Captured German Science Aids U. S.

ATLANTIC CITY, (AP) — "The United States is just beginning to reap the benefits from the huge amount of scientific information captured from the Germans after World War II," says Col. Harry A. Kuhn, USA (retired), president of the Armed Forces Chemical association.

"The government so far has released more than 100,000 reports with data on synthetic fuels, jet missiles, chemical warfare agents and other subjects, but it will take years to evaluate all the information," he told the American Chemical Society.

Some of the more important German developments were the Fischer-Tropsch process for making synthetic oil from coal; the manufacture of high concentration hydrogen peroxide; production of white carbon black; the fire-fighting fuel chlorobromomethane; a synthetic substitute for mica, and new insecticides.

New Auto Tire Has Springs

LONDON, — (AP)—A British tire firm has developed a non-skid tire with steel coil springs in place of the usual tread. The springs are embedded in the tire during the vulcanizing process.

The company, (Tyresoles, Ltd.), calls the invention "Wyresoles." Sir Patrick Hamilton, its chairman, said engineers agreed that for safe driving on wet roads the film of water under the tire must be shattered and dispersed quickly. The company claims the springs do this efficiently.
