Bean, office treasurer of Portland chapter, American Red Cross. Mrs. Dekker's services are donated to the bureau by the Red Cross, which is supported in Portland by the community chest. A majority of the claims filed called for immediate medical aid and after specialists at the bureau had made thorough examinations, many of the ex-soldiers were sent at once to the veterans' hospital at Second and Multnomah streets. Other claims sought vocational training.

FORMER PORTLAND GIRL DANCES WITH OWN BALLET IN MINNEAPOLIS.

Miss Marjorie Leet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Leet, is claimed by Pavlowa as disciple of Russian school.

Dancing in Minneapolis with her own ballet is Miss Marjorie Leet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Leet, a former Portland girl, who is the latest addition of this city to professional artistic circles. Miss Leet, who was born here and received her early education in Portland schools, for the past year has been soloist with the greater Marion Morgan dancers.

Anna Pavlowa, during her late tour through the middle west, saw Miss Leet dance and claimed her a disciple of the Russian school because of her grace and refinement. Miss Leet has received offers from Broadway managers, but has refused them because she wishes to appear with her own company.

Emil Oberhoffer, conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, awarded a prize to the young dancer for her composition "Incense," which is said to be exceptional in its dance and harmony combinations. On the merits of the composition she was also given honorary membership in the Thursday Musical club of Minneapolis.

Miss Leet is now working on the dance drama, "Jeanne d'Arc," with which, it is said, she hopes to elevate the purpose of her art and to vivify the life of the savior of France. She declares herself to be fully in sympathy with modernist tendencies and of the belief that modern efforts in art are bringing about greater unity of expression than was before known.

TRAFFIC VIOLATORS WARNED.—Lieutenant Frank Ervin, head of the motorcycle division of the traffic division, announced yesterday that his men had arrested 188 violators during the week and warned 200 more, in conjunction with the campaign to rid the city of careless driving and other offenses detrimental to traffic. The violators arrested were speeders, drivers of cars without proper lights and overtime parkers. Nearly all of them were former offenders. Those warned will also be arrested if their machines are found doing anything irregular.

KERN TRACT PURCHASE RECOMMENDED.—An ordinance authorizing the purchase of the Kern tract of 11½ acres for $35,000 by the city was placed on the calendar yesterday by City Commissioner Pier. This is the tract near East Thirty-third and Thompson streets which is to be consolidated with other holdings of the city and school district No. 1 to form the site of a park and the new northeast high school. Agreement on the entire proposition was formed Friday when a conference was held between the commissioners and members of the school board.

COUNCIL ASKED TO CHANGE NAME OF BROADWAY.—As a publicity stunt there has been filed with the city council a request for the passing of an emergency ordinance changing the name of Broadway, between Morrison and Jefferson streets, to Lloyd avenue for two weeks, "during the entire time that the picture, 'Grandma's Boy,' featuring Harold Lloyd, is being shown at the Heilig theater." The communication is signed by M. L. Smith and other property owners on Broadway.

PERMIT FOR APARTMENT ASKED.—Application for a permit to erect a four-story apartment house at East Twenty-fifth street and Hawthorne avenue has been filed in the city building department by Jason Moore. The building is to have 104 rooms, and the cost is estimated at about $100,000. It is to be of concrete. Mr. Moore recently received a permit to construct a large three-story apartment house at East Fiftieth street and Hawthorne avenue at a cost of more than $90,000.

PUBLIC HEARING SOUGHT.—In a communication to the city council the board of appeals on building code seeks a public hearing on the question of requiring water meters on automatic sprinkler systems. As the matter now stands the new building code will still require meters where sprinkler systems are installed. By the board of appeals it is held an injustice to charge regular rates for water used in quenching a fire.

MILWAUKIE BUSINESS MEN ORGANIZE.—A total of 19 business men of Milwaukie have enrolled on the membership list of the recently organized Milwaukie Improvement association and a campaign to enlist a much larger membership is now being carried on. The association was organized to exploit the business and homesite advantages of the community and to do some real live boosting.

GRAND ARMY POST HOLDS SOCIAL.—Members of the A. J. Smith Post No. 26, of the Grand Army of the Republic, met at the Sellwood community house yesterday afternoon for their regular monthly gathering. The session was thrown open to the veterans of the Spanish war and of the world war and a social meeting and reunion was enjoyed by those in attendance.

ADDITIONAL CITY PHYSICIAN DESIRED.—An ordinance has been placed on the city council calendar at instance of the city health bureau, creating the position of venereal director. The physician assigned to this post would receive $50 a month and devote two hours a day to the work, according to provisions of the proposed ordinance.

REFUGEE TO STUDY HERE

Young Russian War Veteran Will Enter Whitman College.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Aug. 5.—Vladimir Rodjansky, war veteran and refugee, has arrived here to enter Whitman college this fall. He is only 22 years of age, but has had more experiences than commonly fall to the lot of a man of 82.

A native of Russia, Rodjansky was educated there before the bolshevik uprising. He enlisted in General Kolchak's army and rode 3000 miles in winter. The army went into China, where it was disbanded, leaving Rodjansky stranded and forced to accept the lowest kind of work in competition with Chinese coolies.

In Manchuria Rodjansky encountered an American Y. M. C. A. secretary and learned of the educational possibilities in America. Through the Russian Relief association at Seattle he found a way of getting here. In nine months he has learned to speak precise and perfect English. While waiting for Whitman to open he has gone to work in the harvest fields. When he completes his education, he says, he intends to go back to Russia to help his people.

Thomas, state manager, will be in charge, as various matters pertaining to the state organization of the body will be attended to during the business part of the meeting.

National Prelate Thomas will deliver a lecture to the candidates after admission has been granted them. Supplementing his remarks, the motion pictures illustrating the new ritual of the organization will be shown, different points of which will be elucidated by Mr. Thomas.

POSTAL ADVERTISING UP

SPOKANE HAS NEW IDEA ON IRRIGATION PROJECT.

Notice of Columbia Basin Work Declared Proper for Stamping on All Letters.

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 5.—Every letter and postal card leaving Spokane will soon carry a stamped reminder of the Columbia basin project if plans of Postmaster Smith, which are being considered by United States Senator Poindexter, are followed. The plan is to have an extension of the cancellation carry a notice of the Columbia basin.

"This matter has been presented to me and I shall give it attention," Senator Poindexter said. "Several designs have been drawn and it is expected that the plan will be submitted to Postmaster-General Work. Under recent rulings only projects or enterprises in which the government is interested can be stamped on letters and it is believed that passage of the Poindexter bill in the house of representatives, which will mean federal recognition of the project, will enable adoption of the plan."

"This plan would give widespread publicity for the project," said Postmaster Smith. "Spokane mails almost 100,000 letters and postal cards a day, which means that thousands throughout the United States would read the notice daily."

HORSE RIDES ON ENGINE

Animal Gets on Cow Catcher and Goes for Trip.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., Aug. 5.—How a horse stole a ride on the cowcatcher of a railway train is told by the crew of a British Columbia Electric railroad train, Fraser valley branch.

At Hope, B. C., according to the story, the train was forced to stop to allow a band of horses to get off the track. No member of the crew saw one of the animals mount the cowcatcher, but when the train reached a stop near here a horse was seen to step off the cowcatcher, calmly shake itself and trot off into the fields.
