lazarus lay at de rich man's gate, Moreover, de dog come an' lick his sores?'"

Stop guessing! Try the best and most certain remedy for all painful ailments—Hamlins Wizard Oil. The way it relieves all soreness from sprains, cuts, wounds, burns, scalds, etc., is wonderful.

Spoiling the Show.

Showman—I don't know as we can give any kind of a show this afternoon.

Assistant—What's the matter?

Showman—That fresh kid's been in the cage of the man eating lion having a romp, and the critter is as playful as a kitten, the farmer we rented the sacred cow from India from says the money ain't payin' him for the loss of his milk route, and the wild man of Borneo says he's got to have a day off to register and see the police parade.—Baltimore American.

Their First Encounter.

Mr. Pecksniff and Mr. Turveydrop had met for the first time.

"You look like a person of some consequence, sir," spoke Mr. Turveydrop, "but your Deportment is not quite up to the correct standard."

"Sir," quoth Mr. Pecksniff, surveying him with lofty scorn, "I cannot forget that you probably have an Immortal Soul, but you look like an Ineffable Ass."—Chicago Tribune.

The Natural Sue.

The "actors" that Lionel knows most about are the sort that do lofty feats in the circus. He has a proper appreciation of the danger of their calling and the means adopted for their safety. Recently, declares a writer in the Buffalo Express, he heard his father mention the name of Sir Henry Irving.

"Who is Sir Henry Irving, father?" asked Lionel.

"He was a great actor," said the father.

"What show is he with?"

"He isn't with any show now. He's dead."

"What happened? Did he miss the net?"

The Change.

Mrs. Chugwater—Josiah, this paper talks about "peanut politics." What is peanut politics?

Mr. Chugwater—It's the kind they use in a goobernatorial campaign. Think you understand it now?—Chicago Tribune.

Not Enough Money in It.

Miss Cheatham—I believe I shall have to give up bridge.

Miss Frank—Really? Wasn't the game worth the scandal?—London News.

SORE EYES. weak, inflamed, red, watery and swollen eyes, use PETTIT'S EYE SALVE. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

Stung.

The old gentleman went into the parlor the other night at the witching hour of 10:30 and found the lights out and his daughter and a dear friend enjoying a tete-a-tete in a corner by the window.

"Evangeline," said the old man, sternly, "this is scandalous."

"Yes, papa," she answered, sweetly. "It is candleless because times are hard. Lights cost so much Ferdinand and I said we would get along with the starlight."

And papa turned about in speechless amazement and tried to walk out of the room through a panel in the wall paper.

Recipe for Catarrh.

The only logical treatment for catarrh is through the blood. A prescription, which has recently proved wonderfully effective in hospital work is the following. It is easily mixed:

"One ounce compound syrup of Sarsaparilla; one ounce Toris compound; half pint first-class whiskey." These to be mixed by shaking well in a bottle, and used in tablespoon doses before each meal and at bedtime. The ingredients can be gotten from any well stocked druggist, or he will get them from his wholesale house.

Changing the Label.

"Marie, who is the young squirt that comes here about six nights in the week to see Bessie?"

"You'd better speak a little more respectfully, John, of the young man who is likely to be your son-in-law."

"All right, Maria; what's the adventurer's name?"

Seems Probable.

They were looking at that celebrated statue, the Venus of Milo.

"But where are the hands?" asked Mrs. Pneuritch.

"They were laid off, madam," explained the polite attendant, "in consequence of a disastrous break in marble stock."

Mortuary.

The dead past was burying its dead.

"It's a perfectly absurd performance," grumbled the d. p. "I'm only doing this because Mr. Longfellow tells me to do it."

Back of this seeming reluctance, however, there may have been a conviction that mankind would not begin to act in the living present until the funeral was over.

The long tails of the Shah of Persia's horses are dyed crimson for six inches at their tips—a jealously guarded privilege of the ruler and his sons.

Preparing for an Operation.

Doctor—Your case is a very serious one, sir, and I think a consultation had better be held.

Patient—Very well, doctor, have as many accomplices as you like.—St. Louis Times.

Not Prepared for That.

Dinguss—Shadbolt, how much do I owe you?

Shadbolt (gasping)—Water! Water! Quick, somebody, for heaven's sake!—Chicago Tribune.

Not Particularly Awed.

Mrs. Lakeshore—I forget those quite readily. Have you ever worked for me before?

New Cook—So do I, mum. I don't realy remember whether I ever did or not.—Chicago Tribune.

Standing Up for His Native Land.
