NEW SCHOOL BUILDING WILL BE AN ORNAMENT

Architect Newton Gauntt, Also Architect for Court House

SAYS WILL BE A CREDIT TO THE CITY

Plans are Now Ready, Awaiting Advertising for Bids on Work

Architect Newton C. Gauntt, of Portland, was out to the city Tuesday, looking over the work on the court house, and incidentally gave Contractor Foster an estimate for substantial work prosecuted, amounting to over $9,000.

He has completed the plans for the new school building, and in speaking of them, said:

"The building is to be a three-story brick structure with a well constructed interior. The exterior walls will be faced with red pressed brick, with mottled brick trimmings. It is to be 75x102 feet in dimensions, and the structure itself will cost in the neighborhood of $30,000. The first floor will be slightly below the ground level and will contain the manual training room, gymnasium, domestic science room and the toilets. On the second floor provision will be made for an auditorium 30x73 feet, with a seating capacity of 200 pupils—something always needed in a school house of this class, and something too rarely enjoyed. The third story will contain a gallery to the auditorium, three class and two reception rooms, and two smaller rooms to be used as offices. The rooms on the third floor will be used for High School pupils, and the floors below for the pupils in the different grades.

A separate boiler house, erected at some distance from the school building proper, will contain the heating plant. Steam heat will be installed, with the fan system attached.

The building will have a tar and gravel roof.

Everything is now ready for the inspection of the bidders, and it is just a question as to how soon the board gets the bonds sold and give permission to get busy."

Mr. Gauntt thinks Hillsboro is to have a great future, and says we will not know the town five years from now when more of the big adjacent farms are cut up into small tracts, and where shipping facilities are so good.

SURPRISE

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Berger, of Bethany, was the scene of a delightful surprise party Monday evening. The evening was devoted to music and games in and out doors. Those present were: Alma and Clara Fuegy, Helen Trachsel, Louise Langue, Hedwig Dysle, Theresa Kehrli, Mary and Rose Stucki, Emma and Flora Berger, Ida Meier; Walter and Fred Dysle, Alfred Schindler, John and Albert Meier, Philip Holsheimer, Johnny Rieber, Nels Johnson, Harry and Jesse Hansen, Jake Trachsel, John and Charles Speis, Arnold and Fred Berger, Fred Kehrli and Fermin Langue.

Walter Ober, of Portland, was in the city yesterday, filing the plat of the 120-acre tract, near Farmington, formerly known as the Meitner place for the Alvord-Carr Co. He states that but a few of the ten acre tracts are left, the lots going very rapidly. Mr. Ober says that Tualatin Valley property is all the talk of small homeseekers down in Portland these days, owing to agitation for the proposed tunnel, and to the good transportation facilities.

Fireworks! We have them. Buy your supply early and get the choice of stock.—Koeber's Confectionery, one door south of Hillsboro Mercantile Co. 13-7

Right of way agreements have been signed for the proposed line from Greenburg station to Scholls and the Tualatin Valley points south of the river, and it begins to look as though that long-neglected territory will have an excellent opportunity to get a railway line into Portland, after all. There are many down in that section who will lend financial assistance and back the road to the end.

Jas. B. Perkins writes from Vallejo, Cal., that he is in the U. S. Marine Corps, and that he is not enlisted in the navy. He stated that he would sail for the Philippines yesterday, on the Thomas. The boys will probably touch at Honolulu.

J. S. Miller, of Scholls, was in town yesterday. Mr. Miller is taking a great interest in national politics these days, and says it keeps a fellow guessing as to the nominees on both sides.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Beck and little daughter, of above Dilley, were callers yesterday afternoon.
