Hillsboro "Eleven" Invades Camas High Gridiron After McMinnville Loss

Scrappy Hilhi 11 Loses Hard Fought Game

(By Ed Coman)

Hilhi to Invade Camas

The Hillsboro high school team will go out-of-state Friday night to meet Walt Erickson's Camas, Wash., gridders on the latter's home field. The date had originally been filled by the St. Helens team, which withdrew. Game is called for 8 o'clock.

A lone point after touchdown that failed to connect spelled 7 to 6 defeat here Friday night for a hard-fighting, scrappy bunch of Hilhi gridders that had out-charged and outfought a heavier McMinnville 11 during all but a brief period of the game.

Figured on paper to be a cinch win for the highly-touted Grizzlies, the game turned out to be a stem-winding gridiron thriller from start to finish. The Blue and White treated fans to the finest display of football this year as they fought McMinnville to a standstill, grabbed the lead, lost it and than staged a last minute foray that came within an ace of pulling the game out of the fire.

Threaten Five Times

Keeping the Grizzlies on the defensive during the opening half, Hillsboro drove five times deep into McMinnville territory. The opening attack from the kickoff crumbled on the visitors' 23 with a costly fumble. Moments later Hilhi was back again only to have a fourth down pass go wild in the end zone. Back they came with a 53-yard drive that met a stonewall on the McMinnville three-yard line.

A short Grizzly punt and a clipping penalty gave the locals another scoring opportunity from the Mac 10. Ketcham, Hilhi full, picked up seven yards on three tries and then a short pass over the goal line was knocked down. Undaunted the Blue and White took McMinnville's punt and romped 20 yards to the Grizzly eight before a clipping penalty stopped the drive.

Mac opened the second half with a running and passing attack of the caliber that had been expected of the visitors. Taking the kickoff on their own 25, the Macmen passed and drove their way to the Hilhi 35. Davis, Hilhi quarter, came to the rescue at this point by intercepting a pass on his own 25 and breaking up the threat.

Short Kick Sets Stage

The Blue and White promptly ran the ball out of danger and kicked, putting the Grizzlies back in their own territory. Just before the start of the fourth period, the Hilhi line rushed Mead, Mac punter, and his short, wobbly kick went out of bounds on the Grizzly 43. This set the stage for the Blue and White touchdown drive.

Starting on a wide end sweep behind the almost perfect blocking of Bronleewe, Ketcham and Grogan, Lair raced 30 yards for the longest gain of the game and a first down on the McMinnville 30. Two line bucks made seven yards and then Fullback Ketcham cracked over his own right tackle, burst into the open, eluded the desperate effort of Wibble, Mac captain, and raced into pay dirt. Tsugawa's line smash for the conversion was inches short.

Apparently the Hilhi score made the Grizzlies very unhappy. At any rate, they launched an 85-yard assault that terminated with the pigskin in touchdown territory and then added the extra point that cinched the game. Two long passes, good for 18 and 14 yards, and a pass interference penalty against Hilhi good for 14 more, featured the attack. Backed against their own goal line, the Blue and White staged a dogged but fruitless stonewall defense that twice turned back touchdown drives before Sitton, Grizzly fullback, crashed over to score from the one-yard line.

Wild with Excitement

Fortunes of war changed so rapidly in the closing minutes of the game that fans were wild with excitemen. Grogan took the kickoff on his own 20, returned 10 yards only to fumble and give Mac the ball. On the next play Sitton fumbled and Right End Lawrence recovered for Hilhi.

Three Blue and White plays failed to dent the Grizzly forward wall. Bob Sutherland dropped back to punt, got off a beautiful long spiral that sailed over the Mac safety's head and rolled back to the Grizzly five where Bronleewe nailed the safety in his tracks. Punt and roll were good for a 65-yard gain.

Freezing the ball, Mac ran three plays slowly and punted out to Grogan on the Hilhi 48. Throwing short passes in a last minute effort to score, the locals moved the ball to the Grizzly six and a first down. Ketcham's next pass bounded into the arms of a McMinnville linesman on the one-yard line.

Only seconds remained as Mead dropped back into his own end zone to punt. Desperate Hilhi linesmen swarmed through the line, rushed the kicker and the punt went out of bounds on the Mac 15. In the excitement the timekeeper's gun sounded but the officials ruled that the ball had gone out of bounds before the gun, giving the Blue and White one last desperate try to save the game.

Desperate Effort Fails

Working rapidly, Hilhi put the ball in play. Grogan faded far upfield and rifled a long one into the end zone where "Speed" Lawrence was racing all alone. The pass was inches too long and slipped past Lawrence's stretching fingers and the game was over.

Churchley, Hilhi center, turned in a defensive performance that had much to do with stopping the powerful attack. The entire Blue and White forward wall played beautiful football, continually outcharging the McMinnville line and bringing down ball carriers for losses. Grogan was the standout in the Hilhi backfield, sparking the play, blocking and running the ball and dumping the visitors backs. The entire team showed a big improvement, snapping their plays, blocking with precision and tackling like demons.

In the Grizzly camp Sitton, Wibble, Versteeg and Cline were standouts.

Hilhi rolled up 10 first downs to nine for the Grizzlies. Six of the locals total came in the first half and four in the second. McMinnville was held to two in the first half but gained seven in its 85-yard scoring drive.

Jack Christensen, Hilhi end, was struck by a car as he crossed Baseline street while on the way to the game and was unable to play. He suffered slight leg injuries.

Coach's Choice---

By R. L. (Matty) Mathews
Coach, University of Portland

California vs. Southern California—California should win because of a better balanced ball club.

Oregon State vs. Oregon—Largely because of Joe Gray, I'm picking Oregon State.

U. C. L. A. vs. Washington State—The Bruins to win a close one; maybe an upset.

Washington vs. Stanford—A small edge to the Huskies. The mental hazard of possible rain will bother Stanford.

Linfield vs. Pacific Lutheran—I pick Linfield.

Willamette vs. Whittier—The Bearcats should regain stride and win.

Gonzaga vs. San Francisco—Karamatic should swing victory to the Bulldogs in a close one.

Portland vs. Brigham Young—Portland, but it will be close.

St. Mary's vs. Idaho—The Gaels are on the way up and should win.

Santa Clara vs. Loyola—The Broncos have greater all-around strength.

Ducks, Beavers to Clash Saturday

Oregon's annual Civil war, the football game between Oregon State college and the University of Oregon, will draw thousands to Eugene Saturday afternoon. Comparative scores in previous games mean little in this conflict, where the players enter the game steamed up as only they can be when playing a traditional contest.

The Webfeet lost to U. C. L. A., then nosed out Stanford, which on the following Saturday defeated the U. C. L. A. Bruins. Oregon State tied the Bruins Saturday at Corvallis 7 to 7, while their rivals were losing to U. S. C. 34 to 14.

Jim Dixon, who scouted Oregon Saturday, said: "U. of O. has the finest offense I've seen in many years, and that doesn't exclude the Webfoot offense that featured Mike Mikulak several seasons ago."

The Beavers showed up to advantage Saturday when they came from behind in an 80-yard power drive to score a touchdown and tie U. C. L. A. No passes were used in this drive.

Finances of Road Building Studied

Ways and means of financing the Wilson River cutoff road through the intervention of the state highway department will come up at a meeting of Tillamook, Washington, Multnomah and Portland representatives Friday at 3 p. m. in the Public Service building in Portland.

Inasmuch as the road, in Washington county, has been nearly completed, this county will join in asking WPA aid through the highway department, it was announced by members of the Washington county court, who will attend the meeting Friday.

1937 Fire Season Concluded Monday

Bad Check Count Faces V. C. Davis

Pending outcome of a bogus check charge, Vernon Clair Davis, Hillsboro, was held in the Washington county jail. He was arrested last Thursday by county officers.

Sheriff J. W. Connell said that three firms—two in Forest Grove and one in Gaston—charged Davis with issuing checks not covered by sufficient funds. Total amount involved was approximately $13.

Four Hunters Get $25 Fines Thursday

Four Wilark hunters who couldn't see fresh deer meat—even that of a spike-horned buck—go to waste, were fined $25 apiece by the justice of the peace Thursday.

Bud Adkins, 17, told state police that he shot the buck and that he and his companions on the hunting excursion, transported the quarry from Tillamook to Washington county. When stopped by state police, the hunters threw the meat away. It was discovered later by police, who turned in a complaint.

With Adkins on the trip were A. Ray, W. A. Fowler and Otto Cantwell.
