Veterans Given Advice by Supervisor About On-the-Farm Training Work

Hereafter, veterans interested in on-the-farm training should first visit the evening class being conducted at the high school nearest them and get acquainted, not only with the instructor and the veterans enrolled, but the program as set up for the training, according to Garr S. Dennis, county training supervisor.

He said further: "Your certificate of eligibility and entitlement is a valuable piece of paper—use it wisely, and be sure you know what you want to do before plunging.

"On the other hand, if you want to become a farmer or want to improve your knowledge of farming, and the situation is such that it is not advisable to attend a standard agricultural college, I would suggest you familiarize yourself with this program.

"If, after attending class, you decide you want to enroll, give your name, address, and instruction how and when to contact you to the instructor, and one of our staff members will pay you a visit. During this visit he will explain all details to you, and also he will, if advisable, work out a constructive farm program for you to follow together with the proper procedure for you to take in officially enrolling.

"At present, regular weekly classes are being conducted as follows: Hillsboro, Tuesdays 7 to 11 p. m.; Forest Grove and Banks, Monday 7 to 11 p. m.; Sherwood, Thursdays 7 to 11 p. m.

"I might add that you have at least four years from January 1, 1947, to enroll for this training, and if for any reason it would be to your advantage to enter at a later date you have the privilege to do so, and it might be to your advantage because at present all our classes are very much crowded; however, if it is to your advantage to enter now, we will find a way to take care of you in the best possible manner that circumstances permit.

"This arrangement will make it unnecessary to continue our office days in the courthouse at Hillsboro. The staff has been increased to the extent that we can go see you instead of you having to come and see us before you enroll. Anyway the farm is the place to talk farm talk.

"However, until further notice I plan to spend Saturday mornings at the county service officer's headquarters, 124 S. Second avenue in Hillsboro, for the purpose of discussing the unusual things which may arise either before or after your enrollment, but not to work out your farm program. On the farm is the place to do that.

"In addition to the above procedure, if something comes up requiring our immediate attention, write me at box 439, Hillsboro."

Gordon Beck of the Portland VA office is making a county-wide trip visiting veterans who are taking on-the-farm training, Dennis said.

Last Rites Held For Mrs. Coslett

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at Donelson & Sewell chapel for Mrs. O. O. Coslett who died at Glendale Memorial hospital, Glendale, Cal., January 28, after being struck down by a speeding automobile.

Rev. F. C. Leonard, assistant minister of the Christian church, conducted the services, and the Royal Neighbors ritualistic ceremony was exemplified around the casket. Max Read was the soloist.

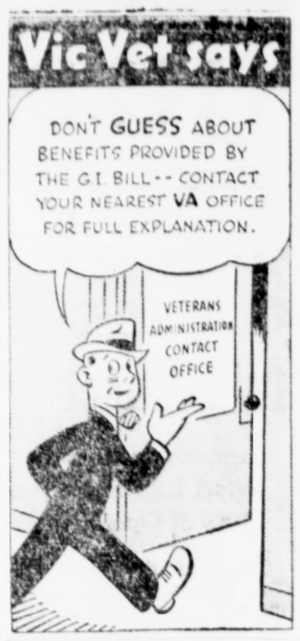
Interment was in Fir Lawn cemetery.

Viola Swift was born in Missouri July 24, 1883, and was married to Oliver Coslett on November 5, 1903, at St. Louis, Mo. They came to Oregon in 1907 and resided in Portland until 1918. Then moved to near Beaverton, and came to Hillsboro in 1920, where they had since resided. The present home is at 243 South First avenue.

Her husband, three daughters and a son survive: Mrs. Helen Wilson, Seattle; Mrs. Florence Ennis, Hillsboro; Mrs. Millie Cornelius, Seaside, and Elwood Coslett, Newport; also six grandchildren. One son, Oliver, died April 16, 1946. Mrs. Coslett was the last of her immediate family. Her father, John Swift of Portland, and her sister, Mrs. Nancy Doody of Elsie, both died within the past year.

She was a member of Hillsboro R. N. A. camp, of which she was a past oracle; Phoenicia temple, Pythian Sisters, and the Christian church.

Driver of the car which struck Mrs. Coslett was arrested for manslaughter and his trial will be held soon.



Service Officer Has Busy Month

Business continued on the uptrend during January for Dolph Stuart, county service officer, whose office is at 124 S. Second avenue in Hillsboro. His monthly report to the county court revealed that 569 contacts had been made on behalf of veterans as compared to 487 the previous month. A large number of insurance cases were taken care of, 103 being policies re-instated and 31 on conversions.

Of 69 jobs applied for 10 were placed. Eleven service pensions were applied for and three granted. Eleven loans were processed, 58 terminal leave pay cases cared for, 24 for trainee pay, five for welfare, seven for hospitalization and 14 for trainee jobs. Stuart wrote 93 letters and received 79 on cases pertaining to war vets, the report showed.

Stuart said provision for the recovery of lost terminal leave pay bonds is now set up as is also the immediate cashing of these bonds by legally qualified survivors of bond holders who died since leaving service. Benefits offered veterans are not available during the terminal leave period but immediately after. The government offer of $1,600 value in vehicles to amputees applies not only to automobiles but to cultivation machinery, tractors and plows, etc., such equipment which is necessary for the vet to follow his vocation.

Services Held for Mrs. Anna Olson

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Olson, late of Carlton, were held Wednesday afternoon at McMinnville, with interment at Carlton Yamhill cemetery.

Mrs. Olson is survived by three sons, Otto of Gaston, and Alvin and Emil of Cherry Grove, and by a daughter, Mrs. C. T. Helvie of Carlton.

Students Will Choose Queen for P. U. Prom

Sponsoring organizations and candidates are Kappa Delta, Joanne McGarry, Alhambra, Cal.; Theta Nu Alpha, Mrs. Ora Faye Thorgerson, Battle Ground, Wash.; Phi Lamba Omicron, Juanita Shinn, Klamath Falls; Independents, Beverly Bucher, Forest Grove.

Death Takes Sister

Mrs. Emily Swyter, 51, sister of Mrs. John Knodel of Hillsboro, died of heart attack in Portland January 27. Funeral services were held in Portland January 30 with interment in Riverview cemetery. Mrs. Swyter, a former resident of Pasadena, Cal., had lived since last August in Portland, where she was employed as a registered nurse. Surviving are two sons, William, who is studying for the ministry in Tennessee, and Gordon, a high school student of Portland.
