Oslund Cops Race

H. R. "Hap" Oslund of Hillsboro was the winner of the 10-lap pylon race, which was the second feature of the program. Oslund took off first and scampered low around the course to take an easy win. B. J. Smith of Hillsboro placed second.

Dick Martin, 23-year-old protege of Ralston, collaborated with his teacher in the final event on the program. After Ralston had put his AT-6 through twisting low-altitude maneuvers during his solo act, he climbed into a Cub and performed his "How Not to Fly" routine, with Martin performing at the same time—and often in almost the same place—in the P-40. The pair of aerial experts had collaborated earlier in their skillful display of precision flying in two AT-6's. Martin also provided his solo act in the P-40. Ira Butterworth of the Ralston troupe piloted the light plane used to launch the parachute jumpers.
