Steve Coleman, of Sandy, this county, was in town on business on Tuesday and Wednesday. Mr. Coleman is one of the oldest residents of Clackamas county and has a right to be called a pioneer. He first came to Oregon City fifty years ago last September, and has been a resident of the county most of the time since. Most of that time he has lived in the neighborhood of Sandy, and there he has raised his family and attached himself to the soil owning at the present time a nice farm. During recent years he has devoted the biggest end of his time to the construction and maintenance of the Mount Hood and Barlow road, nearly all of which he has constructed. His business in town Wednesday was in connection with this road.
