"Kick-Off Rally" Lunch Saturday for Seal Sale

Volunteer chairmen from all parts of Washington county will join forces with the county health association in preparation for the annual sale of Christmas seals which will start on the day following Thanksgiving, Mrs. Harry Morgan, county chairman, announced Wednesday.

Saturday at 1:15 p. m. in the Hillsboro Pharmacy, Miss Elsie Winters, state Christmas seal chairman, and member of the state tuberculosis association, will address local chairmen, health association officers and members of the Washington county health unit.

Over 25 Expected

Over 25 Washington county seal sale chairmen and others are expected to attend the "kick-off" luncheon.

Sale material will be handed out to local chairmen by Mrs. Morgan, and a comprehensive program for the drive will be drawn up at the meeting.

Washington county will endeavor to meet the quota of six cents per capita set up for the state, officials declared. There are now 12 patients from the county in the state tuberculosis hospital and Salem, with many others believed to be in need of medical attention.

"We feel that this is a wonderful opportunity for Washington county citizens to respond to the needs of those who are afflicted with the 'white plague,'" Mrs. Morgan stated. "The cost is not great but if every interested citizen comes forward we will be able to include many more sufferers in our program."
