GETTING EGGS IN COLD WEATHER

is simply a question of giving the hens enough good food with Pratts poultry regulator mixed in it every day. There must be food enough to keep up strength, provide extra heat to withstand the cold and a surplus to go into egg-making. Pratt's poultry regulator keeps the egg machine well oiled and in good running order. And the cost is a trifle over a cent a hen per month. Guaranteed to satisfy or your money back. Sold by dealers everywhere.
