SCRAP STARTED IN TOWN ENDS AT CITY LIMITS

Joe Murphy, and a young man by the name of Heft, who is employed at the mills here, and came from the East, started an argument Monday afternoon, and, meeting later in the evening in front of the Bank of Oregon City, resumed the argument After talking it over, the men decided to walk out to the city limits and fight it out, and followed by a crowd, they arrived at Green Point, just opposite the residence of Mayor Hackett. The battle did not last long, as Heft got Murphy down, and would not let him up. Mayor Hackett came out of his residence and tried to stop the fight, but the crowd pushed the mayor to one side, and several were about to help Murphy to his feet so that he could continue to fight, when Sheriff Wilson arrived upon the scene, accompanied by Night Officer Heft saw them coming and ran, while Murphy was seized by the officers and placed in the city jail. Later Heft gave himself up, and both men put up bail to appear for trial. Both men were found guilty this morning (Thursday), and fined $10

CAR WITH 300 QUARTS OF LIQUOR CAPTURED

SEATTLE MEN NABBED HERE ON RETURN FROM SOUTHERN BOOTLEGGING TRIP

One of the biggest hauls of bootlegging whiskey ever captured in this county was made Friday by Sheriff Wilson and his deputy, Joiner, when two Seattle men driving a large auto carrying a Washington license attempted to get through this county with about 300 quarts of booze. The car was driven by Pete Sebutt, a professional chauffeur of Seattle, and he was accompanied by P. E. Collins, whom Sebuff claims bought the booze in California and paid over $600 for the stuff.

The United War Work campaign, which has just closed, has been entirely successful, and the quota for were spotted by the sheriff as the car passed the courthouse. The sherneared him, placed a shot across the front wheels, and the bootleggers put on the brakes with all speed possible.
