Summons

In the Circuit Court, Klamath County, Oregon.

Thomas B. Stephenson, plaintiff, vs. Edgar Z. Devoe and Glen E. Devoe, defendants.

To Edgar Z. Devoe and Glen E. Devoe, defendants.

In the name of the State of Oregon: You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit on or before Friday, May 17, and if you fail to answer, for want thereof, the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint, to-wit: for a decree that he is the owner in fee of the following described premises, in the City of Klamath Falls, Klamath County, Oregon, to-wit: Beginning at a point in the south line of Main street in said city, said point being southwesterly and distant 25 feet from the northeasterly corner of lot 6 in Block 33 in said city; running thence southeasterly and at right angels with Main street 120 feet, thence southwesterly, parallel with Main street 24 feet, thence northwesterly, at right angles with Main street 120 feet, thence on south line of Main street 24 feet to place of beginning, and that plaintiff recover his costs and disbursements herein and such other and further relief as to equity pertains.

May 16, 1907, is the last day of the time prescribed in the order for publication of this summons, the first publication thereof being on April 4, 1907. This summons is served by publication in the Klamath Republican, by order of Hon. J. B. Griffith, County Judge of Klamath County, Oregon, dated March 29, 1907, which order requires that this summons be published once a week for six successive weeks, from April 4, 1907, the date of first publication of said summons prescribed in said order.

J. C. RUTENIC,
4-4-5-16 Attorney for Plaintiff.

Summons

In the Circuit Court, Klamath County, Oregon.

Lydia M. VanBrimmer, plaintiff, vs. C. N. Gordon and Lucy I. Gordon, defendants.

To C. N. Gordon and Lucy I. Gordon, defendants.

In the name of the State of Oregon: You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled action, on or before Friday, May 17, 1907, May 16, 1907, being the last day of the time prescribed in the order for publication of this summons, the date of the first publication being on April 4, 1907, and if you fail so to answer, for want thereof, the plaintiff will take judgment against you for $268.90, with interest thereon at 10 per cent per annum from March 20, 1907, and $50 attorney's fees, and for the costs and disbursements of this action, and that any property attached herein may be sold to satisfy such judgment. This summons is served by publication in the Klamath Republican by order of Hon. J. B. Griffith, County Judge of Klamath County, Oregon, dated March 29, 1907, which said order requires that this summons be published once a week for six successive weeks, from the 4th day of April, 1907, the date of first publication prescribed in said order.

J. C. RUTENIC,
4-4-5-16 Attorney for Plaintiff.

Summons

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for the County of Klamath.

R. N. Day, plaintiff, vs. George H. Farrah, defendant.

To, George H. Farrah, defendant herein:

In the name of the State of Oregon. You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit, on or before Saturday, the 18th day of May, 1907, being the last day of the time prescribed in the order for the publication of this summons; the first publication thereof being on the 4th day of April, 1907, and if you fail so to appear and answer for want thereof the plaintiff herein will apply to the Court for the relief prayed for in the said complaint, to wit: For a decree of the Court removing from the plaintiff's title a cloud created by the certain quitclaim deed executed to you, and which purports to convey the south half of the south east quarter and the north west quarter of the south east quarter of Section 19, and the south west quarter of the south west quarter of Section 20 in Township 38, South of Range 15, East of the Willamette Meridian in Oregon, containing 160 acres of land, and for such further relief as to the Court may seem just and in accordance with law and equity.

This summons is served by publication thereof in the Klamath Republican, a weekly newspaper, published at Klamath Falls, Oregon, by order of Hon. Henry L. Benson, Judge of said Court, which order is dated the 25th day of March, 1907, requiring this summons to be published once a week for at least six consecutive weeks, and covering a period of continuous publication of at least forty-two days.

THOMAS DRAKE,
Attorney for Plaintiff, Klamath Falls, Oregon. 4-4—5-16

Notice for Publication

United States Land Office, Lakeview, Oregon, February 28, 1907.

Notice is hereby given that in compliance with the provisions of the act of Congress of June 3, 1878, entitled "An act for the sale of timber lands in the States of California, Oregon, Nevada, and Washington Territory," as extended to all the Public Land States by act of August 4, 1892, John H. Grooves, of Ingot, county of Shasta, State of California, has this day filed in this office his sworn statement No. 3525, for the purchase of the se¼sw¼ sw¼ se¼ Sec. 17 and w½ne¼ of Sec. No. 20, in Tp No. 38 S, R No 10 E W M, and will offer proof to show that the land sought is more valuable for its timber or stone than for agricultural purposes, and to establish his claim to said land before the Clerk of Klamath County, Oregon, at his office at Klamath Falls, Oregon on Monday, the 3rd day of June, 1907.

He names as witnesses:

Archie Johnston, C. D. Wilson, T. H. Shannon, all of Klamath Falls, Oregon, Joseph Burhart of Ingot, California.

Any and all persons claiming adversely the above-described lands are requested to file their claims in this office on or before said 3rd day of June, 1907.

TIDES OF THE OCEAN.

Regularity of the Flow and Ebb of the Restless Waters.

Of all the operations of nature in the whole world there are none more regular in their courses than the tides of the ocean. So perfect is their action and so constant are they in their ebb and flow that the big maritime governments are able to figure out the height of each and every tide for every day and night more than a year in advance for any part of the earth's surface.

In most places the tides run about four to the twenty-four hours, two being flood, when the water sweeps in from the sea and makes what is known as high water, and two being ebb, when it sweeps back to the ocean, leaving low water.

Each of these tides lasts about six hours—that is, for five hours or more the waters are on the move, rushing in or out, and they cease for a time, standing quite still in some places.

Sometimes a tide will run flood on the surface while it is running ebb below near the bottom. Places where this happens are always likely to make danger spots for the mariner.

In the majority of places the tides rise and fall only a few feet, but on shores where the banks are very steep, falling off abruptly into deep water, it often happens that the tide when it rises comes in so fast that it pours through all narrow openings in cascade-like torrents, making such things as the famous "bores" which may be seen in places like the bay of Fundy.

In other places, again, there will be more or less than four tides in the twenty-four hours. Furthermore, there are localities where hardly any tidal action at all can be observed. All these peculiarities have been studied and are taken into account nowadays by the observers who make up the tidal tables.

MAN AND HIS HAT.

They Are Firmly Bound Together by the Red Tape of Society.

There are things, it is a comfort to know, which even a man cannot do, and a man is supposed to be able to do almost anything. Now, a novelist may put his heroine's hat on her head at any angle he chooses—it is one of the few privileges of womanhood—and leave her not a bit less charming or dignified, but I defy him to put his hero's hat at a rowdy angle over his ear at a crucial point in his career and leave him still heroic! The Achilles heel of a man is his hat! He must guard that as he does his reputation, for it is at once his strength and his weakness.

It would hurt an archbishop—and an archbishop necessarily stands for all that is good and great—less in the eyes of the public to commit a crime than to wear his hat on the back of his sacred head—real back—and so exhibit himself to his distressed diocese. He may have all the known virtues and many that are not known, but even an archbishop cannot with impunity defy convention. Still, if he is so inclined, why should not a good and great man wear his hat over his nose without creating unfavorable comment? The fact is he cannot. He is ruled by convention, and convention is the red tape of society.

The cast iron laws of fashion, which is only another name for convention, are such that if the greatest man in England were to walk with all his accustomed dignity from the Marble arch to the bank with a trailing peacock's feather attached to the band of his immaculate silk hat he would be followed by a mob in two seconds, and by the time he reached Vere street the outraged majesty of the law would take him into custody as a suspicious character.—Mrs. John Lane in Putnam's Monthly.

Joseph Bonaparte.

Joseph Bonaparte fled to America after the hundred days and bought a home in Philadelphia, where he lived in winter, and a mansion in New Jersey, where he passed his summers. He was much liked in this country, but could not make up his mind to stay here, so returned to Europe, hoping to profit by the changes of government in France. He was always disappointed and found himself an unwelcome guest in every country save England. He finally secured permission to live in Italy and died in Florence in 1844.

Carlyle.

Thomas Carlyle, "the sage of Chelsea," died without winning much personal popularity, a fact, however, which is forgotten in admiration of his genius. Carlyle exerted a greater influence on British literature during the middle of the nineteenth century and on the religious and political beliefs of his time than possibly any other British writer. He never wrote a line that he did not believe, and in regard to style he certainly had no superior. From the position of schoolmaster in an obscure village this great Scotsman rose to be a leader in the world of letters.—London Standard.

His Pronunciation.

She—That Mr. Planz, the architect, has a funny way of pronouncing things, hasn't he? He—I haven't noticed it. She—Why, yes. Didn't you hear him allude to a sore throat? He—A sore throat! She—Yes. I heard him mention a gargoyle several times. We always call it gargle, you know.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
