COURT MAKES LEVY FOR 1914 EXPENSES

Cut Original Budget Down Over Eighty Thousand Dollars

TWENTY AND ONE-HALF MILLS TAX

With State Tax Added, $112,325.96, Total Will be $410,407.92

After three days of wrestling with the tax problem the county commissioners' court at noon yesterday concluded the task of fixing the tax for the 1913 tax roll, to be collected for the expenses of the coming fiscal year. The budget for the county proper was cut down $80,942.39 from that published for several weeks prior to last Saturday's meeting. The original budget called for $379,024.92, and this was pruned down so that for all county purposes, including schools, which is fixed by law, the total sum to be collected amounts to $298,081.96. The state tax, fixed at $112,325.96 by the state tax commission, goes unaltered, as the court has nothing to do but accept the dictum of the "higher ups."

The total levy for all purposes is 20½ mills, distributed as follows on a valuation of $20,166,241.28:

Roads and bridges, mills	6
Machinery, mills	1
County general, mills	5.16
Schools, by law, mills	3.27
State, by law, mills	5.57

The various levies will contribute as follows to the following funds:

Roads, etc	$120,997.44
Machinery, etc	10,083.12
County general	104,057.80
Schools	112,325.96
Total	$410,407.92

The reduction on the local tax from over $379,000 to the sum of $298,081.96 required a great deal of maneuvering, and the fact that it is over $80,000 less than that endorsed by the tax meeting last Saturday, should meet with commendation from all the tax payers.

SAIN CREEK

The Old Year Out,
The New Year in,
Not water from Tom Sain's—
The town gone dry
Makes many sigh,
We drink we from the mains,

And swear it's good,
And smack the lip,
No matter what the pain;
We wipe the mouth,
Then done the sip—
God bless a creek called Sain.

SURPRISE PARTY

A pleasant surprise was held at the home of Chas. Krahmer, at Reming, on the evening of Dec. 28, the occasion being his birthday anniversary. The evening was spent in playing 500 and Hundred. The prizes were won by Fred Schoen and Mrs. L. Holtz. A bounteous luncheon was served at a late hour after which they departed wishing Mr. Krahmer many happy returns of the day. Those present were: Mr. and Mesdames Chas. Krahmer, Wilbur Williams, L. J. Henry Voelker, Henry Holtz, Fred Schoen, Henry Hoffmann, Henry Guerske, Henry Krahmer, John Kamna; Misses Edna Schoen, Mabel Warren, Pearl Holtz, Myrtle Holtz, Rosa and Krahmer, Katie Scheuermann; Messrs. Paul Guerske, Ed Krahmer, Henry Scheuermann, Fred and Henry Holtz, Fred and Krahmer, Max Behling, Ruecker and Walter Reece.

Coffee Club Meeting

Mrs. T. Bagley and Mrs. C. Long will entertain the Club Friday afternoon, Jan. 3, at 2 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Bagley.

Miss Gladys Roby, of Corvallis, is the guest of Miss Mary Ward.

Trading Stamps—Cash value Home Trading stamps, with every purchase. Get your premiums at Cooper's stores.—H. R. Emmott.

Dr. Francis J. Bailey has sold his Tacoma residence, the finest in the city of Destiny, for $75,000. In the deal Dr. Bailey acquired a big tract of orchard land down in Grants Pass, which receives an annual rental of $7,000. Dr. Bailey is on the waiting list as a surgeon in the United States Army and Navy, and has had offers of service several times. He may soon accept a post with the Army or Navy, but will not until he has his business affairs in hand. Dr. Bailey was in the Orient for several years, during the time Uncle Sam was making life safe over in the land of Aguinaldo.

For sale: White Leghorn chickens—a few choice cockerels and about 50 breeding hens; also eggs and day old chicks in season. Order early as supply is limited. Early chicks make the Fall layers. Write for prices and particulars.—Campbell & Rogers Poultry Farm, Route 4, Box 20, Beaverton, Ore. 40tf

Gov. West has dispatched Miss Fern Hobbs to go to Copperfield, Baker County, and close the saloons at that place. She will be assisted by all the powers in command of the governor, and the developments will be watched from all over the state with a great deal of interest. The sheriff and district attorney of Baker County are opposed to molesting the resorts, as they claim they are operating within the statute. On the other hand, the people residing at Copperfield have asked the governor to abate the places, and Gov. West has decided that they must close.

H. R. Davis, who owns 35 acres over in South Tualatin, writes from Parma, Idaho, that he is running an 80-acre orchard in the Gem state, and that he shipped for his employees 45 carloads of fruit in 1913. Notwithstanding this, he says that he wouldn't trade his 35 acres down here for quite a territory up in the best Mountain state. He and his family expect to get back to Washington County in a year or so, and when he arrives he will start in the fruit business on an extended scale. He sends his regards to all his South Tualatin friends, and wishes them a Happy New Year.

Vancouver, Wash., has doubled its marriage license record since Oregon prescribed the medical examination before marriage. When Washington does the same there will be more license money spent in Oregon, as many of the above number went from this side of the line, not a few going even from staid old Washington County.

Miss Myrtle McClarkin, who has accepted a position with the wholesale commission merchants, Stark Street, Portland, was out and spent Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McClarkin, of Laurel, accompanied by Dr. S. T. Torrens.

A. L. Lyman, formerly of La Grande, Ore., late of Portland, was in town yesterday, accompanied by W. E. Smith and Philip Jones, of South Tualatin. Mr. Lyman has bought the Jones' place of 40 acres, and will make his home over in that fertile section.

Frank Melville, a Minneapolis newspaper man, has taken hold of the Sherwood paper, and has named it the Journal. He will give the people of that section a breezy chronicle of events.

Wm. Schendel, of above Cornelius, was in town yesterday. He wishes to announce that the German Speaking meeting will be held in Hillsboro on Saturday, January 3, instead of Sunday.

Harry Asbahr, in the Chair of Agriculture at the Pendleton High School, was down during the Holidays, a guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Asbahr, of South Tualatin.

Thos. Simms, of Farmington, was a city caller yesterday. Mr. Simms thinks that the new currency bill is to be O. K. when it gets into operation.

Episcopal services at the Cong. Church, Sunday, at 2:30. Archdeacon Chambers will occupy the pulpit. All are invited.

Wm. Jackson, North Plains, was over to the hub, Saturday, looking in on the gathering of the clans at the court house.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Turner spent Christmas with relatives and friends, at Albany, Linn County.

Dan Shaw, of below Huber, was in town yesterday, on land business.

From now on we'll skip that passage which tells of "something for the stomach's sake."

Christ Grand, of West Union, was in town Tuesday.

SALOONS CLOSE DOORS AT MIDNIGHT, DEC. 31

Five Liquor Emporiums Now Have Barred Entrances

VERY LITTLE HILARITY AT END

Big Crowd in Town, But Saloon Men Frown at Rough House

Hillsboro's five saloons closed their doors at midnight last night in compliance to the recent order coming from the county court declaring the city "dry territory." There was a big crowd in town throughout the day and the evening attendance at the five places was capacity.

There were several extra officers sworn in to handle the last night's disturbances, but as all saloon men frowned at any rough house tactics there was no trouble worth mentioning.

A great deal of stock was sold at reduced prices, but there was no such cut on wet goods as was at Salem and Oregon City. Throughout the day Mr. Demijohn was frequently seen on the street, and many a small cargo was loaded into wagons and buggies from several miles out.

Taken all in all, the transformation from wet to dry was a fairly quiet, orderly affair, and not bristling with the hilarity that many expected.

Not an arrest was made in Hillsboro, but the officers arrested a minor at Forest Grove. He had been down with a crowd of men and some of them had given him liquor. The boy was Danny Ward, who has figured in liquor cases before.

CIRCUIT COURT

Judge Campbell adjourned court last night, after holding two days this week. The case of Smock vs. Bailey and the case of Janey Galbreath vs. Washington County were taken under advisement. State vs. Lorsung, defendant given from one to three years at Salem, charge of non-support, and convicted by jury.

The mechanic's lien case, Barr vs. Keepfresh Co., taken under advisement.

W. H. French was granted a decree of divorce from Catherine French.

TONGUE SUES

After nine years of delay in the courts, E. B. Tongue, district attorney for Washington county, is going to have another chance to collect $130 stake money he insists he won in a horse race at the state fair in 1904. Judge Kelly, of the Marion county circuit court, has brushed the dust off the complaint, and next Monday probably will set the case for hearing. The state fair board, which was called the state board of agriculture at the time the suit was filed, is the defendant.

At the 1904 fair Tongue entered his horse, "Lord Lovelace," in the Juvenile stake race. Only one other horse, "Lou Lady," owned by Thomas H. Brents, was entered. The total purse was to be $300, added to the entrance fees.

The complaint also asks to recover $65 as second money, won by Brents' horse.

The case went to the supreme court on demurrer, which was overruled, and the case was returned to the lower court for further proceedings.

At that time the members of the state board of agriculture were Mark Hurlburt, Frank Lee, W. H. Downing, Jasper Wilkins, W. F. Matlock and F. W. Durbin.

German Speaking Society

The German Speaking Society of Washington County will meet in Krebs' Hall, the first Saturday in January—January 3—for the election of officers for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of such other business as may come before the session. All members are requested to be in attendance. Meeting will open at one in the afternoon.

ALIENATION CASE HAS BEEN SETTLED

Geo. F. Naylor Pays Damage Verdict and Will Not Appeal

SAID SOME REDUCTION WAS MADE

Celebrated Forest Grove Case Now a Matter of History

The five thousand dollar verdict against Geo. F. Naylor, and the judgment that followed, are no longer hanging in statu quo, as the claim has been paid. Mr. Naylor has issued checks for the judgment, and has the receipt in full from Miles Watrous.

This was one of the bitterest cases ever tried in circuit court, the plaintiff, Watrous, asking for $25,000 damages for alienation of the wife's affections.

The jury, after being out but a short time, gave Watrous $5,000. Bagley & Hare were counsel for Watrous, and John F. Logan, assisted by John M. Wall, defended the case.

While the attorneys on both sides are reticent, and will not give out any information, it is stated on the outside that a compromise was effected that saved Mr. Naylor some money, the plaintiff taking a little less than the verdict rather than fight an appeal to the Supreme Court.

SCHOOL NEWS

Supt. B. W. Barnes went to Salem Sunday evening. He meets with the other county superintendents of Oregon to grade papers from the recent teachers' examination. Mr. Barnes will be absent from the office for more than a week.

At the recent teachers' examination held at Hillsboro, thirty-one teachers wrote, paying fees to the amount of $66, which was sent to the State Department at Salem.

The complete program for the Washington County Teachers' Association which meets at Beaverton, on January 10th, will be published next week. Prof. M. S. Pittman, of Monmouth, will be the chief speaker and the teachers look forward to this as an excellent meeting.

The Western Division of the State Teachers' Association convened at Salem on Monday, and lasted through Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. Supervisor J. H. Jack attended from Hillsboro on Wednesday.

H. A. Ball, of the Buxton school and formerly School Superintendent of Washington county, visited Hillsboro on Monday, while enroute to Portland. Mr. Ball has perfected a student organization in the Buxton schools which promises good results in social and civic improvement.

Applications for more than four hundred pupils throughout the county are on file at the Superintendent's office, to take the uniform state examination in physiology. This comes as the result of a ruling of the state board of education that pupils may take the examination in this subject upon completion of the sixth grade.

GOLDEN WEDDING

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hensley was celebrated at the home of Mr and Mrs. Daniel Emrick, Dec. 28, 1913. They were married at Joliet, Ill., Dec. 27, 1863. The husband was born in Louisville, Ky., and was a Union soldier during the Civil War. He was invalided North in 1863, where he met his wife. Mrs. Hensley's maiden name was Miss Almira Brown, and she was born in Joliet. She saw the famous Chicago fire of 1871. They came to Oregon in 1906.

The anniversary celebration was a delightful affair, their children and their South Dakota friends being present. Many useful presents were received, and many were the congratulations extended the worthy couple. A big dinner was served the party, and all departed wishing Mr. and Mrs. Hensley many more anniversaries. Those honoring them were Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Emrick, C. E. Hensley, of Imperial Valley, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hensley, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Meierjergen, of West Union; Mrs. Lizzie Sample, Clare Sample; Misses Ethel Sample, Gladys and Virginia Hensley.

Mrs. Elizabeth Patrick, after serving a sentence at Eugene for appropriating combings and switches from the Eugene women, was brought to Hillsboro by Sheriff Reeves, the first of the week, on a warrant charging her with like offense at Banks. The Turner Mercantile Co. is one of those seeking her arrest. Mrs. Patrick is an elderly woman, and has practiced this sort of thing all over the state. She says she wants a suspended sentence, and will get out of the country if given an opportunity. Sheriff Reeves has a grip "chuck" full of switches, and perhaps some of the Hillsboro ladies who lost their combings might be able to identify the stock of thatches.

The McMinnville Dramatic Club will present Paul Armstrong's "Alias Jimmy Valentine," a thrilling drama, at the Crescent Theatre, Saturday evening, Jan. 17. The same cast presented the Virginian in this city several years ago, and were given a capacity house, and much genuine applause. McMinnville has a great deal of histrionic talent, and they always put over a good play. As the boys interested have many friends down this way who will welcome them, they should have a crowded house.

Last Friday morning the barn at St. Mary's Home was burned, the blaze starting from a lantern, which was upset by a lad, who was feeding stock. The boy accidentally struck his pitchfork against the light. About 60 tons of hay went up in smoke. The insurance was $1,000. One little fellow ran out of the Home barefoot, to turn the sheep out of the barn before the flames could reach them.

Workmen are remodelling the Dr. Wood building, on Main St., preparatory for use as a depot and passenger waiting room for the Portland, Eugene & Eastern. The cars will soon be running. One car made a trip up the line Tuesday, and went around the loop. The overhead men will be here the first of the week to put in the Hillsboro work.

Ronald Vaught, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Vaught, departed last Friday for Lexington, Kentucky, where he enters the State University for three years of study. He is taking law, and expects to remain in the South until he graduates. Ronald is a bright young man, and should make good in his chosen profession.

The rural mail carriers had their "day off" today, and the rest was appreciated after a strenuous Holiday week. It is safe to say, with the parcels post in operation, that the five routes carried the greatest weight of mail in the history of rural delivery out of the city.

Dwight Pomeroy, of near Leisyville, is carrying his hand in a sling, the result of running an inch of the business end of a 20-penny nail into one of his fingers. Dr. F. A. Bailey cauterized the wound to prevent blood poisoning, and meantime Dwight has the women folks hold the wood while he splits the kindling with the free hand.

The Women of Woodcraft will give a masquerade ball at the W. O. W. Hall, one mile west of Cedar Mill, Saturday evening, Jan. 3. Four prizes will be awarded. Tickets, including supper, $1. Everybody invited.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Walker and family entertained A. A. Walker and his children, Masters Robt., Solomon and Jack, and the little Misses Rebecca and Mary, Christmas Day.

Percy Long, with two assistants, has completed the plumbing in the new Cady Brick, at Beaverton—one of the largest contracts awarded down that way for some time.

See the reel at the People's Theatre, Friday and Saturday evening, this week. It is a thriller, and has both American and Japanese actors. A fine photo play, and two reels of lively interest. Don't miss it.

Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Holmes, of Portland, and Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Purdin, of Banks, were guests of Mrs. P. M. Jackson and Loren Jackson and wife the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Prime, of Albany, visited over Christmas week with Mrs. Ida Bellinger, Mrs. Prime's mother, returning the first of the week.

Batlett Cole, a Portland attorney, was out to the city Monday, buying in a piece of Grove property at foreclosure sale.

Frank Wortman, connected with one of the McMinnville banks, was in town this morning.

Thos. Williams, with the Mc Court resort, was very ill the first of the week.

Jos. McCourt, who was critically ill a few days ago, was able to be on the streets, Monday.

Thos. Cornelius, of Salem, was over to Hillsboro Christmas, visiting with relatives and friends.
