Budget Phases Are Explained

Statement Issued by Committee Tuesday

New Method

The change also contemplates a considerable saving in time and expense by using a photostatic method of recording legal documents. By this method the contents of the document is transferred directly to the pages of the record by photography, eliminating typists to transfer the record and readers to compare the transcript.

Attempt made by women of the county to have an item of $1000 included in the budget for the purpose of continuing a county home demonstration agent, was defeated by the budget committee when that committee refused to have it included in the budget. The sum was for transportation of the demonstration agent and office expense in Hillsboro. The salary is paid by the state and federal government.

Comparison of the various funds shows that there has been a decrease in the estimated needs of the general fund of $25,216.58, with estimated needs for the next year set at $127,822.97 as compared to $153,039.55 for 1936.

Included as a big item in the general fund budget is $48,000 for retirement of warrants not paid for lack of funds. The 1936 budget contained an item of $90,000 for retirement of warrants. Much of the apparent saving is lost in increased costs of relief, including old age assistance and mother's pensions.

Fund Increased

The county school fund shows an increase of $282.80 over the current year with estimated needs for 1937 placed at $94,909.70 as compared to $94,626.90 a year ago.

Big spurt in the increases comes in the road fund, where the amount to be raised by taxes increases $49,747.18 over the 1936 estimate. Budgeted for next year is $194,951.83 to be raised by tax as compared to $145,204.65. The answer to this is found in the expected income to the road fund, where total receipts have dropped from $143,551.99 for 1936 to estimated receipts of $92,448.17 for next year.

Taken by separate offices, that of county clerk shows an increase in expense of $3,290, the budget item being $9970 for 1937 as compared to $6680 for 1936. The office is set up for the county clerk, accountant, recording clerk, two full time clerks and one clerk for six months.

Budget for the county treasurer is the same and an increase is shown in the office of sheriff of $685 over 1936 when estimated expense was $10,075 as compared to $10,760 for next year. A number of items in the sheriff's budget were trimmed to allow employment of another deputy needed for night patrol.

Prune Jail Expense

Tax collection department shows an increase of $355 with estimated budget needs for 1937 placed at $6210 as compared to $5855 for 1936. A saving was effected in the operation of the county jail and $30 was saved in the office of the county superintendent of schools.

Another saving, amounting to more than $100 was effected in the office of the probation officer and the county nurse's department was eliminated and combined with the new health unit.

The county surveyor expense remains the same, while the circuit court budget was reduced from $10,560 in 1936 to an estimated need of $9280 in 1937, or a saving of $1280. Much of the saving was lopped from the jury fees. Raise in salary was allowed the secretary to the circuit judge and a small addition made to the bailiff's wages.

County Agent Same

Expenses of the county agent remain the same, while expenses of the justice courts have been reduced $50. Coroner's expense was cut $400 by reason of the transfer of some expenses to the health department.

Another $75 was gained in the department of the district attorney, where $75 for supplies was lopped off. The expense of the health officer was eliminated, and the court house fund increased from $6682.75 in 1936 to $7354.48 in 1937. This increase mostly was insurance.

Slight saving was recorded in the expense of the county hospital with the needs for 1937 estimated at $12,302.71. One large cut was made in miscellaneous items when the estimates of 1936, amounting to $172,326.80 were reduced to $77,870 for another year.

Bang's Inspector

For Bang's disease inspection, $3740 was added to the budget, and old age pensions, costing this year $12,000, were changed to old age assistance and estimated to cost $22,000 in 1937.

Registration and elections dropped from $6400 to $500 for another year, and mothers' pensions increased from $12,000 to $14,000 for 1937.

The new health unit will cost the county $985 and provides a full time health doctor at $3000 a year; two nurses full time at $1500 each per year; travel expense of $1600 a year; a clerk at $720 and $1200 in equipment.

Of the total expense, the United States Public Health service will furnish $4110; two Forest Grove schools $100 each; Beaverton schools, $100; two Tigard schools, $50 each; City of Hillsboro, $200 and Washington County Health association, $200.

Total cost of the project will be $10,770 and will eliminate the following items of expense to the county: Doctor for the county jail, $200; nurse $2105; county physician, $1200; health officer, $720; examinations and expense of insane and feeble-minded, $250, and $400 physicians' fees for the coroner. Total saving is $4875.

In the highway department, the cost keep takes a substantial cut in salary.

New Chevrolet to be Shown

1937 Cars on Display Local Dealer on Saturday

The new 1937 Chevrolets will make their bow here and throughout the country November 7, according to Mrs. J. Whitelaw of the Hillsboro Motor company, Chevrolet dealer, after her return from Portland where 162 dealers from this section obtained official news of the new product from S. M. Johnson, manager of the Portland zone, and members of his staff. On October 28, 850 dealers and salesmen met in Portland to discuss the new models.

Johnson has just returned from Detroit, where 1,000 members of Chevrolet's wholesale organization from coast to coast spent four days inspecting and driving the new car and reviewing with factory executives the program to be followed in presenting it. The new models adhere closely to time-tried Chevrolet engineering principles, he reported, but combine greater power, economy, safety and durability with striking new beauty and grace.

V. E. Coyle, president and general manager of Chevrolet, announced during the convention that the company had shattered all previous records during 1936, selling more cars and more trucks than in any previous year in its history, and leading the world in sales for the seventh time in the last ten years. The total for the year will exceed 1,125,000 units, he said, and the objective for 1937 is 1,200,000 the two upper decks were open to inspection. Staircases are of mrable with gold trim.

Another point visited was Boston, where he found the city crowded with fans for the Army-Navy football game. Streets and avenues are so mixed, he said, that it was the hardest of all cities to travel from point to point. In Boston, he failed to find the culture for which the city is supposed to be noted, he remarked, while most of the persons he saw were fishermen sitting around drinking ale and eating fish.

In Philadelphia he visited all of the interesting places, including Independence hall.

From Philadelphia he went to Washington, D. C., where he saw the White House, the capital building, and many other interesting places.

Weil told how he flew to Los Angeles two weeks ago, traveling from Portland to San Francisco, and thence to Los Angeles. For more than two hours, he related, the plane was lost in a rain storm, cut off from communication with the ground because of the storm.

For more than an hour, he related, the plane flew around Bakersfield and then to Fresno before a forced landing could be effected to take on fuel. The first warning the passengers had was when the stewardess asked the passengers to put their hands over their ears because they were about to make a fast landing. Nearly two hours later, they landed.

Arriving in Burbank, Cal., Weil said, they found that there had been a cloudburst which had flooded streets and roads. The rain was followed by excessively hot weather, he related, and then more rain.

Business throughout the part of California visited was not as good as had been expected, due largely, he said, to the heat and bad weather. Real estate is booming there and many dwellings are being erected with rentals very high.

In the small towns, he said, business is much better than in the cities. The shipping strike has taken the pep out of all business and industries. In Los Angeles harbor, there were 118 idle ships.

Groups of California residents are working, Weil said, to upset the power of Harry Bridges, leader of the maritime workers' unions, but so far these groups have met with little success. The steamship companies have gone into the strike, Weil declared, to effect a lasting settlement and will not compromise until such a settlement has been reached.

"I am a flying enthusiast," he told his audience, "and would fly all of the time if possible. The service on the plane is marvelous and train service does not compare with it at all. When the plane starts you are given something to read, and later you are served with coffee, hot chocolate or some other drink if you desire. Lunch also is served to each passenger on the plane."

On the trip home the plane was half an hour late into Portland, leaving Oakland at 12:40 p. m. and arriving here at 5:30 p. m.

Next chamber of commerce meeting will be at night with dinner. The matter of telephone rates and Hillsboro connections with nearby rural sections will be discussed by the committee appointed a week ago which includes W. G. Hare, Herb Staples and W. Verne McKinney.

Oldsmobiles Have Premier Showing

The 1937 Oldsmobiles, two new, distinctive and entirely different automobiles, were shown last week to Oldsmobile dealers in the Portland zone, according to Mrs. J. Whitelaw, Oldsmobile dealer in Hillsboro, who returned today from Portland, where she attended a meeting of Oldsmobile dealers.

"The design advance is but one of the many improvements. The cars are bigger in every way, with longer wheelbase, bigger engines and roomier bodies. Many new safety features have been added. Comfort has been increased in a dozen ways. Economy of operation has been gained by improvements in carburetion and slower engine speeds.

"The engines themselves, although based on the same fundamental engineering principle which has resulted in such great owner satisfaction, are larger than ever before and give greater performance and economy as well as insuring longer life and increased dependability.
