
Dear Eddie
Smithy's mother started to read a book which began as follows, "Substantial progress in any Science is impossible in the absence of a working hypothesis which is universal in its application to the phenomena pertaining to the subject matter" She took the book back to the library and told 'em about it. It did n't have a picture in it and why the public library wants that kind of books she says she does n't know Just think of the good old books that they used to turn out, Come over some time Eddie and let's see what

WHEN TIGE MEETS A TIGER.
