SCHOOL NOTES

The teachers of the public school entertained the directors of the school last Friday afternoon at the South grade school lunch room. The departmental teachers and principals of the school gave reports on the benefits derived from the visiting day in Portland.

Three clubs have been organized at the North grade school. They are Sewing club I with Mrs. Stanton as leader, cooking Division 1 with Mrs. Lester Mooberry as leader and Boys' cooking camp club with Miss Herman as leader.

The North grade school is working on the fund for the David Hill monument. The second grade room, taught by Mrs. Mooberry, has the banner.

The schools are working on the picture contest sponsored by the Federated Women's clubs.

Camp Cookery boys' club with Miss Herman as leader met at the home of Lloyd Selfridge.

The Hillsboro grade school boys' and girls' basketball teams defeated the Forest Grove teams last Friday on the local floor. The girls' score was 21 to 13 and the boys' 15 to 1. Both teams played at Tigard last night.

Mid-year examinations begin next Monday.

Clarence Rash has returned to school after a long absence due to an attack of pneumonia.

The Hillsboro Boys' Camp Cooking club gave a dinner in the cafeteria room at the south grade school last Wednesday evening, which they prepared and served. This event completes the course in camp cookery, and one of the members will represent the club at Corvallis summer school next summer. Mrs. Lee is manager of the club. The members of the club are Donald Rollins, Vernon Cook, Jack Barr, Lester Williams, Earl Bentley, Arthur Webb, Kelsey Miller, Aaron Belle, John Holt, Gerald Lawrence, Sid Ellingson, Adrian Hornecker. Miss Meredith and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Nosler were dinner guests of the club.

SAVING AT THE SPIGOT

A county commissioner of a Willamette Valley county has been paid $1500 a year salary. This man's taxes alone amount to this sum, or a little more. So he has been business man enough to amass a considerable amount of property. He announced early in the fall that he would not be a candidate for re-election and that he would probably resign before his term of office expired, January 1. This commissioner was one of three men who have been handling the business affairs of a large county, affairs which entailed expenditure of more than $1,000,000 a year. For his talents the county gave him a stipend that wouldn't attract the services of an efficient head janitor. Men capable of paying $1500 a year in taxes are not working for the public for the money that's in it. They serve because people argue and argue correctly that the public is entitled to "good government," and it takes good men to provide good government. But the public can't expect that big men are going to wear themselves down at the heels in their devotion to public service. In the long run the public gets only what it pays for.

The finest quality of rhubarb found on the market is that which is forced during the winter months, according to the vegetable gardening department of the experiment station. Plants from two to five years old, taken from outdoor plantings can readily be forced in a cellar, shed or some place where artificial heat can be provided, and which is practically light-proof. After the rhubarb clumps are dug it is best to leave them lying outside until frosted, to stimulate plant growth. When placed in the forcing cellar they are covered with a few inches of soil and kept at a temperature of 55 to 65 degrees.

When turkeys show considerable swelling of the face due to roup or colds, they can sometimes be profitably treated by cutting open the face and draining out the contents, finds the poultry department of the college. The cavity is then packed with a piece of cotton or gauze saturated with suitable antiseptic, such as tincture of iodine, using enough packing to keep the skin incision open, thus preventing healing before the infection has been destroyed in the cavity. It is best to replace the pack with a new one every day or two.
