POTATOE MARKET QUIET; PRICES REMAIN LOW

The week closes with no improvement in the potato market, and with the outlook for the future not very encouraging. Dealers say there will in all probability be some demand for American Wonders, Garnets and Early Rose for shipment south and for seed purposes between now and the end of the year and as a matter of fact a few cars have already been dispatched, but to date the Southern buyers have shown no disposition to take stock in more than a very moderate way, and in the matter of prices they continue bearish in the extreme. All for Burbanks, no movement south in consequence is expected until after the turn of the year, and even then, in view of the abundance of river stock in the California markets, the outlook is for rather restricted trade in Oregon. In the jobbing trade Burbanks are going up a few cents, at 55 to 65 cents a hundred, and with supplies easily obtainable dealers say there is small prospect for any material improvement in prices in the near future. Buyers for shipments in the distant markets say that at this time it is impossible to pay better than 50 to 60 cents at shipping points, and even at those figures they are not in a position to buy in anything like a free way, on account of the slack demand south. Some of the dealers incline to the belief that if the growers who have good stock, not damaged by blight, will dig their potatoes as soon as weather conditions permit and hold them until toward the end of the winter season they will do better than by attempting to unload them now on a market that is little better than no market at all. In his connection the dealers so advising the farmers to take into consideration the fact that a considerable portion of the Oregon crop this year was destroyed by blight and the fact also that cars now, even for the limited movement under way, are hard to obtain. In the advent of fair weather the chances are that the bulk of the Valley crop will be taken out of the ground the coming week. Until that is done the extent of the damage done by blight cannot be estimated with any accuracy. Prevailing Oregon City prices are as follows: HIDES—(Buying), Green hides 6c to 7c; salted 7c; dry hides 12c to 14c; sheep pelts 30c to 85c each. EGGS—Oregon ranch eggs 35 and 38 cent case count. Mrs. Wm. Ibsen Writes of Her Experiences With New Medicine. Here is the translation from the German of the letter written by Mrs. Wm. Ibsen, of Redondo, Wash., telling of her experiences with Sulphur, the new Liquid Compound of Sulphur: "A year ago this time I heard of Sulphur. I then had an open leg, so that I was hardly able to do my housework. I used Sulphur, two months, and was fully cured. "Then in the spring of 1912 my limbs started to swell from the hips to the ankles, and I feared that I had dropsy. I immediately started in on Sulphur again, taking it continually for two months. Now I am well, something I could not say for years." Sulphur is a most remarkable remedy for Rheumatism, stomach, blood and skin diseases. It introduces Sulphur, Nature's antiseptic and purifier, into the blood, drives out the impurities and poison and makes you feel like a new man or woman. It comes in 50-cent and $1.00 bottles at all drugstores. Health booklet free upon request to the C. M. C. Stewart Sulphur Co., 71 Columbia St., Seattle, Wash.

LAST CAR LEAVES FOR OREGON CITY AT MIDNIGHT

FARQUINIA TARQUINI

LAMBARDI COMPANY. The newly organized Lambardi Grand Opera organization, now known as the Pacific Coast Grand Opera Company, which comes to the Heilig Theater, Seventh and Taylor streets, on Monday night, November 18, for a six day's engagement, is said to be so far superior to any opera company Lambardi has ever brought to Portland, that comparisons are entirely out of place. Included in the roster of principals are many of the most noted song birds in the realm of the Grand Opera, all of whom have won enviable triumph upon the foreign operatic stages. The leading singers were all engaged in Europe during the past summer, and are now making their first American tour. The principals are as follows: Soprani: Mmes. Tarquinia Tarquini, Amina Malini, Malvena Pererli, Rita D'Orta, Sophie Charlebois. Mezzos: Ida Ziphole and Flora Pineschi. Tenors: Messrs. Giuseppe Armani, Giuseppe Agostini, Alfredo Grazianni and Giuseppe Giorgi. Baritoni: Messrs. Giuseppe Giardini, Michele Gioacchini, Francesco Nicoletti and Emilio Pineschi. Bassi: Messrs. Giovanni Martino and Bonaventura Marco. A superb orchestra of thirty-five selected players and a magnificent singing chorus of forty are notable features of the big, new organization. The operas will be staged upon a plane of magnificent not heretofore attempted by Signor Lambardi. Gorgeous scenic, costuming and properly effects and unique lighting are also important features of the Lambardi productions. The repertoire for the week is as follows: Monday night, November 18, La Boheme. Tuesday night, November 19, Conchita (first time in Portland). Wednesday matinee, November 20, Il Trovatore (with an exceptional cast). Wednesday night, November 20, Lucia Di Lammermoor. Thursday night, November 21, Salome (first time in Portland). Friday night, November 22, Madame Butterfly. Saturday matinee, November 23, Salome. Saturday night, November 23, Cavalleria Rusticana and I Pagliacci. The night prices for the Lambardi engagement will be 50 cents to $2.00 box seats $2.50. A special price matinee on Wednesday, November 20th, when the prices will range from 50c to $1.50.

Charles Cherry. The principle interest centers around the character of the fourth girl, Mick, who is filled with progressive (American) ideas and this role will be, of course, by Alice Fleming of the Baker Players and that of Lieut. Horkey who considers sisters will be played by Robert spires with her to marry off her three Conness with the other members and many extra people in the balance of the large cast. Earlier in the season the Baker Players presented Seven Days which created one of the biggest comedy sensations ever seen in stock here and the Seven Sisters is expected to more than duplicate that success. Seats should be obtained in advance as far as possible. REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS. Thomas Fish et ux to Harry Berdine ten acres in Sec. 18, Township 4 So., Range 2 East; $750.00. George T. ELIZABETH ROSE THE SEVEN SISTERS The Bakers Players to be Seen in Famous Comedy all Next week.

So much has already been written and said about the forth coming production of the famous comedy, The Seven Sisters, by the Baker players that everyone is quite familiar with by this time. It will open Sunday matinee and continue all next week with matinees as usual Wednesday and Saturday and the popular bargain night Monday. The Seven Sisters defeats the matrimonial troubles of a family in Hong-ary in which there are seven budding daughters and their widowed mother. The marriage customs being so entirely different in that country makes the play novel and interesting and the great comedy situations that arise in the effort of busy Mrs. Gyrfkevitch to properly dispose of her brood according to the way these things are done in that country bring about many mixups and some lively happenings. The play was written for fun promoting purposes only and was a big success in New York where it was played by Lautrette Taylor and

ZBYSCO HOT AFTER GOTCH

Polish Wrestler Coming to America For Crack at Title.

BIG PURSE OFFERED FOR MITT

Salt Lake City Club Will Hang Up $30,000 Purse—Pittsburgh in Line Also—Some Doubt as to Whether Evers Can Fill Chance's Shoes. By TOMMY CLARK. Jack Herman, manager of Zbysco, the Polish wrestler, has $30,000 in bills of large denomination which he is afraid to get rid of. Not that he desires to cast his roll to the winds. No, sir! Jack is not so foolish in the head. All he wants to do with the dough is to post it as a forfeit—a sort of bait to coax Frank Gotch, world's champion, back into the wrestling game. It seems that Gotch is telling the folks on the farm in Humboldt that he intends to retire with the wrestling title packed away in the barn. That's what's worrying Herman. The latter is guiding Zbysco through the mazes of the grappling sport and wants to get Gotch to give the Pole another chance at the title. Herman claims that a Salt Lake club stands ready and willing to hang up a purse of $30,000 for a match between the two stars of the hammerlock division. In behalf of Zbysco, Herman is agreeable to the offer and is perfectly willing to allow Gotch to dictate the terms. "It can be winner take all, split any other way, or I will sign articles giving Gotch the lion's share of the purse, whether he wins or loses," declares Herman. "Zbysco will not return to this country until the middle of November, and in the meantime I'm going to use my best efforts to get Gotch to call off his retirement and wrestle the Pole. "You'll have to admit that Zbysco stands second to Gotch in the list, and it is only fair that he be given a chance at the title. Naturally, if Gotch persists in his statement that he is through with the game, I will claim the crown on behalf of my grappler. That is not much more than an empty honor, which is not pleasing to Zbysco. "In addition to the Salt Lake offer, the Pittsburgh Athletic club is willing to hang up a liberal purse for the match. As I said before, Gotch can do all the deciding regarding the division of the purse. All Zbysco wants is a chance at the title." Gotch and Zbysco have met twice. The first time the pair clashed was in Buffalo, and Gotch failed to throw the Pole in an hour. The second meeting was in Chicago, and Gotch pinned the European giant's shoulders to the mat twice in about six minutes. The champion gained the first fall in a few seconds. When the Pole extended his big mitt to shake with Gotch the latter grabbed it and hurled the foreigner to the floor and was on him immediately and pinned the upper parts of his anatomy to the mat. Zbysco claims at that time he was not familiar with the catch-as-catch-can style of wrestling, but the wrestling experience he has gained by touring the country the last two years has made him acquainted with all the tricks of the game. Now he believes he is good enough to defeat Gotch and no hold barred.

RUSSIAN IS AFTER GOTCH.

Lurich Coming to America and Sends Challenge to Wrestling Champion. George Lurich, champion wrestler of Russia and claiming victories over Hawkenshmidt, Pedersen and a lot of other foreign mat artists, is preparing to visit the United States within a short time in search of matches. Lurich writes that he is anxious for a chance at Gotch, and he also says that he is willing to take on Zbysco in this country at the catch-as-catch-can style. Photographs of the Russian show him up as a real strong man. While Gotch claims to have retired, he still is taking on all the men he knows he can beat. The champion will have to pay some attention to challenges from the first raters this season or make good his claim of retirement and let the other fellows fight it out for the title. "Veterans" in Football. Hitchcock of Harvard has been referred to as a "veteran tackle." It doesn't take long to become a veteran in football. Last year was Hitchcock's first on the varsity eleven.
