Dr. Crane of Pacific P.-T. A. Speaker

Speaking before the high school Parent-Teacher association Monday night, Miss Gertrude Boyd Crane, professor of education and psychology at Pacific university, Forest Grove, declared that adolescence as it is known in the United States today is a product of our own civilization. The more advanced a civilization becomes, stated Miss Crane, the longer is that prolonged period in an individual's life before he reaches adulthood. During these years when an individual is not a child and not yet an adult there are certain emotional, social, and cultural adjustments which must be made. To aid adolescents in these adjustments, said Miss Crane, parents must develop understanding, read a few good books, stop worrying, be objective, and learn to pick out danger signals in their children. The adolescent should be helped to meet his problem, instead of sheltered and set apart because of his age. He needs, as an approaching adult, to decide his philosophy of life, to find a place of recognition among his kind, to find a vocation, to get psychologically weaned from parental apron strings, and to center his love on the opposite sex, eventually leading to marriage. Adolescence is a stormy period, mentioned Miss Crane, and, contrary to popular opinion, not the happiest time in one's life. Pointing a child toward maturity and hence advancement is the task of educators and parents alike.

Mrs. Arthur Connell, chairman for the meeting, introduced Miss Crane. The meeting began with the singing of Christmas carols by the group, followed by high school choral numbers under the direction of Marion S. Egbert. Mrs. Paul Patterson reviewed an article in the National Parent-Teacher. The next meeting will be held February 5 in the high school library.

In the Window

Although different from the Oregon wooden shoes, the pairs shown in the Argus window this week undoubtedly would make just as much noise. One pair is small and similar to the Dutch sabot, while the other is a shiny black, cut low across the instep with an unusually pointed toe. Both pairs were sent by Larry Sandstrom from "somewhere in France" to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Sandstrom of Hillsboro. Sandstrom has been transferred from a "foxhole" infantry company to a postal service branch. He also sent a piece of a German parachute, a tiny souvenir pipe and a two franc piece.

Auxiliary Receives Honor Guard Fund For Vets of War 1

A fund of $32.15, which was the balance left in the treasury of the Honor Guard, was presented to the American Legion Auxiliary at the meeting Tuesday night. The Honor Guard was an organization of girls who assisted in patriotic work for the boys of World War 1. The presentation was made by Mrs. Zola Morgan, a past president of the group and treasurer at the time the guard disbanded. The letter accompanying the gift stated that it was the wish of members of the group that the money be used for World War 1 veterans. The gift was turned over to Mrs. A. F. Kroeger, hospital chairman, with the request from the Auxiliary that it be used for something in the Veterans' hospital for comfort and pleasure of the men.

Program included singing of carols by the Junior high school mixed chorus under direction of Mrs. L. C. Kramien, with Mrs. E. N. Crockett as accompanist.

Mrs. E. A. Griffith, president, and Mrs. Paul Patterson gave reports on the district conference held recently at Forest Grove.

The president reported that Mrs. George Fischer had donated a phonograph to be sent to a ship for entertainment of service men, and the Auxiliary voted to donate $15 for the purchase of new records. The unit also voted $75 toward the expense of redecorating the hall, which was done recently by the Legion.

A social time and refreshments followed the business session, with Mesdames W. C. Christensen, Karl Wildman, A. M. Abrams and Homer Wilmarth as hostesses.

Boxes for men in the hospitals in this area—250 in all—were packed Wednesday at the Legion hall and will be taken to headquarters today (Thursday) by Mrs. Griffith. She had previously delivered 212 boxes packed by the schools for men on the high seas at Christmas time.

Information Given

The most important offering of breakfast juices to good nutrition is vitamin C in which they differ widely. Nutrition studies show that unless the fruit or juice served at breakfast furnishes a generous supply of vitamin C it is difficult to get enough at other meals for best health.

In a recent test for vitamin C in commercially canned juices, orange and grapefruit juices took top place, rating "excellent." Second place with a rating of "good" went to papaya and three vegetable juices—tomato, spinach, and sauerkraut. Juices testing "fair" were pineapple, strawberry, fig, mixed vegetable, raspberry, and prune.

Unfortunately, many of the most popular fruit juices are not even fair sources of C, according to information received from the U. S. D. A. by Mrs. VanWinkle, emergency war food assistant. The usual serving of apple, cherry, grape, peach, pear, carrot, and celery juice contain little if any vitamin C. If they are served, care should be taken to serve vitamin C rich foods at other meals of the day.

Meet Mr. Showoff

Mr. Showoff sounded a trumpet and the crowd came up to admire as he counted out the tenth of all his gain and poured it into the treasury of the Lord. Mr. Showoff, by his trumpet, wanted all to know what a great and good man he must be in the sight of God.

Now look at that despised tax gatherer over there. He will not so much as lift up his eyes to heaven but he beats upon his breast crying—God be merciful to me a sinner.—I tell you this man went down to his house justified rather than the other," said Jesus. JUSTIFIED—Set right in God's eye.

ONE—From the PENALTY—The justified are saved from the penalty of sin. God put the sins of your lifetime on Christ—"The Lord hath laid on Him the iniquity of us all.—BIBLE. Take forgiveness on the ground that Christ paid the penalty.

TWO—From the POWER—Up from the grave Christ arose to indwell all who receive Him as Lord and Saviour. As the redeemed yield their lives over to Him, they live by Power From On High. Christ becomes their sustaining strength.

THREE—From the PRESENCE of sin. On Judgment Day, the lost face the sins of all their days and go out into eternal woe. For the saved—In the ages to come God is to show the amazing goodness of His grace. God is to show the amazing riches of His grace, in His goodness to them through Christ Jesus. They go forever from the presence and sorrow of sin.
