ALBERT TOZIER SENDS ARGUS A MISSIVE

Writes From Sunny Southern Oregon and Tells New Things

FORMER HILLSBORO BOY IN LETTER

Down in Medford Country Where he Meets Former Hillsboroites

Albert Tozier, that prince of good fellows, writes the Argus the following letter from Medford—and it is worth the perusal of any county resident:

"Just a few locals from this section will prove of interest to a number of your readers. Through the courtesy of Hon. A. F. Reames and his talented wife, Edith Tongue Reames, Mrs. Weatherred and the writer were favored with a sixty mile ride through the beautiful Rogue River valley. The orchards are just putting out their bloom and bid fair to give abundant yields.

The Jacksonville cemetery is a picturesque spot and worthy the visit of any tourist. Carved on a headstone in this cemetery is the name of Geo. Hines, a former Washington county boy.

In the Medford cemetery lie the remains of N. B. Meade, a former Hillsboro citizen. There is also the grave of a beloved daughter of H. V. and Ella Wiley Meade, of Orenco.

State Senator W. H. Hollis, of Forest Grove, was a Jackson and Josephine county visitor this week.

In Grants Pass lives Geo. H. Durham, who attended Pacific University in 1883-5, and a graduate of that institution; John Vite Hale, a native of Hillsboro, and a son of G. N. Hale; Mrs. N. B. Meade, Mrs. Maggie Meade Barnes, Mrs. Coffman, Miss Minnie Ireland, Wm. Ireland and others. In the postoffice is a son of Geo. P. Newell, an old time music teacher, and who at one time lived in Washington county.

The faces of Fax Parrish and Wm. B. Johnson are daily seen as they pass through as conductors on S. P. trains running between Roseburg and Ashland. Fax Parrish is a brother-in-law of W. N. Barrett. W. B. Johnson was a former Hillsboro livery man.

As principal of the Central Point school is a daughter of Tip Smith, one time of Hillsboro.

Two daughters of Geo. Good live here. They are nieces of the late Mrs. A. C. Archbold.

Mrs. Edith Tozier Weatherred is in this locality boosting for Oregon made industries.

The wife of H. L. Gilkey, cashier of the First National Bank, of Grants Pass, was Miss Olive Carr, a niece of the late Levi Walker, of Forest Grove. Mrs. Gilkey attended Tualatin Academy and Pacific University.

Mrs. Edith Tongue Reames is a graduate of Pacific University, the same institution that honored and was honored by her distinguished father, the late T. H. Tongue.

Ed. S. VanDyke, favorably known by several of the popular belles of Hillsboro, is an attorney here.

The wife of John Vite Hale was a Pacific University student, and lived between Cornelius and Hillsboro. Her maiden name was Angie Clark.

Minnie and Wm. Ireland are children of the late Geo. Ireland.

Albert Tozier.

Neal Bennett and wife, of near Laurel, were in the county seat Monday.

The city council met Tuesday evening and passed an ordinance for improving Jackson Street, between Second and Third, with a rock base and cement top. An ordinance will also be drafted against the canine species, but this is to be a real work of art, as his dogship has become a great deal of a nuisance in the city. The problem is to keep Mr. Canine off the street and out of stores, and it will take a Forest Grove lawyer to get right at the real vitals of the case—and one may have to be imported from Kentucky. The dog nuisance has become acute here, and the council is going to make an attempt to solve it. Just what will be done remains to be seen. It's a greater job than the ordinary citizen wishes to tackle, and the result is awaited with a great deal of curiosity.

PEOPLES' STORE CASES ARE SET FOR TRIAL

Judge Campbell Fixes Calendar For Cases of Suit for Stock

ONE JUROR DECIDES $250 CASE

Judge Instructs Him to Find For Defendants, Bagley & Hare

Judge Campbell has set the cases brought by the Commercial Bank against those who signed notes for purchase of stock in the defunct Peoples' Store Company, and they will go to trial as follows:

Bank versus F. M. Crabtree, May 5.

Bank vs E Wenstrom, May 6.

Bank vs Schmidt, May 8.

The case of Studebaker vs the Cornelius Dairy & Produce Company will be tried May 7.

In the case of Roy Heater against the Peoples' Store Company, suit for $1,000, a motion to strike out portions of the complaint was over-ruled.

On Tuesday, the case of Bagley & Hare, for a $250 attorney fee, sought to be collected from Janey Galbreath, brought out one of the peculiar incidents of litigation. The jury was drawn and sworn, and upon agreement, judgment was confessed in the sum of $250 and costs and the court instructed the foreman, Peter Vanderzanden, to sign the verdict. Aside from the time of drawing the jury the case was settled in double-quick time.

Court adjourned Tuesday afternoon.

Judge Eakin is expected here almost any day to pass sentence in the Geo. Naylor case. At this time a motion will be made asking for a new trial.

Thirty-eight years ago Tuesday, J. C. Lamkin, well known here as the pioneer tinner, arrived in Portland, disembarking from the Steamship Ajax, long since retired to the boneyard of vessels then plying along the coast. To celebrate the day J. C. was sent a Spanish cigar, a foot long, from Mexico, the donor being Mr. Smith, who is at Monterey. As Lamkin is not a smoker he contented himself with an imaginary smoke.
