Tyrone Says Marriage Over

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The marriage of Tyrone Power and Linda Christian, solemnized five years ago in Santa Francesco Catholic Church in Rome, has broken up. The two movie stars blame the split on "incompatibility over careers" but say there are no immediate plans for divorce.

The shapely Miss Christian will stay in Hollywood and pursue her film career. Power is leaving for New York as soon as he finishes his current movie, "Untamed," to start rehearsals for "The Dark Is Light Enough," in which he will co-star on the stage with Katharine Cornell.

Before the marriage, Power told reporters Miss Christian would give up her acting career "because two actors in one family wouldn't work."

Theirs was a year-long international romance in Italy, Mexico, Spain and Hollywood. The church sanctioned the marriage because it had not recognized the civil ceremony which united Power with Annabella, French actress.

The couple's joint announcement of their splitup said their two daughters, Romina Francesca, 3, and Taryn, 2, will remain in the custody of Miss Christian.

New York Employers' Group Resists Truck Union Demand

NEW YORK (AP)—A group of 450 truck companies plan to continue holding out against a driver's strike for higher pay but admit they are weakened by other employers agreeing to union terms.

During the strike's third day yesterday the AFL Teamsters Union claimed employer resistance was "collapsing on all sides." It reported an "avalanche" of individual settlements, mostly with small firms.

The holdout firms voted at a strategy meeting last night to continue to fight union demands. However, before the meeting the employers' chief negotiator, Joseph M. Adelizzi, said their position was weakened by defections in employer ranks.

He added that "the next two days" will tell whether they can continue to hold the line.

Originally some 3,500 firms were involved in the strike. It affects general freight carriers in an area stretching from the tip of Long Island through New York City then south as far as Trenton, N. J., and north to Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

There was no indication exactly how many firms had signed union agreements, but they apparently were not deterred by a 10-million-dollar damage suit filed against the teamsters and seven firms that earlier agreed to union terms.

Nine truckers, the mainstay of the holdout group, filed the suit in State Supreme Court, charging that the union and signing companies had conspired to "seize and steal" business from firms that refused to settle.

The suit also charged that the seven defendant companies had violated a purported agreement to keep up a solid employers' front and not sign with the union individually.

One of the companies named, the A&P Food Stores, Inc., immediagely issued a statement saying it had never entered into such an agreement.

The suit was belittled by the teamsters' chief economist, David Kaplan, who termed it a "scare" tactic and "desperation" move.

In addition to damages, the suit asked for a court order to prevent the union or signing companies from "inducing or coercing" other firms to sign contracts. The judge set tomorrow morning for a hearing.

The strike began Saturday over union demands for an hourly package increase of 25 cents an hour. The highest company offer at the time was a 10-cent package. An employer offer to arbitrate the dispute was turned down by the union.

Present wages run from $1.77 for helpers to $2.77 for drivers of tractor trailers.

The union estimated that more than 23,000 drivers were involved in the strike originally. Yesterday Kaplan said fully two thirds of the strikers in New York City would go back to work.

The strike has produced little effect on the city's business life thus far.

Dulles Leaves For Arms Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles leaves for Paris today to join Western European diplomats in working out detailed arrangements for bringing West Germany into the anti-Communist defensive alliance.

The United States, its military partners and Germany recently reached broad agreement on restoration of West German sovereignty and German rearmament. The task now is to reduce that broad agreement to specific terms.

Among the problems to be solved is the extent of control to be exercised by a broadened European military treaty group over armaments and arms manufacture. There have been indications France may seek stricter controls than Germany and possibly some other nations might accept.

The U.S. delegation includes representatives of the Defense Department, the U.S. NATO staff and the State Department.

37 Injured In Train Collision

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Thirty-seven persons were injured yesterday in the collision of a crack Wabash passenger train and a work train, both moving at slow speeds, on the St. Louis approach to a Mississippi River bridge.

Most of the injured were treated for cuts, bruises and shock and released from area hospitals. Twelve were kept for further observation, but none was reported in serious condition.

The Wabash train, the Cannonball, en route to St. Louis from Detroit, was pulling seven cars but none was derailed by the accident. It continued on into the St. Louis station.
