EXPERIMENTS IN FEEDING HORSES

"Farm horses as a general rule are fed entirely too much hay," says the Oregon Agricultural Experiment League's latest bulletin to the 100 members who are to test the efficiency of a system of feeding suggested by the department of animal husbandry.

"This is a positive injury to the animal, and often lessens to a considerable degree his working efficiency. It should be remembered that every time a horse inflates his lungs, the stomach is displaced, and if this organ be kept constantly full of bulky food, it imposes extra work upon the respiratory system. Heaves, so common among farm horses, is almost wholy due to feeding too large quanities of hay. Colic and other forms of indigestion are often due to feeding too large amounts of bulky food. Aside from its physical injury to the horse, the feeding of excessive hay is a waste that should be conserved.

"A horse weighing 1,000 pounds will do more work and keep in better health on 15 pounds of hay per day than he will on 20 pounds per day. In fact, 15 pounds of hay per day is sufficient bulky food for a horse of that size. A horse weighing 1,600 to 1,800 pounds does not need more than 20 pounds of hay per day. The balance of his nutrients should be in the form of grain.

"Feed the 1,000 pounds horse 10 pounds of good hay at night and 5 pounds in the morning and he will perform more labor with greater ease than he would if hay is kept before him all the while.

"The purpose of the experiment is to cause horse owners to observe more closely the advantages of feeding less hay. If two or more teams are maintained upon the farm, feed one team as suggested and the other the usual way and note carefully the result. In making the test, however, teams should be divided as to size, age and individuality as nearly equal as possible. When ever practicable, weigh rather than guess the amount of hay feed."

The quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less the danger from pneumonia and other serious diseases. Mr. B. W. L. Hall, of Waverly, Va., says: "I firmly believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be absolutely the best preparation on the market for colds. I have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me." For sale by all dealers.

New Coyote Trap

Hood River News: John Miller, of Bickleton, who ran the stage line between Goldendale and that place for several years, and who is now engaged in the sheep business in Eastern Klickitat, will try a new method of ensnaring covotes this winter, says the Bingen Observer. He will cut a star shape aperture in the top of a five gallon oil can, bending the points downward. Bait will be placed inside the can and when the covote attempts to withdraw his head the sharp tin will catch on the thick hair around his neck and prevent him from getting his head out of the can. Covotes caught this way will travel backward in a circle and will not get far from where the can was placed. Mr. Miller will bait them with meat and bacon.

When you have a cold get a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will soon fix you up all right and will ward off any tendency towards pneumonia. This remedy contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. Sold by all dealers.

Novel Fish Screen

Gold Hill, Ore. Charles Kell, local blacksmith, has secured a patent on his fish screen for power and irrigation ditches. The invention consists of a screen cylinder, rotated by paddles hung on the axis inside the screen. As the cylinder revolves it carries trash and drift over and down the stream, perventing the passage of fish up the ditch.

The invention is the result of the screening law, on the statutes of all western states, requiring all power and irrigation ditches to be effectually screened against the passage of fish. With the old stationary screen, trash would catch and dam the ditch, causing it to overflow and allowing the fish to escape to their deaths on the land, which is precisely the thing that the law has designated to prevent.

When your feet are wet and cold, and your body chilled through and through from exposure, take a big dose of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, bathe your feet in hot water before going to bed, and you are almost certain to ward off a severe cold. For sale by all dealers.

"BEST ON EARTH"

This is the verdict of R. J. Howell, Tracy, Cal., who bought Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for his wife. "Her case was the worst I have ever seen, and looked like a sure case of consumption. Her lungs were sore and she coughed almost incessantly and her voice was hoarse and weak. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound brought relief at once and less than three bottles effected a complete cure." For sale by A. L. Thornton.

PARCELS POST TO BE GIVEN TRIAL

Postmaster General Hitchcock will ask congress for an appropriation of $50,000 to defray expenses of inaugurating parcels post. That seems like an insignificant sum for such a purpose after all that has been said for the parcels post. It is a small sum for such a mammoth undertaking, but the apparent disparity is readily reconciled when one remembers that the government already possess the machinery in its wonderful post office system for organizing and putting into operation this new scheme. In fact, its machinery is so much greater than the demands even now made upon it that it will later on be able to take care of still other extensions in the service. It is not necessary, therefore, to provide new and independent equipment before the parcels post experimental stations can be opened for business.

The postmaster general requests that this appropriation be made in three parts of $50,000 each, respectively, for use on rural routes, in the cities and on the railroads and steamboats. It is to carry on only the preliminary work, to prepare the way, really, for the forthcoming system, which the president and postmaster general are thoroughly convinced will promptly commend itself as a strong and valuable arm to the post office department. Our government has proceeded cautiously with respect to the parcels post and will proceed cautiously in introducing it.

Nor do we quite enter upon this inovation, it is scarcely to be regarded as an experiment, except in practice with us, for it has witnessed most satisfactory and successful results in European countries and should turn out equally well here. With an office plant capable of doing enormously more business than it is at present, we need not fear taxing the resources of our governmental machinery, and it should not take long for parcels post, not only to be self sustaining, but to become a profit making part of the postal system.

"I had been troubled with constipation for two years and tried all of the best physicians in Bristol, Tenn., and they could do nothing for me," writes Thos. E. Williams, Middlebore, Ky. "Two packages of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets cured me." For sale by all dealers.

To Higher Court

In a decision handed down by Judge Calkins of the circuit court at Medford, the legality of the $1,500,000 bond issue for road sanctioned by the voters of Jackson County, Sept., 30, was sustained. Judge Calkins contended that according to the state constitution as amended, a county may create county indebtedness for permanent improvement to its roads if it has the approval of those voting on the question. The action against the bonds, which was brought by Ed. Andrews, of Medford, will now be continued and an appeal will be taken by his Attorneys to the Supreme Court.

AN ALARM AT NIGHT

That strikes terror to the entire household is the loud, hoarse and metallic cough of croup. No mistaking it, and fortunate then the lucky parents who keep Foley's Honey and Tar Compound on hand. H. W. Casselman, Canton, N. Y., says: "It is worth its weight in gold. Our little children are troubled with croup and hoarseness, and all we give them is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. I always have a bottle of it in the house." For sale by A. L. Thornton.

To Prevent Freezing

J. W. Keves, of the Valley Auto company gives the following receipe for a solution to use instead of water in their cylinders to prevent cracking through freezing these cold nights. The solution is 20 per cent alcohol, 5 per cent glycerine and 75 per cent water. Add alcohol as mixture evaporates. Use this and run your engine in zero weather.

DANGER IN DELAY

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Lakeview People to Neglect

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, gravel and Bright's disease, follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Help the kidneys with the reliable and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in this locality.

N. Marchland, Warden Ave., Klamath Falls, Ore., says: "About two years ago I first noticed symptoms of kidney trouble. My back pained me intensely and I was obliged to arise many times at night, owing to too frequent passages of the kidney secretions. Often my back was so weak that I had to quit work. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally brought to my attention and I began using them. They restored my Kidneys to a normal condition, stopping the pains in my back. I give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit for my cure and highly recommend them to other kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
