The high school auditorium was packed until standing room was not available Thursday night at the high school commencement exercises when twenty-seven graduates in grey caps and gowns marched on the platform. An interesting event of the evening was the presentation of three Pacific scholarships to three of the class—Eugenia Quier, Walter Jesse and Harry Seabold. The three had applied in person to the registrar at P. U. who, after interviewing them, was unable to decide that any one of them was more worthy than the other two, so decided to give scholarships to all three. The program was as follows: Wana Wirtz, processional; Rev. Tilton, invocation; Charlotte Sullivan, welcome; Erma Vandehey, valedictory; Dr. Odgers, commencement address; Charlotte Sullivan, violin solo, accompanied by Sylvia Duyck; Remi Vuylsteke, presentation of the diplomas; Wana Wirtz, recessional.
