SAVINGS AND AUTOS

Statistics are not very entertaining, as a rule, but a comparison of how people of different sections of the country save and spend is rather interesting.

Based on figures compiled by the Department of Commerce, a tabulation has been made of the proportionate amounts represented by savings deposits and automobiles owned in various sections of the United States.

It is shown that the New England states have 16.56 per cent of the savings, but only 6.07 per cent of the automobiles of the country; middle Atlantic states 35.71 per cent of the savings and 25.25 per cent of the automobiles; west north central states, 9.70 and 16.51; south Atlantic, 6 and 8.59; east south central 2.30 and 4.02; west south central, 1.91 and 8.35; mountain, 1.55 and 3.53; Pacific, 8.22 and 10.71.

These figures appear to indicate the greater thriftness of the East, as compared with the West and South. Whether one section or another is happier because of the tendency to save or spend is difficult to determine. Some folks contemplate. a savings account with great satisfaction; others fill up the gasoline buggy and cast care to the winds. It all depends on one's point of view.

THE PROBLEM OF YOUTH

From the earliest times it appears that the problem of directing young folks in the proper way has engaged the serious attention of reformers and uplifters—and busybodies.

A book on etiquette published in 1850 gravely warns young women of the perils of the waltz and declares that "unmarried ladies should refrain from the waltz alogether, in public and in private." It is assumed that married ladies were supposed to be immune to its demoralizing effects.

Every once in a while someone digs up an old newspaper or magazine containing an artice which throws light on this tendency to worry about the young people of the past. The boys and girls of the present generation are likewise causing consternation among the self-appointed guardians of morality.

But, the youngsters of today, in spite of their seeming frivolity, are the sanest, cleanest and most promising crop of future citizens the world has ever seen.

Whatever their failings, they are not hypocrites—and that can not be said of most of their critics.

If Australia were placed in the Atlantic ocean it would extend from England to America.
