Late Testimonial: To whom it may concern:

I beg to advise that I have taken Chiropractic treatments from the best operators in Portland, Tacoma, and Seattle, but I have yet to meet a Chiropractor who gives as satisfactory adjustments as Dr. McMahon, although one and all did not fail to charge higher rates for much less proficient and specific work.

Dr. McMahon's skill has prevented the necessity of a surgical operation in my case.

ALFRED DAVIDSON LOST LEG TUESDAY

Was Leaving Train When Foot is Crushed and Knee Mangled

BROUGHT TO HILLSBORO ON TRAIN

Alfred Davidson, aged about 37, of Forest Grove, lost his right leg, Tuesday morning, at Catching, a station this side of Forest Grove. Davidson had embarked on the train at the Grove, and was getting off at Catching to work on the John C. Buchanan place, where he has been employed for several weeks. In some manner he fell under the wheels, and the leg was severed above the ankle, hanging only by ligaments, and his knee so badly mangled that amputation was imperative. Dr. E. H. Smith performed the surgery, and soon had the patient resting easily.

Davidson's mother resides near Orenco. The injured man has been married only eight or nine months. M. Peterson, of Forest Grove, who is a relative by marriage, says young Davidson is a man of fine character. Mrs. Davidson was hurried to Dr. Smith's office, in Mr. Peterson's car, to consult about the surgery.

Clerk E. C. Luce was a Seattle visitor Saturday night and Sunday, and was in the hotel sound asleep when the 15 tons of dynamite were exploded out in the harbor. Luce says the concussion shook the hotel building, which was a mile and a half distant, and broke out one window glass. Luce says that when the explosion came so great was the roar that he involuntarily landed on his feet on the floor. The dynamite was on a barge and was being consigned to the Russian government for explosives in warfare, and it is presumed that some sympathizer of the Kaiser touched the powder off. Luce says that a little government tender, which was close by, was lifted 2 or 3 feet in the water, but no damage ensued excepting the turning turtle of a barge, a few rods distant.

Walter Steinke, son of Mrs. Steinke, of Minter Bridge, was badly injured Monday by an explosion of a dynamite cap with which he was playing. The concussion tore off the end of his right thumb and one finger at the first joint. Dr. Smith attended the sufferer.

Lloyd Tuppe and wife, of Portland, came out Saturday and visited a few days with home folks.

CULTURE.

The secret of culture is to learn that a few great points steadily reappear alike in the poverty of the obscurest farm and in the miscellany of metropolitan life and that these few alone are to be regarded—the escape from all false ties, courage to be what we are and love of what is simple and beautiful. Independence and cheerful relation, these are the essentials—these and the wish to serve, to add somewhat to the well being of men.—Emerson.

The Lady Who Danced the Minuet.

The minuet was ever the aristocrat of dances. Before the lady of the eighteenth century elected to step the dainty measure she had many points to master, for to dance the minuet was to court criticism. The plunge taken, she wore a lappet on her shoulder to tell the company she proposed to make or mar her ballroom reputation. Another point of etiquette lay in the gloves. A soiled pair was good enough for the country dance, but an absolutely new pair had to adorn the fair hands which graced the minuet. And so the lady of the eighteenth century on dancing bent set out with two pairs in her satchel.—London Mail.

War Humor.

One of the first fruits of the victory at Waterloo was to cover the lords of England with honors and decorations and the people with taxes. Great distress followed, and riots were frequent. In the year of the reform bill a mob broke into Downing street and approached the sentry stationed at the door of the foreign office, crying:

"Liberty or death!"

The sentry lowered his musket. "My lads," said he, "I know nothing about liberty, but if you come a step farther I'll show you what death is."

There were "iron" soldiers as well as an "iron duke" in those troubled days, and humor was a trifle grim and harsh.—London Spectator.

Know What He Meant.

"It's five years ago today, and I'm going to celebrate my wouldn't wedding."

"Wouldn't wedding? Wooden, you mean?"

"No; wouldn't. Five years ago today since I asked a girl if she'd marry me and she said she wouldn't."—Browning Magazine.

Theory and Practice.

"Dinglebat has original ideas about family government. He says every home should be a little republic where universal toleration prevails and everyone has a voice in the government."

"Yes; his family is managed on that plan. But he and Mrs. Dinglebat have the same old wrangle every day as to who shall be president."

Town Dwellers.

A little girl, whose parents had recently moved from the country to town and who is now enjoying her first experience in living in a street, said: "This is a very queer place. Next door is fastened to our house."

Her younger brother added his impression by declaring, "I like to live where the sidewalks have edges."—Pittsburgh Press.

A Definition.

A smile—the lighting system of the face and the heating system of the heart.—Woman's Home Journal.

Dragon Flies.

Dragon flies can catch insects when flying at the rate of forty or fifty miles an hour.

UGLY THOUGHTS.

In wandering through your mental pleasure grounds, whenever you come upon an ugly intruder of a thought which might bloom into some poisonous emotion such as fear, envy, hate, worry, remorse, anger, and the like, there is only one right way to treat it. Pull it up like a weed; drop it upon the rubbish heap as promptly as if it were a stinging nettle; and let some harmonious thought grow in its place.
