PRECIOUS BUTTONS

NEW YORK (UPI)—The pearl button looks pretty plain alongside new jeweled fasteners featured by one New York firm.

Van Cleef and Arpels showed a collection of buttons fashioned from a combination of precious jewels and ranging in price from $2,700 to $9,000. A gold emerald sapphire and pearl combination adds up to that $2,300. A sapphire shaped like a camellia is priced at $9,000, although a smaller version costs $3,000. All buttons come with pinback, so there is no danger of losing them and so they can double as ornaments on a hat or suit lapel.

Daughter Of Actor Enjoys Food

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Remember William Bendix' daughter who underwent a radical stomach operation that dropped her weight from 297 pounds to 118 in a year —a loss of 179 pounds?

Bendix, relaxing in his dressing room between scenes of "Overland Trail," told a reporter that his daughter has since eaten herself back to 250 pounds.

"You can't blame the doctor or the operation," says Bendix. "Lorraine, like most heavy people, just loves to eat. She'll eat 10 meals a day—even steals food from her own refrigerator."

Lorraine herself once said that she ate around the clock, mostly starches and sweets. Then her blood pressure got so high that doctors feared for her life. Her height is 5 feet 2.

In 1956, she was three pounds shy of 300. Her doctor advised a new operation that caused food to bypass the digestive process.

"I figured my life was at stake, so I underwent the operation," said Lorraine.

For a year after the operation, she said, she lived and ate as before—except that her appetite was curtailed. The pounds dropped off until she was a svelte 118—her blood pressure normal.

In May, 1957, Lorraine then 27, had another operation to restore her digestive tract to normal. For awhile, her father reports, she stayed slim, but the love of food got the better of her.

Bendix reports that he and his daughter received thousands of letters from all over the world about the operation.

"The doctor also heard from medical societies, some of which thought it too daring an operation for weight reduction. Now they'll say it was a failure because Lorraine is getting back up there but that's not the doctor's fault."

Bendix, who is no Tony Curtis around the waistline sympathizes with his daughter.

"Lorraine takes after me. I love to eat, too. I love the smell of cooking. It's one of the great joys of life. It's too bad it has to be so unhealthy."

Honest Man Pays Debt

FORT MADISON, Iowa (UPI)—A 76-year-old retired railroad man recently settled a 37-year-old repair bill of 14 cents by sending a $2 money order to cover the money he owed plus compound interest and a $1 bill "to cover unnecessary expense."

"I had no intention of defrauding your company," wrote R. M. Frantz of Big Rapids, Mich., to the W. A. Sheaffer Pen Co., enclosing a repair invoice dated July 24, 1922. "I did that which was about as bad—I failed to settle an old bill."

The firm returned the $1 to Frantz and sent him a new pen to replace the one repaired more than 37 years ago.
