Farmers Start Organization of New Farm Unit

A large group of Washington county farmers approved plans on Tuesday evening to organize a Farm Bureau unit in the county. The decision to move ahead with organizational plans was reached at a special meeting presided over by A. H. (Tony) Abts, farm service representative of the Commercial National bank and temporary chairman of the group.

A vigorous membership drive, to be conducted under the direction of Sandy McDonald, western Oregon representative of the organization, will be started immediately, Abts said.

The meeting was called by local farmers to meet the need for a "good farm organization which will have as its primary aim the procuring of favorable agricultural legislation," Abts pointed out.

The new organization will not interfere with other existing farm groups, Abts said in an invitation for others to join the organization. Farmers who produce 60 per cent of their income from farming are eligible for membership. The Farm Bureau is not a cooperative, he added.

Talks in favor of the organization were given by W. J. Enschede of Hillsboro, Glenn Richey of Forest Grove, and Vic Thomsen, president of the Oregon Farm Bureau. Persons wishing additional information were asked to contact Arthur Ireland, Banks; Robert Warren, Gales Creek; Hagg Bros., Reedville; Ritchey Bros., Forest Grove; Enschede or Abts.

Banks Boy Wins Trip to Missouri

Bill Tolke, member of the Banks FFA livestock judging team, will leave Thursday (today) for Kansas City, Mo., where he will team with two eastern Oregon boys to represent the state in livestock judging competition at the American Royal Livestock show.

Tolke won a place on the three-man team by setting the third highest individual score among state FFA boys in livestock judging at the recent Pacific International exposition in Portland. Edwin Duyck, also a member of the Banks team, placed fifth high in the scoring and was selected as first alternate on the state team.

Wallace Sawtell, adviser of the Banks team, said that a $100 achievement of merit award presented recently to the Banks FFA chapter by the Sunset chamber of commerce will be used to finance the trip.

The Banks team placed second among Oregon teams and 11th among all teams competing in the Pacific International. The team placed second in the breeding gilts class, Chester White swine. Members of the team, in addition to Tolke and Duyck, were Bill Cross and Cecil Herb.

The Banks corn judging team, consisting of Edmund Duyck, Cross and Tolke, competed in the P-I, with Tolke tying with Vern Hulit of Hillsboro for third high individual score for the state.
