

WEEKLY PROGRAM

LIBERTY THEATRE OF THE BEST PICTURES

Thurs.—Fri. Nov. 23—24
JACKIE COOGAN in "TROUBLE"
 A First National Picture
 "SPLITTING HAIRS"
 Two-Part Comedy
 Prices 10 and 25c

Saturday Nov. 25
MAY McAVOY in "THE TOP OF NEW YORK"
 Also a Century Comedy
 Matinee Prices 10 and 25c

Saturday Night
 Hickman Bessey Stock Co. Presents
 "THE CIRCUS GIRL"
 A Four-Act Comedy Drama
 Prices 25 and 50c

THE STAR

Fri.—Sat. Nov. 25—26
WILLIAM RUSSELL in "MIXED FACES"
 And Chapt. 11—"In the Days of Buffalo Bill"
 Prices 10 and 20c

Sun.—Mon. Nov. 26—27
THOMAS MEIGHAN in "MANSLAUGHTER"
 A Paramount Picture
 "COLD FEET"
 Two-Part Comedy
 Pathe News
 Prices 10 and 35c

Tues.—Wed. Nov. 28—29
KATHERINE McDONALD in "DOMESTIC RELATIONS"
 A First National Picture.
 Chapt. 10—"The Timber Queen" and a Comedy.
 Wednesday Night—
AMATEURS
 COUNTRY STORE
 Prices 10 and 25c

Sunday Nov. 26
GLADYS WALTON in "THE LAVENDER BATH LADY"
 And a Comedy
 Prices 10 and 20c

OSWEGO
 Gladys Emrich

Well Known Oswego Man Dies.
 Funeral services were held here Sunday at the M. E. Church for Marion Asa Coon. Death came very suddenly while he was at the home of his father, James Coon last Thursday.

Mr. Coon had resided in Oswego from the time his family first located here in 1894 until five years ago when he moved in Portland. He had moved back to Oswego and into his former home just a few months before his death.

For sixteen years he was in the employ of the Liberty Coal and Ice Co. He was a member of the W. O. W., Artisans and Masons. The Masons had charge of the services at the cemetery.

He is survived by a wife, Grace Coon, sons, James, Leslie and Marion Arch, a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Wilson and his parents, two brothers, and three sisters. Mrs. Philo Zimmerman, Mrs. Cora Melach Mrs. Ed Wint; brothers James A., Arch H., and Jesse R.

A parent-teachers association was organized last Friday at the School House. Mrs. Curtis Menick was elected president.

Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Lord entertained the evening "500" club last Saturday evening. Prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Borghorst, Dr. Sumption and Mrs. R. D. Fulton.

Mrs. Reub Confer entertained a number of friends with a card party at her home in Glenmorrie, last Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. I. A. Lord, Mrs. Henry Borghorst and Mrs. Albert Rosentreter were winners of prizes.

Mrs. Lucy Witheaspoon who has been quite ill at the Oregon City hospital is improving rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Worthington and son Claude of Lake Grove were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Emmett, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Emrich entertained a number of friends with an evening of cards Saturday.

The Ladies Aid held a bazaar and silver tea at the home of Mrs. John Haines Tuesday. The money made will be used for church purposes.

PERIWINKLE HOUSE
 (Continued from page 8)

the Texas and—and natter the stars, by gad! But Tobe lied—said he didn't have any of the old stock left."

"And a liar's wife is sweet, my dear Major. Come, Virgil, my boy, put all brooding out of your mind. Brooding is for the poet when the nag is tired, and not for us. We'll have a night of it, and then we'll return to respectable servitude and slow moral decay. My dear Major, lead on. We follow."

The remainder of the trip back to Bethpage was a matter of moral freedom at the gaming table for the General. For Drace, it was occupied with the hot struggle between thoughts of his grim mission against Stepha, and his longing for Nadine. For the time being, however, the beautiful girl who had rescued him from the burning hut triumphed. She had promised to see him once more on Thursday. He would keep the trust.

Presently the Bumblebee made Bethpage Landing. And the General's hospitality was at once so warm and so gracious that Drace felt no hesitancy in remaining for the time being under his roof—until Shottle's return, at least. That night after dinner when his wife, Tydie, had left, the old gentleman lit a cigar and for a long time sat smoking in silence; and Drace was silent, too, looking through the lattice at the moon, love's slow timepiece stopped and stagnant in the sky.

"Virgil?"

"Yes, General."

"Have you a pistol, sir?"

"No; I had one, but I lost it."

"Well, provide yourself with another. In saving me from a deadly assault you have mortally offended old La Vitte. He is in no wise afraid; but neither is he gallant, and would shoot you without warning. You told me you remember, of your appointment to meet old Spence tomorrow. I haven't any too much confidence in him; he might play you into the hands of Stepha, and I advise you not to go fishing with him."

"Spence. No that's not the name of the old fellow I'm going with. His name is—Spillers, I think."

"I don't know a man of that name in the neighborhood. But, anyway, arm yourself and keep a sharp lookout."

And then they sat and smoked in silence, inhaling the dewy breath of the night.

(To be Continued Next Week)

MEXICO ITS HOME
 Domestic Species of Turkey Had Origin There.

Thanksgiving Bird, So Well and Favorably Known Today, Never of the Wild Species.

At this time of the year when the feasting holidays are here, almost everyone thinks of turkey, which also took an important part in the first Thanksgiving of the Puritans, the founders of Thanksgiving as we know it today. Little is known of the early history of the domestic turkey. Writers of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth centuries seem to have been ignorant about it, and to have regarded it as the guineafowl or pintado of the ancients, a mistake which was not cleared up until the middle of the last century, says a writer in the New York Sun.

The name it now bears, and which it received in England where it is reputed to have been introduced in 1541, was given it from the supposition that it came originally from Turkey. As far back as 1573 we read of it as having been the Christmas fare of the sturdy British yeomanry.

Came From Mexican Fowl.
 Audubon, one of the early pioneers of American ornithology, supposed our common barnyard turkey to have originated in the wild bird so prevalent in the eastern half of the United States. But it has always been a matter of surprise to naturalists that the latter did not assimilate, by interbreeding and reversion, more intimately in color and habits to the domestic form. No suspicion, until recently, appears to have been entertained that the two birds might belong to different species.

Our common wild turkey, once so plentiful in Pennsylvania and New York, is now restricted to the more eastern and southern portions of the

MILLINERY
 Every Hat In Our Store
 Nothing Reserved
 Trimmed Hats - Sailors - Sport Hats]
AT HALF PRICE

Our Millinery Department on the Mezzanine Floor is new this season—owned by us with a Hat-Maker in charge who is really an expert in fashioning Modish, Georgerously Trimmed Hats.

The Best Hatter's Plush and Panne Velvet is used in our trimmed hats.

Every Hat Plainly Marked and Beginning Today they will be sold at ONE-HALF Regular Price!

The Store of Quality Price Bros. Main Street at Seventh

CALL THE REDDAWAY TRUCK LINE for Long Distance Hauls
 Three Trips Each Day Each Way
 Between Oregon City and Portland
 Portland 516—91 Phones Oregon City 501

PHONE 330
 If in Trouble

We will come to your aid at once. And if it is necessary to bring your car to the garage for work our charge will be very moderate.

Pacific Highway Garage

TRY THE BANNER-COURIER WANT ADS

OREGON INDUSTRIES

Portland—Weinhard estate to erect $110,000 office and business block.

Assessed valuation of Multnomah county $6,000,000 below 1921, and many counties show reduced valuations and lower taxes are sure for 1923. Ashland shipped 1,000 boxes apples to England for Christmas trade.

Pacific Northwest wheat growers have put in this season a total of 2,997,000 acres of winter wheat, the greatest ever planted during the fall-winter season in Oregon Idaho and Washington.

Bend Bulletin erecting $7,000 newspaper building.

Astoria has a new afternoon paper—The Daily News.

Portland Northwestern Electric Co. to make $900,000 improvements and additions.

Astoria lets $169,428 contract for new hotel.

Gresham cannery receiving improvements.

Hood River creamery erecting

$9,000 building.
 Prune drier capacity in Umpqua Valley practically doubled during past year.

153 west coast sawmills for week ending October 23, manufactured 109,604,012 feet of lumber; sold 78,738,343 feet and shipped 71,089,558 feet.

Wallowa's new high school nearly completed.

Coquille to get new $80,000 hotel.

Salem grew 48,000 pounds walnuts on shade trees this year.

Albany drilling for oil in Lacombe district to be resumed.

We pay highest cash price for your veal and pork.—Midget Market, foot of elevator, Oregon City.

PERIWINKLE HOUSE
 (Continued from page 8)

the Texas and—and natter the stars, by gad! But Tobe lied—said he didn't have any of the old stock left."

"And a liar's wife is sweet, my dear Major. Come, Virgil, my boy, put all brooding out of your mind. Brooding is for the poet when the nag is tired, and not for us. We'll have a night of it, and then we'll return to respectable servitude and slow moral decay. My dear Major, lead on. We follow."

The remainder of the trip back to Bethpage was a matter of moral freedom at the gaming table for the General. For Drace, it was occupied with the hot struggle between thoughts of his grim mission against Stepha, and his longing for Nadine. For the time being, however, the beautiful girl who had rescued him from the burning hut triumphed. She had promised to see him once more on Thursday. He would keep the trust.

Presently the Bumblebee made Bethpage Landing. And the General's hospitality was at once so warm and so gracious that Drace felt no hesitancy in remaining for the time being under his roof—until Shottle's return, at least. That night after dinner when his wife, Tydie, had left, the old gentleman lit a cigar and for a long time sat smoking in silence; and Drace was silent, too, looking through the lattice at the moon, love's slow timepiece stopped and stagnant in the sky.

"Virgil?"

"Yes, General."

"Have you a pistol, sir?"

"No; I had one, but I lost it."

"Well, provide yourself with another. In saving me from a deadly assault you have mortally offended old La Vitte. He is in no wise afraid; but neither is he gallant, and would shoot you without warning. You told me you remember, of your appointment to meet old Spence tomorrow. I haven't any too much confidence in him; he might play you into the hands of Stepha, and I advise you not to go fishing with him."

"Spence. No that's not the name of the old fellow I'm going with. His name is—Spillers, I think."

"I don't know a man of that name in the neighborhood. But, anyway, arm yourself and keep a sharp lookout."

And then they sat and smoked in silence, inhaling the dewy breath of the night.

(To be Continued Next Week)

MEXICO ITS HOME
 Domestic Species of Turkey Had Origin There.

Thanksgiving Bird, So Well and Favorably Known Today, Never of the Wild Species.

At this time of the year when the feasting holidays are here, almost everyone thinks of turkey, which also took an important part in the first Thanksgiving of the Puritans, the founders of Thanksgiving as we know it today. Little is known of the early history of the domestic turkey. Writers of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth centuries seem to have been ignorant about it, and to have regarded it as the guineafowl or pintado of the ancients, a mistake which was not cleared up until the middle of the last century, says a writer in the New York Sun.

The name it now bears, and which it received in England where it is reputed to have been introduced in 1541, was given it from the supposition that it came originally from Turkey. As far back as 1573 we read of it as having been the Christmas fare of the sturdy British yeomanry.

Came From Mexican Fowl.
 Audubon, one of the early pioneers of American ornithology, supposed our common barnyard turkey to have originated in the wild bird so prevalent in the eastern half of the United States. But it has always been a matter of surprise to naturalists that the latter did not assimilate, by interbreeding and reversion, more intimately in color and habits to the domestic form. No suspicion, until recently, appears to have been entertained that the two birds might belong to different species.

Our common wild turkey, once so plentiful in Pennsylvania and New York, is now restricted to the more eastern and southern portions of the

CLASSIFIED ADS

For Sale—Live Stock
 FOR SALE—At bargain; Guernsey bull, age three in December; advance registry; five blue ribbons; 906.85 record. Must change.—Fred Yohann, Aurora, Oregon, Route 2. 11-23-4tpd

For Sale—Miscellaneous
 FOR SALE—Six months Alredale pup. Thoroughbred. For sale, cheap. E. R. W.—Care of Banner-Courier. 11-23-4tpd.

Wanted—Miscellaneous
 WANTED—To buy second hand goods. Will pay cash for used furniture, tools, or any thing of commercial value. Large stock of goods for sale. J. H. Matthey, 911 - 7th St.

YONCE-FREEZE
 (Continued from Page One)

The soft-hued gowns of the ladies taking part added to the beauty of the ceremony. The bridesmaid, Miss Wooster wore pale pink and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and small pink chrysanthemums. Mrs. Miller was dressed in light blue and Miss Posson wore pale green.

Burr Johnson of Oregon City acted as best man.

After the wedding refreshments of chocolate, cake and ice cream were served, the bridal party being served in the living or green room, where, according to custom, the bride cut the beautifully ornamented bride's cake, made by the groom's mother, while the rest of the guests were served in the dining room, which was decorated in yellow, with a large jardiner of yellow chrysanthemums centering the table. Between the living and dining rooms, on either side of the archway, brass jardiners of Oregon greens had been placed by Mrs. Yonce, who had planned and carried out all the decorating.

Mrs. Yonce wore brown pan velvet and Mrs. Freeze wore grey canton crepe. Mrs. Yonce and Mrs. Freeze served the chocolate, while Miss Posson cut the ice. The wedding cake was made by Mrs. Freeze.

Mr. and Mrs. Yonce are well known. Mr. Yonce is in the employ of the Huntley-Draper Company, where he has worked for three years. Mrs. Yonce has for the past year been in the employ of the Oregon City Sand and Gravel Company. The marriage is the culmination of a happy courtship, begun in High school.

Many tokens denoting a wide circle of friends, grace the home of the happy pair at 310 High street, where they will be at home to their friends after November 26th.

One Day Earlier
 On account of Thanksgiving, correspondents are requested to mail their news not later than Tuesday morning, next week.

FOR SALE or TRADE—New harness for sale or trade. Will take good cow or young stock.—Oliver S. Gerber, Estacada, R. 3. 11-9-4tpd

WANTED—To hear from owner of good ranch for sale. State cash price, full particulars.—D. F. Bush, Minneapolis, Minn.

SIX PER CENT LOANS may be secured for any purpose on farm lands, irrigated lands, to buy or build homes, City or Farm, under our first mortgage certificates. Bankers Reserve Deposit Company, Gas and Electric Bldg., Denver, Colo.

MONEY TO LOAN on farms of over ten acres at 6 per cent. Long time loans on easy payments. Federal loans a specialty. Arthur Graham, Canby, Oregon. 3-18-4f

ESTRAY NOTICE—Taken up, one red cow, branded 4 on one side, 10 on the other; both ears split; no horns.—L. Partich, R. 1, Hoff, Ore. 11-2-4t

Cost Little, Results Big—Banner-Courier Classified Ads.

SUMMONS.
 In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for Clackamas County.
ROSE SHEARER, Plaintiff, vs.
ELMER SHEARER, Defendant.
 To Elmer Shearer, the above named defendant.
 In the Name of the State of Oregon: You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint of the plaintiff filed against you in the above entitled suit on or before six weeks from the 23rd day of November, 1922, that being the date of the first publication of the summons herein, and if you so fail to appear and answer, for want thereof, the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint to-wit: For a decree dissolving the marriage contract heretofore and now existing between plaintiff and defendant in this cause; that plaintiff be awarded the care, custody and control of Helen Shearer, minor child of plaintiff and defendant, and for such other and further relief as to the Court may seem meet and equitable in the premises.

This summons is served upon you by publication, pursuant to the order of the Hon. H. E. Cross, County Judge, in the absence of Hon. J. U. Campbell Judge of the above entitled Court, which order was made and entered on the 23rd day of November, 1922, and which order directed that service of summons in this cause be made upon you by publication thereof for six consecutive and successive weeks in the "Banner-Courier," a weekly newspaper of general circulation, printed and published in Clackamas County, State of Oregon.

Date of first publication, Nov. 23, 1922.

G. B. DIMICK & W. L. MULVEY,
 Attorneys for Plaintiff,
 Address: Room 10, Hogg Bldg., (11-23-7t) Oregon City, Oregon.

You'll Always Find the Newest at JOE SWARTZ
 6th and Main Street Oregon City
Kuppenheimer Clothes
 Wear Yours Thanksgiving Day
SUITS and OVERCOATS $35
 The Suits are for men and young men in conservative and snappy models; one, two or three button styles, also sport models. They are in worsteds, serges and other serviceable materials (all wool). Browns, grays and tans, in stripes and checks. All sizes, at $35

The Overcoats
 If you want luxury and style in an overcoat, wear a Kuppenheimer. The tailoring must be expert to bring out the style and make it stay in all weathers. Ours are made that way. The fashionable new patterns—in tans, novelty grays, browns, olives or blues. Priced $5 to $10 below the usual price. All sizes $35

COME IN AND TRY SOME OF THEM ON
 Other Big Values in All-Wool Suits or Overcoats at $22-50 to $30-00

Joe Swartz, Your Kuppenheimer Clothier in Oregon City