Shortage of Ships Stalls Trade Between Americas

By LAWRENCE S. HAAS
United Press Latin American Editor

Washington, D. C.—(U.P.)—The mounting gravity of the world shipping shortage, already responsible for a sharp curtailment of Latin America's normal trade with Europe, is causing deep concern in inter-American trade circles.

Considerable shipping tonnage has been requisitioned by the U. S. maritime commission for commercial and military purposes, affecting shipping service between United States ports and the Caribbean and on both the east and west coasts of South America and, although some of the vessels taken over have been replaced with other ships, there is no guarantee that the battle of the Atlantic might not cause a further depletion in ocean carriers in western hemisphere service.

United States maritime circles are of the opinion that once the expropriation of the idle belligerent and neutral shipping in American ports is completed, at least some of these vessels will be assigned to inter-American traffic.

James Scott Kemper of Chicago, head of the United States delegation to the conference of chambers of commerce and productive societies at Montevideo, Uruguay, made the situation clear in cablegrams to President Roosevelt and Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the maritime commission. He urged intensification of maritime traffic between the United States and Latin America to preserve inter-American commerce and amity.

One effect of the shipping shortage is evident. Thousands of tons of Chilean nitrates and copper, purchased by the United States for its stockpiles of essential defense materials, are lying at terminal points awaiting ships, and recent reports from Chile indicate that the original schedule for shipping these materials has lagged far behind.

LURE—War's grim business at Trinidad, where U.S. is building defense bases, hasn't eclipsed the bathing girls, such as Marguerite Huckeby, Trinidad's new and pretty "Travel Queen."

FINNS APPROVE HOOVER SPEECH

Helsinki, Finland, July 2.—(AP)—The Finnish press and public expressed approval today of a Sunday speech by Former President Herbert Hoover in which he declared "the idealogical war to bring freedoms to the world died spiritually when we made that promise" to aid Soviet Russia.

The Helsinki newspaper Sanomat summed up:

"It is sure that Hoover's voice is not alone in America and that it will find echoes around the civilized world."

Recalling American aid to Finland during the soviet winter invasion of 1939-40, the paper added: "It seems an unnatural impossibility that civilized, liberty-loving America can support mankind's worst enemy, who has attacked us for the second time within two years."

AFL VOLUNTEERS LONGER WORK DAY

Oakland, Calif., July 2.—(AP)—A group of AFL workers today voluntarily lengthened their hours and reduced their overtime pay rate to eliminate an industrial bottleneck.

In announcing the action taken by Local 88 of the AFL Wood, Wire and Metal Lathers, Business Representative J. C. Reynolds of the Alameda county building trades council predicted other unions would take similar action.

"This is our answer to Hitler and his methods," Reynolds said. "We will get out production if we have to work 24 hours a day to do it."
