Forest Grove BP Club Has Charter Day Rites Sunday

Ceremonies of charter day were held Sunday afternoon by the Forest Grove Business and Professional Women's club, beginning with a luncheon at 1:30 at the city hall. Mrs. Elva Batchelar of Hillsboro, district president, presided.

Mrs. Leona T. Jensen of Eugene, state president, extended greetings from the national federation and the state federation, and Mrs. Alta Dauzenroth, president of the Forest Grove club, extended a welcome to the guests.

Mrs. Jensen in her address gave a history of the national organization and the aims and purposes of the federation in presenting the charter to Mrs. Dauzenroth. She complimented the Forest Grove club on its large charter membership, and also complimented the Hillsboro club as sponsor.

The emblem ceremony which was the initiation of all Forest Grove members was exemplified by Hillsboro members. Those taking part were Margaret Mooberry, Eunice Kimmerle, Hazel Huffman, Merle Selfridge, Margaret Perry, Rosa Schild, Polly Wagner, Audrey Seabold and Viola Paynter, with Mrs. Jessie Sewell as pianist.

Mrs. Carmalite Weddle of Salem, first vice-president of the state federation, assisted by Mrs. Charline Edwards, Philomath, second vice-president, installed the officers. Mrs. Alta Dauzenroth was installed as president; Dr. Lelah Pollock, vice-president; Miss Winifred Littlehales, treasurer; Mrs. Vera Hines, secretary, and Mrs. Zelma Smith, corresponding secretary.

The emblem which was used in the initiatory ceremony was given to the new club by the Hillsboro club, Mrs. Marguerite Linn, second vice-president, making the presentation. Mrs. Dauzenroth expressed her surprise and appreciation of the club and herself for the gift.

Soloist for the day was Miss Norma Lakson of Hillsboro, who sang "Come to the Dance" and "Curly Headed Baby," accompanied by Mrs. Sewell. Assembly singing was led by Mrs. Catherine Wiser, with Mrs. Erma Beamish as pianist. Both are members of the Forest Grove club.

Out of the county clubs represented at the meeting were Astoria, Corvallis, Eugene, Oregon City, Portland and Salem.

Congregational Church Notes

In keeping with the idea of Youth Week the Congregational church will give special recognition next Sunday to the young people. The Pilgrim Fellowship groups will be represented in the worship service by Jean Knight and Joan Settlemier. The sermon topic will be "Youths and Adults with One Purpose."

The next church night dinner and service will be Thursday, February 5. The committee in charge will be Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Doyle, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Chapman, Mrs. Augusta Meltebeke, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hoeffel, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Ball, Mr. and Mrs. U. J. Hamby, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Cyrus.

Special interest for the business session will be the voting on the merger of the Congregational-Christian church with the Evangelical-Reformed churches. The merger has already been approved by the latter group. There will also be a report from the newly appointed planning committee as well as reports from the newly organized boards, the church school and Pilgrim Fellowship.

A committee from the Men's club which will be named next week will have charge of a special evening service February 8 when the film "Beyond Our Own" will be shown.

Lawrence Wismer Aids Production

South Hadley, Mass., January 24—Lawrence H. Wismer of Hillsboro, technical director of the Laboratory Theatre at Mount Holyoke College, assisted in the production of the original musical comedy "Soap to Nuts," presented by members of the faculty at the college last Saturday night.

Written and produced by the faculty, the show satirized various aspects of contemporary life, including radio quiz programs, soap opera surrealist art, and the study habits of undergraduates. Proceeds of the performance, given before a capacity audience of students and alumnae, will be divided between food for Europe and the students' campaign to raise $50,000 toward the two million dollar Mount Holyoke endowment drive.

Mr. Wismer, who was in charge of the show's technical production, also wrote a scene taking-off surrealism and designed the surrealistic set for it. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wismer of Hillsboro.

The faculty at Mount Holyoke present a show once every four years.

Whiteside Speaker Royal Arch Masons

Rev. Steen Whiteside was the speaker at Royal Arch chapter No. 51 January 21 at the Masonic hall. Rev. Whiteside gave an interesting talk on the history of stained glass and how stained glass windows are made. He took up this work as a hobby when he saw the need for memorial windows in the church.

He inquired of Charles Connack, noted artist in this work, who advised and assisted him to learn the art of making stained glass windows. Mr. Whiteside also exhibited specimens of antique stained glass he uses and told the group where good stained glass windows may be seen.

A clam chowder feed followed the lodge session.

Mrs. John Hare entertained with a party Friday afternoon honoring her son Billy on his birthday anniversary. Guests were members of Billy's Cub den No. 10. Games and refreshments were the entertainment.

Mrs. Foster Heads Royal Neighbors; Installed Jan. 21

Mrs. Thyra Foster was installed as oracle of the Royal Neighbors at a public installation ceremony held at the Moose hall Wednesday night, January 21. Mrs. Ada Qualls was installing officer, assisted by Beulah Morley, ceremonial marshal; Etta Cook, assistant ceremonial marshal; Myrtle Rieben, chancellor, and Cornelia Johanson, inner sentinel. Merna Watkins and Mabel Campbell assisted with the floor work, and Jessie Walker was the musician.

Other officers installed were Myra Upward, vice oracle; Anna Woodward, past oracle; Vera Engelen, chancellor; Wilma Dally, recorder; Harriet Evenson, receiver; Erma Hines, marshal; Opal Michaelson, assistant marshal; Fanny Rowe, inner sentinel; Tressa Merritt, outer sentinel; Fay Ward (Dora Bringle pro tem), manager; Jessie Walker, musician; Leah Nicodemus, flag bearer. The five graces are Ardath Miller, Faith; Thelma Poppard, Courage; Angie Cooper, Unselfishness; Alice Flavelle, Endurance; Pearl Maier, Modesty.

The five graces and assistant marshal acted as escort team, each carrying a long stemmed red rose, and formed an archway at stations for officers elect to pass through. The hall was decorated with baskets of spring flowers and officers' chairs were adorned with bows and streamers of purple and white, colors of the order.

All officers taking part in the work were presented with corsages. The installing officer, Mrs. Qualls, and ceremonial marshal, Mrs. Morley, were given grand honors and presented with gifts, Mrs. Foster, oracle, making the presentation. The past oracle, Mrs. Anna Woodward, was given grand honors for her splendid work for the past year, and presented with a past oracle's pin and a gift from the camp, Mrs. Qualls made the presentation.

Ten members who had been members of the order for 25 years or more were given grand honors and presented with 25-year jewel pins, Mrs. Qualls making the presentation. Those receiving pins were Beulah Morley, Dora Bringle, Pearl Maier, Myrtle Muse, Fern Ireland, Margaret Thompson, Katherine Wieber, Merna Watkins, Anna Peterson and Ada Qualls. Two others, Ora Laws and Margaret Llewellen, were out of town and not present to receive their pins.

There was a large attendance of members and about 50 visitors from Portland, Banks, Forest Grove and Hillsboro.

The program had been prepared by Fay Ward, but as she was in the hospital at time of installation, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Qualls took charge. The program presented included steel guitar numbers by Freeman Rowe, solo by Mrs. Miller, reading by Myra Upward, tap dancing by Kay Lehman, accordion and guitar numbers with songs, Mary Ellen and Freeman Rowe; song skit, "Oh How She Lied to Me," and "She's Too Fat for Me," by Mrs. Qualls and Mrs. Miller, and barber shop quartet, Harriet Evenson, Marie Straughan, Ardath Miller and Ada Qualls. The program closed by singing old songs led by the quartet.

Vera Engelen was chairman of the refreshment committee, assisted by Anna Peterson, Etta Cook, Anna Woodward and others. The dining room was decorated with spring and hothouse flowers and the long white table was centered with a basket of pink and white carnations, with spring flowers at each end.

Next regular meeting will be Wednesday night, February 4, when the new officers will officiate.
