GOLD AND SILVER IN THE CASCADES.

The Discoveries by our Townsmen—Anxiously Waiting for Summer.

Between the North Fork of the Clackamas and Roaring river, flowing into the same stream, A. Hart and a couple of other men discovered during the summer a ledge of quartz rock which assayed between 47 and 48 of silver and gold to the ton. Mr. Hart says that, according to the assay, no other metals were contained in the quartz. If such is the case, it is "free milling ore," will amply repay crushing in a stamp mill, and give a big fortune to those who locate on the ledge, which Mr. Hart failed to do. If copper, zinc, sulphur, lead or iron is found in the ore, it must be of richer quality to repay working, on account of greater consequent expense. Mr. Hart says that as soon as the season permits next summer, he and his "pard" are going on a thorough prospecting party, confident that there are rich mines up there somewhere. Another prospector found a shale in the mountains north of Astoria, where the "color" can be easily obtained from the dirt on the grass roots. He believes that it is a very promising placer prospect. A man by the name of Coburn has a mine not far from Yakima valley, on the other side of the mountains, which runs 230 in silver with 75 percent of copper to a ton. Next summer he intends to put a force of men in it. The Yakima and Seattle Mining companies have also promising locations in the Cascades which they will develop next summer. All this shows there is many a wagon load of gold and silver in the Cascades. That those little has been done in the way of developing the mineral deposits of our mountains, or not much noise made, signifies nothing. California Gold, which was dormant for twenty years until the discovery of the famous carbonates transformed it into the phenomenal Leadville.

THE ENGINE HOUSE.

The Amusements of our City Government.

CHAPTER I.

His Honor, the Mayor, appears to be responsible for the turn of events in affairs that at the time the term of office of the last Council expired. On his massive and willing back rests the blame. He issued an injunction to restrain the authorized committee from moving the old engine house, through the Councilman Miller's bill of $25 is all-wed for a new plan; the fourth and final scene is building the abortive "contraption" now approaching completion. The City Council will soon appear in a new set. Grand preparations are now being made.

CHAPTER II.

When the present City Council appeared on the benches as usual, the first scene was a bill of $40 for a plan obtained from a Portland architect; the second scene was throwing the $40 into the air, amid the amazement of the audience; the third, Councilman Miller's bill of $25 is all-wed for a new plan; the fourth and final scene is building the abortive "contraption" now approaching completion. The City Council will soon appear in a new set. Grand preparations are now being made.

CHAPTER III.

Wallace Baldwin, of Corvallis, appointed by the State to look after the matter to be built at this point, was in town on Saturday accompanied by Jas. Caswell and Geo. H. Moore, of Washington, United States Fish Commissioners, who came to Oregon with the 15,000 fish that receive their share of the salmon. Mr. Baldwin considers the building of a fish-ladder a very serious job, and seems doubtful, apparently, as to the sufficiency of the $5,000 appropriated for the purpose by the State. He says that the main purpose of the ladder is to enable the fish to be built to enable salmon to extend their spawning ground into the streams emptying in the Willamette in the upper part of the valley.

CHAPTER IV.

The ladder will be built of the McDonald pattern and will be constructed alongside the canal. The plans for the same are forwarded to Mr. McDonald, the inventor, at Washington. The ladder is in the shape of a wide spot, or flume, with partitions extending partially across it, and pointing down stream, so arranged that from the way in which the water is admitted, the current practically runs up the ladder, making it easy for the fish to ascend.

CHAPTER V.

Robert Hughes bought a hog from Mr. Farlow, a Highland farmer, last week, which, upon examination, proved to be diseased. The outside of the carcass was covered on the brisket and the sides of the neck especially, as well as in other places, with boils, which were filled with matter and a few tiny worms. Mr. Hughes had bought the hog in ignorance of its condition, but his attention was called to it by Mr. Farr, the butcher, who said that he would not buy the hog himself, it having been offered to him. Mr. Hughes on the Friday evening hunted up Mr. Farlow, having learned that he was stopping over night with a friend on the bluff. He went to this friend's house and found he had gone to a party meeting. When Mr. Farlow returned he placed the hog back on its feet, and agreed to take the hog back, and to give what disease was it that the hog had; was it trichinosis?

Frank Mason, the Pugnacious Bill.

Frank Mason, who travels as a professional pugilist, is a cheat and a hulk. He is a good-looking man of about five feet ten inches, weighing perhaps 180. He has a black mustache, a scarily complexion, a slight squint, and a pair of whisky-blossoms in his face. In fact, he has the appearance of a dissolute man. He dresses respectably and has a pleasing address. He advertises himself as the "middle weight champion of Colorado." He swindled several people in Oregon City, and Bill Bogue, the young man with whom he was to give an athletic exhibition at Pope's hall on the 17th, says that he himself was cheated by Frank Mason out of $20. Frank Mason went from here to Portland to work his racket.

NOTICE!

Pay day has come. All parties finding themselves indebted to me, please call and settle their accounts before the first of January, 1884, in order to save trouble and expense. A. MAYNE, Ackerman's Old Stand.

PERSECUTED BY THE DEVIL.

The Terrible Experience of August Schultz.

August Schultz, a recent arrival from Wisconsin, who lives on his farm near Silverton, Marion county, has had remarkable experiences in the supernatural sphere. How long before he will repeat these experiences in Oregon is very probably a question of time. Perhaps the goblins of darkness have followed him from the rigorous climate of the Great Lakes to the drizzling shores of the Pacific. Demons hardly ever let go. They "catch on" for keeps. Mr. Schultz relates that while residing near Warsaw, Wisconsin, one of his neighbors, named "Fatty," was possessed by the devil. On one occasion this man retired to a fence corner and performed sundry incantations, when numbers of little black imps sprang up beside him. He and they danced a can-can. They would jump "Fatty," and then he would jump up like a rubber ball as high as the top of a five-foot fence. Once, when Mr. Schultz was plowing in his field, he was beaten numerically by unseen hands. Maimed and almost helpless, he with difficulty reached his house. In an unaccountable manner the floor would be deposited on the floor of his living room, and many articles would fly about in a wild manner. He was confident that "Fatty" played the tricks, but the evidence against him was of such an aerial nature that it would not be accepted in a court of justice to-day, though in the Middle Ages suits were sometimes brought against the devil. He had asked the Catholic priests about the mystery, but they grew red in the face, he said, implying, in his opinion, that they knew what the trouble was, but for some reason they would not use their power to curb the devil. Said he: "I had only a complete copy of the Bible, I might have been able to conquer 'Fatty.' The Lutheran minister had one, and I consulted him, but it seems he stood in with the abomination. 'Fatty' threw accursed spells all about me, and my life was a hell on earth. When I left Warsaw, I had to flee the country. A man said to me, as soon as I had received the money for my land, 'Go away immediately. Don't delay an hour. We'll send on your tracks.' My dear man, I cannot tell you what I have suffered."

Giant Radish—"Oregon against the World."

John Hinkle, a farmer living in this county, near Hubbard, Marion county, presented to S. Ackerman last Friday a specimen of a radish, the circumference of which was 16 inches, the length 20 inches, and its weight 20 pounds. The radish had gone to seed, but even before this took place, it measured 20 inches round—radish enough to supply a good-sized family for an entire year. Many people have been looking with astonishment at the strange giant radish in front of S. Ackerman's store.

Serious Accident at the Locks.

Charley Barkman, living in the back part of the old Fish building, a German well advanced in years who arrived in Oregon City two months ago, being employed at the locks, fell a distance of twenty feet down on the rocks. His right arm was injured at the elbow, and a couple of ribs are split or broken in the chest; in the lower region of the abdomen are internal injuries which are of a serious nature. Mrs. Barkman says that they are very poor, and have had a great deal of misfortune. They have a son that is married, and the old couple apparently have a hard road to travel to the grave, all by themselves. This case should be investigated. If they prove worthy after careful inquiry, they should be assisted.

BRIEF LOCALS.

W. L. Bradford has returned from California, improved in health. Tom Scott is now residing in Marshfield. Stricker Bros. have galvanized iron washers. Beats wooden ones. Another man was lodged in jail on Monday. R. W. Porter has entered into partnership with C. Diamond for the sale of agricultural machinery. Major W. W. Watenpaugh is now busily employed in the manufacture of rag carpets. The "Smart Aleck" at the mill must get up earlier if he wants to get away with "Bred" Welch. V. D. Burns, traveling for Frank Brock, will be in the city Thursday looking up the old friends of his boyhood. The cemetery two-stemmer Twins was at the dock of the brick grist mill on Sunday. Her hull is a twin skill. Farmers can have their wheat ground and chipping done at all times at the Standard Mills, Milwaukie. 27nd 23. There was an alarm of fire Sunday night. The chimney of the Phoenix burned out. It is said that Mr. Jewell intends to build on the ground which he has leased. An order has been received from Helena, Montana, for a car load of "Oregon City Extra" brand of flour. Very likely new gates will be put on the locks. The woodwork of the old ones is rotten. Forty-five men are now working on the locks. A certain Mr. Ross and another man have taken up claims on the Fork of the Clackamas. The land they have taken is easily cleared. Mr. Looney and another man are prospecting around the upper part of the Clackamas for timber for saw logs and any other thing that has money in it. A stranger put his hand into the pocket of the Imperial Mill to take out some lead. He almost had his fingers snatched. John Myers has received a new invoice of blankets, ladies' wear, such as corsets and dolmans, gent's overcoats, and boots and shoes the best and cheapest in the market. It is asserted that there are two opinion joints in town and that three white men and one red man are in the habit of hitting the pipe. If they don't quit, "pull" the whole outfit. Farmers are thankful for the beautiful fall weather, in consequence of which grass and grain are growing finely. For many years past there has not been a pleasanter and more favorable fall season. The Cliff House has been struck with a wave of disaster. On Friday night last week two dozen eggs and a gallon of cow's milk disappeared from the kitchen, and a day or two before that, "Romy" Haines' overcoat walked off. He says he will get TEN to the man that returns the coat. Some thought the water works were stopped on Sunday noon when the bell rang. The trouble was this: The pump under the sidewalk was stopped to fix another grate in the flume; the one under the sidewalk was running, and all that was necessary was to turn the water from it into the city pipes.

LATE NEWS.

Manitoba demands free trade.

"Black Bart," the notorious California highwayman, has been lodged in jail. There is so low in Russia that there is a disposition to hold a still spring. Three hundred suits have been brought against the Canadian Pacific by maltreated workmen. C. P. Huntington, the California railway magnate, expended $100,000 in fighting the Thurman railroad bill. In Hungary 111 persons will be tried for participating in recent anti-Jewish riots. Bankers in New York are not buying 4s and 4 1/2s, but contracting their circulation. In Danville, Va., there is much bad blood between negroes and white men. Mahone and his dirty tricks are at the bottom of it. There is unusual depression in the iron trade. Many works are closing down in Pennsylvania. Certain departments of the trade are brisk enough. American officers desire to enlist in the Chinese military service. Many foreign officers are in the employ of the Chinese government. Dumb paralysis is what troubles Mr. Tilden. Colonel Payne says that Mr. Tilden has lost control of his voice, and can hardly make himself heard. The iron industry in England and the United States is in a bad way. Numbers of mills and furnaces are shut down. Protection does not make a market, it seems. A disastrous fire occurred at Shenandoah, Pa., on the 13th. Five hundred families have been rendered homeless and property destroyed to the amount of $500,000. Mahone denies that he is in partnership with our President, the swindling ex-customer house officer Arthur, but does not seem to be believed by Eastern journals. The French admiral has been instructed by his Government to annex the Congo river, while the United States insists upon its absolute rights on the Lower Congo river. War with France is popular in China. If France persists in warlike movements, Germany will put her mailed fist into the Asiatic pipe, and then all Europe will be in a tizzy. Manitoba will demand from the Dominion government removal of the monopoly provision in the Canadian Pacific railway charter, of duties upon implements, and of other grievances. Henry Villard pays $3,500 tax and is spending $1,200,000 on his new Italian palace; W. H. Vanderbilt, worth $20,000,000, pays $44,000 tax; W. K. Vanderbilt, worth $11,000,000, pays $7,875,000 tax; Russell Sage, worth $30,000,000, pays $18,000,000 tax. A strong effort will be made to secure the holding of the Republican Presidential Convention in Cincinnati. Subscriptions papers are being quietly circulated in the East to obtain money for that purpose. In Iowa, Kinzie, the defeated Democratic candidate for governor, obtained 34,000 more votes than Hancock, and Sherman obtained 19,000 less than Garfield, on the largest vote by over 4,000 ever polled in the State. Congressman Bohannon, an astute and distinguished railroad man, was the leader of the Democrats in Virginia during the late political campaign. His systematic and thorough organization, during a long career in the East, secured the victory for the Democrats. Sen. P. C. Cameron's News: What is apparently secured for Oregon, although it is believed by many that the market is unduly inflated by speculators, and that the account of stock taken in January will show a larger surplus than is now reported remaining on hand. In the Scranton coal district, Penn., a chorus of 16 voices has been formed among the Welsh coal miners, who will cross the Atlantic to compete in the musical festival at Liverpool next August. The skill in singing of the Welsh is world renowned. In London the sweet singers of Wales have in the past obtained the highest laurels. A Washington correspondent of the Inter-Ocean telegraphs that there is evidently some big lobbying to be done this winter, which requires the presence of some of the leading monopolists of the country in Washington, as D. J. Miles, Leland Stanford and C. P. Huntington. Wall street magnates are reported to have engaged houses for the season. Gov. Hendricks said to a reporter in Chicago on the 10th; It is evident that New York is a very close State and will give the Democrats in the election in Ohio. I looked for 60,000 majority for the Democratic State ticket. I was also surprised at Butler's strong vote. Far from being an object of derision and scorn, he has been himself an admirable leader, with great political resources behind him. I do not regard him as killed off by any means.

ORIGON AND WASHINGTON.

A number of tramps are in Albany.

Ten divorce cases are before the courts in Union county. There are 283 firms doing business in Seattle, W. T. There was a lively fire at Princeville on the 11th. Loss $15,000. Spokane county has a cash balance of $5,983.41. Silverton, Oregon, has organized a library association. A match factory is being started in Albany. Carpenters are wanted in Tacoma at $3 @ $4.50. The Newcastle mine, W. T., produces 25,000 tons of coal every month. Washington Territory has no less than 125,000 inhabitants. Wheat is worth a dollar a bushel at Ashland. There are a number of cases of scarlet fever in Portland. On the Wallatka river, about six miles from Astoria, Albert Nash, a logger, was drowned on Friday of last week. Susie Robinson, an actress of the Gaiety theatre on B street, Portland, died suddenly on Monday night. A large quantity of Oregon pine and California redwood will soon be shipped to Liverpool. A good deal of wine is being manufactured from native grapes in Jackson county. Assays of gold bearing quartz in the Cascade mountains average 47 1/2 in gold and $12 in silver. The Standard Oil company is extending its business to Portland, with a view of controlling this market. There is a great demand for school teachers in Clarke county, W. T.; not enough to be had to fill all the schools. Tramps, seagulls and thieves are numerous in The Dalles, who want both from Portland and along the line of the Northern Pacific. Evan Jenkins was drowned at Sand Island on Monday, of last week, says the Astorian. He was a recent arrival from Kansas. A $300 monument has been placed on the grave of the late Prof. W. L. Work, by the people of The Dalles, as a mark of their esteem. As long as the carp of the Fish Commissioners last, you can get 50 of them on application in Portland, by paying 25 cents for the tin bucket containing them. Temperance people in Portland that love the best-class saloons, a silver tea-pot containing him is placed before them and they help themselves. The matter is being considered as to bringing a car load of snad and black hats to this Coast. Not enough carp come to go around. It is reported that Judge Bennett, of the Fifth Judicial circuit, is to resign on account of the poor salary attached to the office. The Seattle Post-Intelligencer thinks 1884 will find at least 6,000 men at work on the Cascade branch of the Northern Pacific railroad in King and Yakima counties. The steamer on Snake river about 1,500 tons of wheat at this time. At this rate it will require 3 1/2 months to take away all the grain of the crop of this year. The Daily News, Portland, was attacked for $3,000 on Tuesday, on the authority of R. Hoe & company, to satisfy a claim for damages. The U. S. marshal was placed in charge. A young man named Newton was killed at Sprague, Tuesday, by the oven of his bakery falling in and crushing him. His sister committed suicide not long since. The mother lives in Portland. Capt. Jackson, of the steamer Washington, states that Chinamen, generally supposed to have come across the border line, can be seen going up the Sound on his boat almost every trip. It is said that Senator Delph told some of his intimate friends, before leaving for Washington, that he intends depositing with the holders in Oregon who are not, virtually, true to their interests. Roseburg Plaindealer: "Mickey" Fullerton raised a squash on his farm, near Canyonville, that weighs 142 1/2 pounds. We don't like to boast, but it is not the biggest squash in Oregon we will eat. Fifty-three emigrant wagons have passed through Echo, Eastern Oregon, in the last week. Thirty-eight were bound for different portions of Oregon and Washington Territory, three for California and twelve for the East. There will be a genuine stampede from Portland in the Spring for the Coast. Some mines. Already large numbers of men are being sent to the Coast for that purpose, and many old placer miners have been "grab-staked" by well-to-do citizens. The Walla Walla Daily Union, of November 19th, says: News reaches the city this afternoon that rich gold and silver has been discovered near the mouth of the Merced river, six miles west of town. Claims are being staked off. The mammoth proportions of Seattle's liquor interests may be judged from the statement of the last three months: Twenty-three wholesale dealers at $25 per month, $575; 15 retail at $75 per month, $1,125; one retail $50 per month. According to the laws of Oregon, it is lawful to shoot deer between July 1st and November 1st of each year; grouse and quail, from July 1st to April 1st; wild fowl, ducks, etc., September 1st to April 15; dusky, sharp-tailed grouse, August 1st to January 1st; speckled trout, April 1st to November 1st. A shooting affray occurred on the Klaskanine, near Kamin's farm, Saturday morning, last week, says the Astorian, which resulted in the killing of Jack Leonard, by John Leahy, a well-known longshoreman, and the serious wounding of Lem Johnson, a resident of that vicinity. Travel on the Sound continues large. Boats coming and going regularly to and from Victoria, the upper Sound, Whatcom and the river, crowded with passengers. The travel now represents that impelled by business alone, as people go now only because obliged to, and not for pleasure or sight-seeing, or because they can get cheaply or comfortably. In accordance with the retrenchment that is going on in the N. P. R. R. company, says the Portland Standard, 125 white men have been laid off work on the road north of the Clarendon hotel and on the Kalama branch. Their places have been filled by Chinese. The white men time throwing out of employment will find time a little pinching as they need the work to carry them through. Ras Wright, a farmer living near Pilot Rock, disappeared rather mysteriously from his home on Thursday night last week, and has not been heard of since. He left home with his ox on his shoulder, saying that he was going to his place to repair his fence. As he is reported to think the world of his home and family, the supposition is that he has been snatched. Miss Nita Barlow did not have diptheria. No one attacked with that dangerous malady recovered so quickly as she did. The most prominent indication of its presence is the formation of a false membrane at the back part of the cavity of the mouth—which could not, in her case, have appeared and disappeared so quickly.

SOME CHEAP REFLECTIONS.

We are often asked how we can sell goods so cheap. The answer is very simple. We buy at panic prices from houses that have collapsed, others that will go down to-morrow, and still others who throw out inducements in the vain hope to outlive the storm. From such sources as these we buy our goods. We have now on our counters some land-slides that are positively beyond the whisper of competition, comparison or monopoly; prices that will teach you, in the silent logic of truth, the difference between dealing with live and dead men; between the cash and the credit system; between the right and wrong way of conducting business. We give the greatest value for the least money. We sell for cash—hard old cash—hoping thereby to check this insane and criminal practice of wasting money for the paltry consideration of a little credit. Positively no credit to anyone. Orders from the country receive the same consideration and at the same price as if bought in person. Send your name for our descriptive catalogue. Free to all.
