A HAPPY MEETING.

"Hello, Jack, when did you get back?" "Just arrived, Billy; how are you?" "Oh, fine. Well, how did you like it over there?" "Say, fellow, we had the time of our lives. When we got tired killing Germans we asked for a layoff and went to Paris, and some time, you can guess. Say, Bill, I have a secret for you." "Well, what is it?" "I am going to marry one of the sweetest Yankee girls in the world, my old sweetheart. The French girls are lovely, but do you Yankee girl for me. Now I want you to put me next; where can I buy a just new car? We want to spend our honeymoon riding through our beautiful scenery over here. There was not anything in all my travels that has our dear old U. S. A. bested a minute."

Jack—By all means go to Conley's Used Car Center. He has the finest assortment of the most beautiful cars ever placed under one roof, and the low prices will knock you silly. The best of it all is that he gives you a written guarantee with every car and the firm has a world-wide reputation for square dealing, so you take no chances in buying a car from him.

"Here is one of his ads I saw in The Sunday Oregonian; take it and pick out your car. Go up and make a small payment down; he will give you good terms on the balance. He does not charge you any brokerage, as he handles all of his own paper."
