WHO WILL BE CARNIVAL QUEEN?

Tickets Have Been Placed, and Contest is on

EXHIBITORS SHOULD GET READY

A Chance to Show Washington County Products

The Street Fair is growing in interest. The committees are at work, and there is a general disposition to make the coming Carnival the best ever. It is especially urged upon the farmers of this county to save and prepare their finest 1907 products for exhibition, as there will be hundreds of people from Portland and other sections of the state, to gaze upon our specimens of grain, hops, fruit, vegetables, fine stock, etc, thus advertising prominently, our varied and splendid resources. Hillsboro is on the map—everybody knows that, but we want the State to know what old Washington can do in the product line. It is expected that all will take a local pride in making the Fair a hummer—just what it deserves to be.

In the contest for Queen, any unmarried lady is eligible, and a spirited contest is looked for. The proceeds of the sale of voting tickets will go toward defraying the expense of the Fair. Trot out your candidates, and don't be backward about it.

S. Weckert, a prominent onion grower of Sherwood, was in Hillsboro Tuesday. Mr. Weckert returned last month from a visit with his family to West Virginia and other states, and while gone spent two days at the Jamestown Exposition, which he describes as a failure. "It does not compare in any way," said Mr. Weckert, "with the Lewis & Clarke Fair. The streets were dusty, the buildings only half filled with exhibits, and it lacked Oregon roses." Mr. Weckert returns with the idea that Oregon is the greenest and best spot on earth.

Henry Huber, who lives near Buxton, has filed, through his attorney, M. B. Bump, a suit in the circuit court for Washington county, asking for a divorce from his wife, Olive Huber. The couple were married in Saline county, Kansas, in 1865, and came to this county, in Oregon, in 1877. Huber alleges that his wife called him "a fool and liar," and has deserted him for several days at a time; that she has a violent temper, etc. The couple have four children.

F. Waible, who is on the milk route from Helvetia to the condenser, in this city, reports that he is now daily hauling 53 cans of milk—a pretty snug load. He returned from a trip to Tillamook last Saturday, and speaks of seeing a Douglass fir on the mountains, the base of which could just be spanned by eight people, with arms extended. The fern about the tree, Mr. Waible is willing to swear, was eight feet high, and still growing.

I will sell my place of 200 acres, 7 miles beyond Buxton, half mile from new Tillamook railway survey; 12 acres cleared, lots of cedar on place; frame house, running water on place, and springs. Good pasture; fine place for stock ranch. Will sell for $2,000; half down, balance, plenty of time, at 5 per cent. Address X, care Argus.

Mrs. H. M. McEldowney, of Monmouth, who is visiting friends here, was thrown out of J. W. Shute's buggy Wednesday morning, and quite painfully bruised about the head and face. Mr Shute got out of the buggy and attempted to put the top back, when the horse started in a circle, upsetting the vehicle with the above result. Dr. Linklater attended to her injuries.

We have thoroughly overhauled our feed chopper and other machinery, and are now ready to handle the new crop. Chopping days, Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays. We sell mill feed at lowest prices and pay best prices for hay and grain.—C. B. Buchanan & Co., Cornelius.

The extension of the P. R. & N. railroad goes merrily on though the company is at present handicapped by a scarcity of laborers. Work in tunnel No. 1, on this side of the mountain has reached a distance of 1100 feet, and it is thought that 250 feet more will allow the men to see daylight on the other side.

Strayed: Bull, red, with white spot in forehead, and some spots on body. About 5 year old. Strayed away about August 6, from St. Mary's Home, Beaverton. Reward. Notify St. Mary's, Beaverton, Oregon.

The work of improving and renovating the sheriff's office will probably be completed within the next ten days. Sheriff Connell makes his visitors feel as comfortable as possible in the jail, when they call to see him.

Dairymen, attention: Five to 10 good dairy cows, for sale. Fresh, or fresh soon. 3½ miles south of Scholls, on Newberg road.—P. N. Skinner, P. O. Address, Newberg. Both Phones out of Newberg.

Long years ago a Hillsboro school pupil got rattled in his history class and thus recited: "Sir Francis sailor was a famous Drake." He is now a physician in the state of Washington.

For sale: Handmade wagon, 3¼, half-truck style, in good repair; 150 lb anvil; 60 lb blacksmith vise; Little Giant screw plate, almost new.—H. S. Sturdevant, Cornelius, Ore.

GREGG'S HOP HOUSE BURNED TODAY

Catches Fire From Stove and Burns Like Tinder

INSURANCE SAID TO COVER LOSS

Heroic Work Saves Other Hop House and Barn

W. J. Gregg, who lives 2 miles northwest of Hillsboro, lost his large hop house this forenoon, fire breaking out on the ground floor, at about 9 o'clock, it is thought from the stove. Mr. Gregg and a number of men near by, endeavored to put out the blaze immediately after it started, but the hops burned like tinder, and soon the whole building was a seething mass of flames. It was soon evident that the work on hand was to save the small hop house and a barn, which stood near, and fully a hundred hop pickers and neighbors set themselves to the task. Water was thrown upon the roofs and sides of the buildings, which were eventually saved. The fire scorched a few nearby hops in the yard, and ran over an adjocent field, besides burning up some cordwood. The third floor was put on last night, which with the crop dried since Monday, was totally destroyed. The building was just completed a few weeks before the season begun, at a cost of about $800, and the loss, including hops, will reach in the neighborhood of $2500, which we understand is covered by insurance. This is Mr Gregg's first year in the business, the yard formerly being known as the Miller-Snyder yard.

The building was a well built frame structure, 26x52 feet. Credit is due the hop pickers and neighbors for their heroic work in saving the other property.
