MAKE POOR FARMS MODELS

"MAKE the county poor farms the model farms of every county where the lessons of good seed, good fertilizing and good methods shall be taught," this is the slogan soon to be proclaimed by a committee seeking a practical plan of soil conservation and general agricultural education.

The need for some nation-wide, practical method of arousing farmers to the immediate profit of building up instead of depleting their farms was given new impetus by the speech of James J. Hill at the opening of the great land show in Chicago recently.

"If American resources are to be conserved the farmer must be educated on his own ground and in a practical way," said Mr. Hill. "Practically all of the so-called expert or practical information on farming disseminated by our colleges of today is too technical to be understood by the farmer. It goes over his head. If the farmer is to be made to understand the value of the soil and how to replace its fertility, he will have to be met on his land and shown how to do it there. He doesn't pay any attention to present methods for conserving the soil. He is going ahead in the same way that farmers have done through all the centuries. The same thing was done years ago in Mesopotamia in the days of Ilopie. At one time in the world's history Sicily produced 12,000,000 bushels of wheat and now it produces only 1,000,000. The farmer worked the soil as long as he could without thought of fertilization."

Constipation, if Neglected, Causes Serious Illness

Constipation, if neglected, leads to almost innumerable complications affecting the general health. Many cases of typhoid fever, appendicitis and other severe diseases are traceable to prolonged sluggishness of the bowels. Regarding the effects of constipation, C. E. Ayers, 5 Sabin St., Montpelier, Vt., says:

"I was troubled with constipation and biliousness for years, and at times became so bad I would become unconscious. I have been found in that condition many times. Physicians did not seem to be able to do me any good. I would become weak and for days at a time could do no work. Not long ago I got a box of Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets, and after using them found I has never tried anything that acted in such a mild and effective manner. I believe I have at last found the remedy that suits my case."

Thousands of people are sufferers from habitual constipation and while possibly realizing something of the danger of this condition, yet neglect too long to employ proper curative measures until serious illness often results. The advice of all physicians is, "keep your bowels clean," and it's good advice.

Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets are sold by all druggists, at 25 cents a box containing 25 doses. If not found satisfactory, your money is returned.
