Senator Chamberlain is still hammering away on the river and harbor bill—and doing veteran service. When this is passed he expects to reach Oregon to fill in campaign dates. It now looks as though the race will be Chamberlain, first; Hanley, second, and Booth, third.

M. Sturm Sr., of above Blooming, was a city caller Friday.

Sylvester Dooher, of Portland, was out to Hillsboro Monday, greeting friends.

L. Schaltenbrand, of near Middleton, was a county seat caller yesterday.

Mrs. Ralph Easter is convalescent, and has returned from one of the Portland hospitals.

Born, to Victor H. DeCumen and wife, of Hillsboro, Sept. 8, 1914, a girl.

Thos. and Austin Simms, of Farmington, were in the county seat Monday.

Ernest Kroner, the architect for the Carnegi Library, was in town Monday, on business connected with the building.

P. L. McKay, of Eugene, spent Sunday and Monday with Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Lard, with whom Mrs. McKay has been visiting for an extended period.

Delbert Bridges, of this city, was sent to the open air sanitarium east of Portland, the last of the week, in the hopes of improving his health.

German Lutheran services, Sunday afternoon, at 2:30, at the Congregational church. English Sunday school at 2:00.—E. W. Luecke, Pastor.

Donald E. Long departed yesterday for Washington, D. C., where he is attending law school at Georgetown University. He has been in Oregon for a month.

Miss Myrtle Butler, of Redmond, was a guest of the Butlers and Siglers, the last of the week. Miss Butler is down on her Fall buying trip for her Redmond store.

C. Schoenbaechler, of below Farmington, was in town Monday, bringing in his 11 year old son, Stephen, to have adenoids and tonsils removed, Dr. Robb operating.

Fred Bulling and the other members of the committee soliciting subscriptions for the Red Cross attending the German Army, report splendid success. As this county has a large population of Teuton extraction the fund is rolling along nicely.

Monday night's heavy rain—anywhere from a half-inch to an inch of water fell—started not a few hop pickers back to Portland, as the few remaining days were not of sufficient importance to them to make it an inducement for them to stay.

George Denton, of the Ladd & Reed farm, was in town yesterday. He says hops are picked on the farm and the crop runs from a half to two-thirds of last year's yield. Nearly all are finished down his way, the Ray yard finishing at Witch Hazel, today.

Threshing is over in Washington County, with the exception of a few stack settings in isolated places. Taken all in all the harvest has not been so bad, although the crop was not up to the 1913 yield. But it has been a good year, and with prices better than last season it should be fully as profitable to the producer.

Under the auspices of the Kinton Literary Society, Mrs. Adna Smith Flo, teacher of vocal music in Albany College, and Miss Wilma Waggener, piano instructor of the same institution, will give a concert at the Kinton High School, Friday evening, Sept. 18. Those who attended the concert given by Mrs. Flo and Miss Waggener, at Kinton, last year, will be delighted to hear of their return.

The State Hospital for the Insane, at Salem, writes the county court that Mrs. Allen Fraser, committed from this city, is about ready to be sent away as cured. Fraser visited her at the hospital, and was told by them that he should take her away and care for her. He has again dropped from sight, however, and they do not know his whereabouts. It is more than likely that a non-support charge will be filed against the husband, which will mean that he can be placed at work on the county road and that Mrs. Fraser will be paid $1 per day for his services—whether he works or not—as this is the law.

TOWNSEND—BLOYD

A beautiful home wedding was solemnized at the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Bloyd, Sept. 8, 1914, at 3 o'clock, when their daughter, Minnie Elzada, was united in marriage to Charles S. Townsend, of Portland, Rev. C. F. Smith, of Portland, officiating.

The bride wore a gown of crepe du chine with a tunic of chiffon, and a bouquet of Bride's roses. The bridal veil was caught up with orange blossoms.

Miss Lucy Bloyd was bridesmaid and wore white crepe du chine with pink girdle, and carried a bouquet of roseimils and lily-of-the-valley. Little Maudie Hoag was flower girl and was dressed in white and pink, and carried a basket of pink sweet peas.

The groom was attended by C. Vinter Bloyd.

Miss Bertha Bloyd played the wedding march.

The decorations, which were in charge of M. L. Sturdevant, of Cornelius, showed great skill and taste and were beautiful beyond description. The bridal party stood beneath a bower of evergreens and Autumn leaves, at the top of which was suspended a large wedding bell, covered with white asters. Over the colonnade hung long sprays of bridal wreath, while the rooms were filled with beautiful bouquets of fern and cut flowers.

Many beautiful presents were received.

After the impressive ceremony, refreshments were served, and the happy couple departed for a brief trip to the beach.

They will make their future home in Portland, where Mr. Townsend is in business.

Those present: Dr. and Mrs. Bloyd, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hoag and children, Zoe A., Lucy A. and Bertha Bloyd, Lulus Hoag, George Butler, Mrs. F. C. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Butler and son, Mrs. Jas. Sigler, Miss Beth Sigler, Ray Sigler, Mr. and Mrs. E. Brandaw and son, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Sigler, all of Hillsboro; Miss Mary Warren, Mrs. Lloyd Tupper and son, Portland, Miss Emma Tupper, Hillsboro; Mrs. H. Sturdevant, Minnie Sturdevant, LeRoy Sturdevant, Cornelius; Mrs. G. M. Miss Hazel and Earl Hoppenrider, Mrs. Bertha Reig, Mrs. Malen McCook, Mr. and Mrs. Wood, Grandma Diamond, Mrs. Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. Hatterman, of Portland; Frank Johnson and Mr. Shafer, San Francisco; and Mrs. M. A. Powell, of Hillsboro.

Esther Bay has sued Charles Bay for divorce, alleging the husband has an ungovernable temper, frequently insulting and swearing at her. She says he also struck her on the jaw at their home in Portland, July 10, 1914. She also says the husband borrowed money on $1000 worth of furniture belonging to her, and the loan was made without her knowledge. She asks a decree, title to her furniture, and the cancelling of a chattel mortgage to which she is not a party.

The formal opening of the season's work of the Cong. Church will be marked by special services Sunday. "The Day of Visitation" will be the pastor's theme. The Cecelian Choir will render special music. Special invitation to all members and friends to join in a hearty rally Sunday morning.

In the "Fifty Years Ago" column in this morning's Oregonian H. B. Luce and his niece are mentioned as passengers on the California bound stage out of Portland. Mr. Luce is the father of Clerk Luce, and was more than likely enroute to the Southern Oregon mines.

Father Verhaag, well known in Verboort, where he was pastor for several year, died recently in Holland. He was a well known priest in the Oregon diocese, and was highly respected.

J. N. Flippen, of Buxton, has sold out, and passed through town, this morning, enroute to Cazadero, where he will make his home with his sister.

Jos. Cawrse, of North Tualatin Plains, was in the last of the week. He expects to finish his yard this week.

Wm. Gifford, Wm. Nelson, F. J. Sewell and Hal Taylor tried their luck at a deer hunt the first of the week.

Born, to Chas. Marlin and wife, of south of town, Sept. 8, 1914, a son.

C. C. Frick is enjoying the Vancouver Fair this week.

Embarrassing the Butcher.

Mrs. Putton Ayres had picked up a few French phrases. Entering the butcher's shop one day, she inquired if he had any "bon vivant."

"Boned what, ma'am?" asked the butcher, puzzled.

"Bon vivant," she repeated. "That's the French for good liver, you know."—Philadelphia Press.
