BOSTICK DRAWS MOB

Police Are Called to Disperse Crowd at County Jail.

CRIME SCENE IS VISITED

Train Robber-Murderer, Who Confessed, Goes Over Route With Sheriff—Love for Chambermaid Figures in Career.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 26.—Sheriff Hammel was forced to call for the assistance of a squad of mounted police and a platoon of patrolmen to raise the siege of the County Jail by sensation-seekers today before he could take the confessed train-robber and murderer, John Bostick, to the scene of the Sunset Express robbery, at El Monte.

Hammel desired to have the prisoner go over in detail his operations on the train December 1, which culminated in the murder of Horace E. Montague, traveling passenger agent.

Prisoner Surly For Time.

A throng of several hundred persons, mostly men and boys, crowded about the barred doors and windows of the prison, and after vainly trying to get Bostick out unobserved the Sheriff called on the police. The crowd was dispersed and Hammel, with his shackeled prisoner, emerged, hurried into a motorcar, and were whirled out to El Monte.

Hammel said all of the jewelry Bostick took from the women passengers in one of the Sunset train's Pullmans had not been accounted for, and he wanted Bostick, among other things, to say whether he had buried the loot near the scene of the holdup.

Bostick for a time was very surly today. This was due to Hammel's activity in running down clues to the identity of the girl, a hotel chambermaid, for whom, the Sheriff said, Bostick had turned to crime. Hammel promised not to reveal her name and Bostick promised to be more communicative when he and the Sheriff arrived at El Monte.

When the Sheriff and his prisoner returned from El Monte, the Sheriff said Bostick had led him over the scene of the holdup and that his confession had been confirmed in every respect.

Five Pocketbooks Found.

"We found five pocketbooks," said the Sheriff, "which Bostick had taken from as many passengers and then thrown away, as well as a vanity bag belonging to Mrs. Arthur Colen, who, with her husband, was responsible for the arrest of Bostick in San Francisco.

"We later went to a roominghouse in Los Angeles, where he was a lodger for a short time, and found his statements concerning his stay there also were true."

Before the robber was taken to El Monte, Mrs. Roberta Chase Harding, a passenger on the Sunset Express, called at the jail and identified Bostick as the man who had robbed her.

CHARITY BOARD PROPOSED

Eugene Mayor Suggests Bureau Similar to Park and Library Ones.

EUGENE, Or., Dec. 26.—(Special.)—A project to form an Associated Charities board, to have a relation to the municipal government similar to that of the Park and Library boards, was proposed by Mayor Yoran last evening, when 1000 persons of Eugene assembled about an illuminated tree in a public square in the culminating event of the charity campaign that has sought out all cases of want in the city and has ministered to the needs of these persons.

Details of the plan have not been worked out, but it is quite probable that the Thursday Charity Club, which has been doing a quiet work for eight or ten years, will be largely instrumental in the organization of the new commission.

SMITH SOLVES PROBLEM

Mill Refuse at Marshfield Now Turned Into Paper.

MARSHFIELD, Or., Dec. 26.—(Special.)—The C. A. Smith pulp mill, which has been in operation here for several weeks and manufacturing pulp from fir, hemlock and spruce refuse from the large sawmill, is running on a 20-ton day output and the process has proved all the company expected of it.

There is one fault, however, to be remedied. There is difficulty found in getting a proper bleach on the output. This trouble is expected to be overcome through experiments which are now under way, and the mill will be running night and day shifts some time in January.

LUMBER MILLS TO REOPEN

Booth-Kelly Company Plans to Resume Operations About Eugene.

EUGENE, Or., Dec. 26.—(Special.)—Logging and mill operations of the Booth-Kelly Lumber Company, which ordinarily are suspended for two weeks at the holiday season, will be resumed Monday or Tuesday of next week. The logging camps will resume work Monday, and the Wendling and Coburn mills will be started, if repairs can be made in time. They will be ready to operate by Tuesday at the latest.

The fact the workmen employed this year are of a less transient class than usual is one of the factors causing the early resumption of work.

SNOW IN SHERMAN 2 FEET

Wheat Growers Jubilant and Sleighing Is Best in Many Years.

MORO, Or., Dec. 26.—(Special.)—Sherman County generally is well covered with between one and two feet of snow. There is very little wind and the snow is not drifting. Grain is well protected and the ground only a little frozen. Automobiles have been relegated to the shed and cutters, sleighs and sleds are in evidence on every road. The sleighing is the best for years.

EAST HEARS WARBLERS

Hood River, Baker, The Dalles and Other Towns Get Glee Club.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Dec. 26. — (Special.) — Twenty-seven members of the University of Oregon Glee Club have started on the longest tour ever undertaken by that organization. The warblers will be on the road ten days and will travel close to 1700 miles, with Boise, Idaho, as their objective point.

The club this year, under the direction of Professor Ralph Lyman, is considered the strongest that ever represented Oregon before the footlights. It already has appeared in several concerts, having made a barnstorming sally into several Western Oregon towns during the Thanksgiving vacation. Its annual appearance in Eugene December 12 also was received with more than the usual enthusiasm.

Delbert C. Stanard, of Portland, who has been a member of the club for four seasons, is president and leader. Four "stunt" men are carried. Willard Shaver, of Portland, and Norton Cowden, of Silverton, form one of the teams. Their skit is a travesty on a vaudeville show, and has been well received. Shaver's specialty is Swedish comedy, while Cowden operates the piano cleverly. Bertrand Jerard, of Pendleton, and Merwin Bailey, of La Grande, put on a ragtime act which has scored heavily.

The itinerary of the present trip is as follows: Hood River, tonight; The Dalles, December 27; Baker, December 29; Boise, December 30; Caldwell, December 31; Ontario, January 1; La Grande, January 2, and Pendleton, January 3. The songsters will miss none of their classes, for they will return to Eugene before the close of the Christmas vacation. This is the first trip of the club through Eastern Oregon in two seasons, and its first venture into Idaho.
