Miracles in Medicine.

The Wonderful Progress Made Within the Past Few Years.

Diseases That Our Mothers Thought Incurable Now Cured by Paine's Celery Compound.

It is difficult, almost impossible, to overestimate the importrnce of recent advancesin medicine and surgery.

In surgery there is the application of the X-ray in determining complicated fradures.

In medicine there is the serum-treatment for germ diseases, and more important still, the extended use of Paine's celery compound in the treatment of the many diseases that arise from a faulty or impaired nervous system.

This class of ailments causes more suffering and earlier deaths than all others, and that is why so much public prominence was at once given to Paine's celery compound when its discovery was first announced by Prof. Phelps, of Dartmouth college.

The rapid and sure way that Paine's celery compound cures neuralgia, rheumatism and nervous debility is marvelous even in the eyes of this wonder-working quarter of the century.

Ancient miracles were contrary to natural laws, whereas the remarkable power of Paine's celery compound to make people well, comes from a better understanding of the natusal causes of disease.

That wonderful set of nerves known as the "sympathetic nervous system," that knits every part of the body together and harmonizes all, is understood today as never before. Many persons are not aware that any such nerves exist. They do not know that nothing goes on in any part of the body that every other part does not instantly "know of." The closeness of this sympathy is familiarly illustrated by headaches, indigestion, rheumatism, neuralgia, etc. About every case of sleeplessness, nervousness and dyspepsia is a "sympathethic strike" by brain, nerves or stomach, induced by the lowering of the general health.

People who think to get rid of these troubles by some medicine that disregards the general health of the body are on the wrong track. In getting such diseases as neuralgia and rheumatism out of the system Paine's celery compound proceeds at once to restore a normal appetite and regulate the nerves, as the foundation for building up the health and vigor.

It regulates the bowels without delay, and sees to it that the poisonous humors that are bursting through the skin, in what are, for purposes of classifying, called skin diseases, are given a ready outlet. On this basis of purified blood and regulated nerves the permanent cure of every form of blood diseases, such as eczema, salt rheum, bad complexion, is now assured by this really wonderful remedy.

If the reader of this is not in perfect health let him simply try a first bottle of Paine's celery compound and carefully note the results.

MARKETS.

Talkington, Bottger & Co's., circular for Jan. 9, 1897:

WHEAT.

Opening Prices was nearly a cent higher than yesterday's closing. The early news including cables and receipts in the northwest, proved favorable to holders. These bullish influences, however, were offset by the pressure to sell after the opening, and after a slight rally the market took a downward plunge. Light receipts at primary points constitute the leading bullish factor at present, and will be the dominating influence until the next crop is harvested. In the mean time the possibilities are all in favor of the conservative buyer. The outlook regarding the growing crop is not considerable, owing to the unprotected condition of the wheat fields. In view of the cash situation, the market will be more sensative than usual to adverse weather conditions and the export, and milling demand.

May wheat opened today at 81¼ to 81⅛ and closed at 81¼. Cash wheat sold at 78¼. Liverpool January 6s9½d.
