ROCK ROLLING IN AT A GOOD RATE

County Judge Expects to Have Road Finished to Bridge by Sept. 1

SIX CARS OF ROCK CAME IN TODAY

Will Close Gap From Fair Grounds to P. R. & N. This Week

Hillsboro now has its first stretch of rock road, and the big steam roller, run by Louis Ennes, engineer, came in this morning, to roll down the pavement. Six cars of rock rolled in today, and the crusher is now working finely. The force has laid several hundred feet of road with the three coats of rock, and rolling commenced this morning. The crew expect to finish from the Fair Grounds to the P. R. & N. track. Hauling will then continue on to the Dairy Creek bridge and ten days more is expected to complete the first stretch of road.

Water is being pumped out of the creek back of the cemetery for laying the dust. The road looks fine and that it will be a fine stretch of highway goes without saying. When that is finished the crew will switch over to the road leading out of the northwest of town. Wolf Bros. are hauling over three yards to the team of each load and good progress is being made.

ANDERSON ANDERSON

A pretty home wedding was celebrated at the home of Mrs. Ludemia Anderson, of Fourth and Washington Streets, Wednesday, August 17, 1910, when her only daughter, Bessie S., was united in marriage to Mr. James D. Anderson, Rev. Vallandigham, of the Christian Church, officiating. The clergyman used the beautiful ring ceremony and the bridal couple were united under a canopy of cedar, sweet peas, carnations and asters, these being the decorations of the bridal parlors, the color effect being white.

The nuptials were celebrated at two o'clock, Miss Nellie Wilcox rendering the wedding march from Lohengrin as the bridal couple entered the parlor through an arch, the color effect of which was pink. The bride wore cream satin messaline, her only jewel decoration being a necklace of antique gold, the present of the groom. She carried bride roses. Miss Effie Godman, the maid of honor, wore lavendar vassar, and carried pink carnations. The bridesmaids, Miss Susie and Miss Elizabeth Gheen, cousins of the bride, wore pink foulard, and carried white carnations. Mrs. Anderson, mother of the bride, was gowned in gray foulard, trimmed with passamenterie. Roy Stuart was the groomsman, and attended Mr. Anderson at the ceremony. After the ceremony the wedding party was seated to a delightful luncheon in the dining room, which was festooned with streamers, interlaced with fern, the floral decorations being carnations and sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson departed for a two weeks trip to Puget Sound and the seashore and will take up their residence at the home of the bride's mother, about September 1. The groom is one of the proprietors of the Second Street tonsorial parlors in the Pythian building, and the bride is well known in Hillsboro, and for some time has been saleslady at the Wehrung store.

The presents were beautiful, and were presented as follows: Silver tea set, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wehrung and G. A. Wehrung; silver cake tray, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wehrung; silver cake tray, Clark Brown, Chehalis; silver crumb tray, the Misses Gheen; silver knives and forks, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Anderson; silver spoons, parents of the groom; silver dessert spoons, Mr. and Mrs. Layton Wisdom, Portland; hand-made quilt, Mrs. Thos. Gheen; bon bon dish, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Godman; olive tray, Miss Effie Godman; silver spoons, Mrs. Michalec, Sheridan; embroidery, Mrs. Zoa Sigman, Silver Lake, Ore.

Both bride and groom are popular young people and they are receiving the heartfelt congratulations of their many Hillsboro friends.

Those present at the wedding were:

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Harrow, A. Honzaik, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Gheen, Fred Gheen, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Anderson, Roy Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wehrung, Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson, G. A. Wehrung, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Ketten, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wehrung, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Anderson, Lents; W. Walter Parr, the 26 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Parr, has been missing since May 26th last. He was working in a power house in Southern Oregon and had written that he would soon be home. He expressed a lot of electrical text books home and they arrived here June 4, when the father expected to meet the son at the station here. He did not arrive and upon writing to Southern Oregon they were informed that he had not been seen since the night of May 26. His shirt, shoes and overalls were found on the bank of the stream where he was in the habit of bathing. The father thinks perhaps he was shanghaied. He was to have remained here all Summer. The parents are very anxious over the son. The Parrs reside near Laurel.

H. D. Schmeltzer came near being smashed into by the Forest Grove electric local, Monday morning. He was coming down Second Street from the South and his horse was jogging along a good pace. He heard no car and just as he started to cross, the car slid along. He swerved the animal to the right just in time to prevent a collision, barely missing it. The buggy was nearly overturned. A second or two more and there would have been a nasty wreck. Unless the gong is sounded along Washington Street there is likely to be a fatality there some day.

HESS BROTHERS LOSE SEPARATOR

Fire Destroys Threshing Machine at M. Fitzsimmons' Farm

THIRD MACHINE LOST BY HESSES

Fire Caught From Engine and Destroys Two Stacks Grain, Also

Charles and Fred Hess, of Northeast Plains, lost their grain separator at the Mike Fitzsimmons' place, near Bethany, last Friday, and besides the loss of the machine two stacks of wheat were also consumed. The blaze started in the stubble from the engine and ran to the stacks, finally catching the separator. The loss of the machine amounts to about $600 as it had been operated several seasons. The grain loss to Mr. Fitzsimmons is estimated at about $300. There was no insurance in either instance.

This makes the third machine that the Hess boys have lost within the past few years. A. L. Holcomb, of Bethany, bought a new separator yesterday and will run it in conjunction with the Hess engine.

NINE MONTHS' TRIP

John Milne and daughter, Elizabeth, returned yesterday, after a nine months trip, encircling the globe. They went West via British Columbia and made Australia, thence through to the Suez canal, through the Mediterranean and on to England and Scotland and from there to the Gulf of the St. Lawrence. In Scotland Mr. Milne visited his boyhood home, and saw but two "braw lads" he knew as a youth. One of them was the son of a miller under whom Mr. Milne worked when a boy, and the other was a boyhood chum in the farm districts. He saw many changes, but says that after all the old U. S. A. is the place for him—in fact, he says he did not know he was so good an American until he took the trip. They were absent nine months. He visited a brother in Tasmania while on his trip. Australia, he says, is a great country, full of latent possibilities. In passing through the Gulf of the St. Lawrence he saw the island where he was wrecked 37 years ago. Mr. Milne says he has made his last trip abroad in all likelihood, and that he enjoyed the trip—but there's no place like home, where Americanism is the dominent note in life. Mr. Milne was up town this morning greeting his many friends.
