A Good Indian.—For some months the United States marshal's force have been anxious to learn the whereabouts of Jerry Martin, an Indian, says the Oregonian, who has been guilty of selling whisky to his aboriginal brethren many times, but always managed to evade arrest. Learning that he had been seen about Florence, Deputy George Humphrey wrote, a short time ago, to City Marshal Morgan, of Florence, asking if Martin was there, what kind of a character he bore, and if he could be got if an officer was sent after him. Mr. Morgan writes back that Martin is there, and that Mr. Humphrey can get him any time he comes after him; that he was one of the best Indians on the Siuslaw river, and, to show that his statements are correct adds that Martin was drowned January 22, and his body was found on the ocean beach five days after. Mr. Morgan is evidently inclined to be facetious.

CLOSSET & DEVERS, PORTLAND, Or.

GOES TO HIS REWARD.

A Young Man Pardoned By The Infinite Judge.

Salem Independent, Feb. 19: The messenger of death visited the penitentiary yesterday afternoon about 1:30 oclock, and took the spirit of Geo. J. Caldwell back to God, who gave it. He was yet a lad 19 years of age, and a life prisoner, for the crime of manslaughter, committed in Jackson county, about two months ago. His story is a sad one, and stands as an example to young men of the fallacy of sowing seed amidst the tares where the tiller tilleth not. Twelve years ago his Christian mother left him for that unknown beyond, to shape his own career and battle with the controversies of life. Five years after the mother's death the father was sentenced to the state prison for murder in the second degree, to remain for his natural life, and he is now a trusty, and is highly spoken of by officers of that institution. After the boy's arrival he went to work with a will, and showed a disposition that was not bad. About three weeks ago he was stricken with typhoid fever from which he died Sunday. The funeral will be a public one and will be conducted by Rev. Shulse, on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. The remains will be interred in the burrying ground set apart for that institution, just east of the prison. This is the first public funeral that has ever been held from the penitentiary for a prisoner.

A Prediction.

A well-informed Portland politician predicts, in a private letter to the Guard, that the republican state ticket will be as follows:

Congressmen—Hermann and Ellis.
Governor—O. N. Denny.
Judge—W. P. Lord.
Attorney-General—C. W. Fulton.
Treasurer—Phil Metschan.
Secretary of state—H. R. Kincaid.
Printer—F. C. Baker.
School superintendent—E. B. McElroy.

Unusual Circumstance.—This is generally regarded as a sort of "off year" all around. There is even a very peculiar coincidence in the manner in which the days and dates of February and March will recur, as a reference to the calendar will reveal. It will be noticed that both months commence on the same day, Thursday, and the days of the week and the dates are just the same all the way through the months—that is, up to February 28—for that is the last day of the present month. This is a most unusual occurrence. Just what significance may be attached to this fact, if any, is at present, a little problematical.

Not a Candidate.—The Salem Statesman says: "Ira L. Campbell, of the Eugene Guard, is mentioned as a candidate for state printer." We will state here that the gentleman will not be a candidate before any convention.

The Astoria literary decided that single blessedness is preferable to married life. That the judges were all Benedicts goes without saying.

Desperate Duel at a Station.

Houston, Tex., Feb. 20.—Last night there was a horrible tragedy here, a sequel to the famous Fort Bend feud, known as the Jaybird-Woodpecker quarrel. James R. Mitchell, a quadruple murderer, was a central figure in that affair. Milton Sparks and D. I. Sutton, constable, of Eagle Lake, were in the city as witnesses in the Fort Bend feud murder case, and Mrs. Sparks accompanied her husband. This engendered bad blood and last night Mitchell, who was waiting for his father and brother from Richmond, espied Sutton. He opened fire, which was promptly returned, Sutton falling after firing the second shot. Mitchell kept up the murderous fusilade until he had fired six shots. The result was that in addition to Sutton being killed, Milton Sparks was shot to death, and Dan Gleason, an omnibus driver, also lies dead. Mrs. Sparks, wife of the murdered man, was badly wounded, as was also the child she carried. A brother of Sparks was mortally wounded, and Mrs. McDowell, an aged lady, received one of the bullets, and her chances of recovery are slim. Mitchell said to a reporter after his arrest: "I shot Sutton for interfering in my family affairs and I hope to h— I killed him. We had a previous difficulty and he sent me word that he would kill me. I am an attached witness, and I believe I was simply attached to get me here to kill me, as I was notified that Sutton and a crowd of six or eight had formed a plot to kill me. I had no grievance against the Sparkses. I shot to kill Sutton, and Sutton to kill me. When I saw he had his hand on his pistol, I said to him, 'We will just settle our trouble right here.' We then went to shooting; his shots passed my head. Those killed back of me Sutton killed; I killed those near him."

It is pretty evident Sutton killed Gleason, while Mitchell killed Sutton, Milton Sparks and the baby, mortally wounded Sparks' brother and shot Mrs. McDowell.

Patents Expire By Limitation.

Washington, Feb. 20.—Patents on a large number of inventions expired by limitation today. Among the more important are the following: Breechloading firearms, C. Estebrook, Boston; overstitch sewing machine, W. A. Palmater, Johnstown, N. Y.; mowers, William S. Stone, New Philadelphia, O.; sewing machines, E. H. Smith, New York; threshing machines, John H. Millard, St. Paul; speed and distance indicators, G. Jesser, Portland, Or.; revolving firearms, Daniel B. Wesson and James H. Bullard, Springfield, Mass.

This is the season of the year when men get named for office without the thought of the office ever having entered their head.

The Eugene lodge of Knights of Pythias celebrated the thirtieth anniversary of the founding of that charitable order in a befitting manner.

Our citizens should make every preparation to entertain the C. P. Assembly which meets in Eugene May 16th. It will be a grand advertisement for our city and Lane county.

W. H. Spaugh, of Junction precinct, last week, left a communication with the editor of this paper denying that he made the assertions concerning educational matters imputed to him by the Florence West. By some means the communication was lost or mislaid, therefore the same did not appear.

A beggar at Pesth, Hungary, who was arrested for throwing himself into the river with intention of killing himself, was discharged after telling his remarkable story. He was an aged and shiveled specimen of humanity, with long, patriarchial beard, and acknowledged that he was 94 years of age. His excuse for attempting to take his own life was that he was no longer able to take care of his father and mother, who were aged 125 and 120 years respectively.

Roseburg Plaindealer: The fight between Ed Hirsh and E. B. McElroy for the republican nomination for secretary of state, promises to be very interesting. It is stated that Joe Simon will support Mr. McElroy, while Sol. Hirsh, ex-minister to turkey, will urge the nomination of the former. Both of the men have been in public office for a number of years, Mr. Hirsh having served as state treasurer for two terms and Mr. McElroy the same length of time as superintendent of public instruction.

The populists propose a novel way of campaigning in Kansas. They will organize a theatrical company of young people, of requisite talent, as an adjunct to the state campaign and send them over the state and give plays depicting the woes and ills which afflict the working class. A number of plays of this character have been written and it is believed the scheme will make a great hit. Governor Lewelling is said to have approved it, and other leading populists agree with him.

The following are the statistics of fruit culture in the neighboring state of Washington: At the end of the planting season of 1894 that state will have 45,000 acres of fruit, which will produce not far from 20,000 tons next year. Whitman county takes the lead with about 400 car loads, Walla Walla will produce 250, Yakima 200, Clarke 170, Lewis 100, Kittitas 90, and others will vary from 10 to 60 each. In dried fruits Clark county leads with about 55 car loads. In peaches Whitman and Clarke will lead. It is estimated that 1,500,000 trees will be planted this coming season.

Monday's Salem Journal: Papers were served this afternoon, by Sheriff Knight, on Governor Pennoyer, State Treasurer Metschan and Secretary of State McBride, as board of trustees, to build a branch asylum in Eastern Oregon, notifying them that an injunction was asked of Judge Burnett at this term of court to restrain them from proceeding in that manner. This is the suit of one Taylor, a citizen of Polk county who sues as a taxpayer. In the former Soldier's Home case Judge Burnett granted the writ.

Ragged and dirty, his face bearing traces of dissipation, James Tobin, a former Chicago millionaire, stood in the prisoner's dock at the Chicago avenue station last Saturday morning charged with vagrancy. The complaining witnesses were William Byrne, who is said to be a son-in-law of the old man. Tobin said he had lived at a certain place for 20 years and the parlor was none too good for him once. As he grew older he was moved to a back room, and was now an occupant of the basement. Tobin at one time owned part of the Lake Shore drive.

Grenaille, a French author of th Sixteenth century, wrote a large and very scientific book on female beauty, and endowed his idea of female loveliness with the following attributes: "Youth, medium stature, chestnut brown hair, symmetry of limb, a delicate skin, revealing the blue veins, rosy complexion, a smooth, serene brow, uniformly arched temples, narrow eyebrows, which do not meet; eloquent dark-brown eyes, a winsome smile, cherry-red lips, a small mouth, small, milk-white teeth, a sweet breath, a soft, agreeable voice; a chin which does not protrude and is graced by a dimple; small, rosy ears; a slender throat of ivory whiteness; small, soft, white hands, nicely tapering fingers, graceful gestures, an even dignified walk, shining finger nails, smooth and soft skin; an even, pleasant temperament, good taste in dress, superficial education; small, pretty feet and attentive demeanor toward others."

The old staunch republican paper, the Roseburg Plaindealer, talks thusly in its last issue: There seems to be no disposition on the part of W. L. Boise to relinquish the chairmanship of the republican state central committee. Although not proven guilty of smuggling, for which crime he is now awaiting trial, persons who have seen him recently are of the opinion that he is "badly scared." At the recent meeting of the committee the question of his being requested to resign was talked of among the members, but it was the general opinion that he would tender his resignation without being called on to do so. The republican party of Oregon is now under the management of a man who has been indicted for smuggling, which, to say the least, is not a very desirable state of affairs. The sooner Mr. Boise is "fired" the better it will be for the party.

According to Pratorious, the man in the moon is the Patriarch Isaac, carrying the bundle of sticks which were to be lighted to sacrifice his own body on the mountain top. Dante believes him to be Cain, carrying a bundle of thorns—the meanest offering his lands afforded—as a present to God. In Iceland the people claim that they can see the face of Adam in the moon, and that of Eve in the sun. Among the Frieburgers there is a superstition which says that the marks and spots on the moon's face are the outlines of the traitor, Judas Iscariot, holding his hand over his face while sneezing just prior to hanging himself. This last belief accords with the old Frankish legend, which says that there was no spots on luna's bright face until after the time of the crucifixion of Christ. Still another story tells us that in the time of the creation of God threw an offending angel against the face of the moon, while another is to the effect that the moon witnessed the creation of Adam and Eve, and took an impress of their features on his surface, intending to people his own land with similar beings. When he essayed to imitate God's works he made nothing but a slimy serpent, which since that day has continued to fold and unfold its mighty coils in full view of the descendants of the God-created beings.

Whenever an honest comparison is made between Oregon and other states Oregon comes out on top. After reading the following from the Salem Independent Willamette Valley farmers should wear a contented smile: Mr. Garhard Hoschel, who has been in Salem for the past three years, and who went to Texas about six weeks ago with a view of locating, returned to Salem a few days ago. Mr. Hoschel visited his brother at Giddings, Lee county, (about 45 miles north of Austin, the capital) for three weeks. His report of Texas is not very encouraging to people who think of going there to live. A change in the temperature of 60 to 65 degrees in 24 hours would made an Oregonian sigh for a webfoot shower, while the high winds, that are continually blowing, would make him weary of life. Mr. Hoschel says that farmers are getting from five to six cents per dozen for eggs, ten to twelve cents per pound for butter, $1 to $1.25 per dozen for chickens while the ordinary goods that they buy cost them but very little, if any less, than would be paid for the same goods in Oregon. Lee county's principal products are cotton and corn, neither of which brought very much money into the country this last season. Mr. Hoschel left Texas satisfied that country where a large percentage of the population is afflicted with rheumatism, and where physicians and drug stores thrive, as they do in Texas, was not the place to locate in, and came back to Oregon where he will hereafter reside.

THE TAXES.

The Total State, County, District and City Taxes in Lane County Amounts to $128,726 64.

County Clerk Waker has completed the footings of the amount of taxes to be collected in Lane county this year. They are as follows:

State and county		$110,836 21
School districts		8,319 28
CITIES.
Eugene	$8 867 48
Junction	539 07
Springfield	144 65	9,571 20
Total		$128,726 64

The state and county taxes last year, alone, amounted to $145,987 [illegible].

Decision Reversed.—Roseburg Review: In the supreme court today, in the case of Sylvester Pennoyer et al vs. W. R. Willis, the decision of the lower court was reversed. This is the celebrated school money case, and has been tried at least a half-dozen times in the circuit court, the verdict last time being against the defendant, Judge Willis. He appealed and the supreme court sustained the lower court, but Willis secured a rehearing which was just decided today. The case must now come back for a new trial in the circuit court.

His Own House Near Visalia.

Visalia, Cal., Feb. 19.—Chris Evans and Morell are surrounded in Evans' house. Their capture is now only a question of a few hours. They have been there since daylight, since which time the house has been completely surrounded, and escape is impossible. At 5, a. m., a messenger was sent into the house with a note from Sheriff Kay and another one from a Catholic priest advising them to surrender to save life, as their capture is certain. The outlaws have detained the messenger as a hostage. The house is small, only two rooms, and easily commanded by the officers. About noon there was a general move on it if no surrender takes place before then. Undoubtedly there will be some lives lost before the house is stormed.

A messenger waiting an hour for the return of Beason, the messenger, who went in with notes to Evans and Morell, it became evident that he was held as a hostage, and the posse closed up, waiting for further developments. At 10 o'clock Evans sent out a child with a note for Sheriff Kays, asking him to come into the house for consultation. It was then ascertained definitely from the child that one woman and some children were in the house with the bandits, besides the hostage Beason held. After an exchange of several notes between Evans and Sheriff Kay they finally agreed to come out if the officers were instructed not to shoot and the large crowd of people who had gathered to witness the affair, were sent back.

THE BANDITS SURRENDER.

At 10:40 the door of Evans' cabin opened and Morell appeared and held up his hands, followed immediately after by Evans with out arms. They were immediately covered by 20 rifles and Sheriff Kay and Marshal Gard advanced and shook hands with Evans. A delivery wagon was pressed into service and they were driven rapidly to jail.

Beason, the man who was captured and held as hostage, is an old friend of Evans. He says that when he rapped at the door of the cabin, Evans appeared, gun in hand, and after he ascertained who wanted admittance, immediately jerked him into the cabin and slammed and locked the door. He then had Beason tell him the exact situation on the out side and asked his advice. Beason told him that the whole country was aroused, that hundreds of men, armed with rifles, shotguns and revolvers were concealed behind every fence, outbuilding and point of vantage, and that it was impossible for them to escape. They were only waiting for the woman and children to be removed to make a determined attack on the house. Finally Evans concluded that it would be impossible to escape, and, making a virtue of necessity, surrendered.

Evans looks very thin and pale, as if he had passed through a severe spell of sickness. There is great rejoicing here at the capture as many persons had come to fear his vengeance for giving information to officers, and there was a general belief that some valuable lives would be lost before he could be captured. He is now safely lodged in the county jail, and it is safe to say will not be given an opportunity to escape.

EVANS BETRAYED BY A FRIEND.

Visalia, Cal., Feb. 19.—Evans and Morell were expected here Saturday night, and United States Marshal Gard was telegraphed the fact at Los Angeles. They did not arrive, however, but came last night. W. V. Brighton, who lives in Evans' house, informed the officers of the bandits' arrival, and he was detained in jail until the full facts were learned. Marshal Gard arrived at 3 o'clock this morning, and Sheriff Kay and posse had the house surrounded all night to prevent the escape of the bandits. Brighton and his wife have been living in Evans' house and caring for the four little children of Evans. Brighton has assiduously been acting with the officers; at least he gave the bandits away last night, but whether freely or under compulsion is not positively known. If Evans is not removed to the penitentiary trouble may occur tonight, as there are people here who favor taking possession of the prisoner and hanging him. They say our community has suffered enough from the actions of Evans. The officers have heard the rumors and will take precautions, maybe by taking the prisoners away by a special train. Fresno officers were notified this morning that he was here, but none came to assist in the arrest. It turns out that Mrs. Brighton and the children were not at home, only Evans and Morell being in the house. But the crowd was too large for them to attempt to escape.

EVANS' PARTNER WAS NOT MORELL.

The man captured this morning with Evans was not Morell. He says he is a man who worked in the dining-room with him. John March, who met Evans several weeks ago at Churchill, in reporting the fact here, said people would be surprised when they learned who Evans' partner is. Several citizens say that the man now under arrest with Evans is named Enlow. The young man was raised eight miles east of the city, in what was called the Swamp. Marshal Gard says Evans and Morell were not in the Roscoe robbery. He has known their whereabouts, he claims, for weeks.

Was a Surprise to Everybody.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Senator White of Louisiana, has been nominated by the president as associate justice of the United States supreme court.

The nomination was a complete surprise to every one. Hill and the republican members who have been questioned, say very little about White's confirmation.

Senator White of Louisiana, was nominated as associate judge of the supreme court of the United States.

Edward Douglas White was born in Parish at Lafourche, Louisiana, November, 1845. He was educated at St. Mary's Jesuit college, near Pittsburg, Md. He served in the Confederate army, and was licensed to practice law in the supreme court in 1868. He was elected state senator in 1874 and was appointed associate justice of the supreme court of Louisiana in 1878, and was elected to the United States senate in 1890, to succeed James B. Eustis. His senatorial term will expire March 3, 1897.

FORM ON THE SOUND.

Fall and Severe Gales at Tacoma and Seattle.

Tacoma, Feb. 19.—The several storms for years is raging throughout this state. Wind blew sixty miles an hour four hours this morning.

Seattle, Feb. 19.—The worst blizzard for years is blowing over the Sound. Snow is about five inches deep, drifting badly.

Visitors Esther Cleveland.

Washington, Feb. 19.—The young lady of the president's household was married to Esther Cleveland yesterday afternoon in the Blue room of the White House. Only members of the family and a few intimate friends were present.

Interesting Complication.

New York, Feb. 19.—The income tax bill, which passed the house of representatives, and which is now in the United States senate, provides in its present form, that incomes of $4,000 and less shall pay no tax. Incomes of more than $4,000, derived from whatever source, will pay a 2 per cent. tax only on the excess over $4,000. The possessor of an income of $5,000 must pay 2 per cent. on $1,000. The tax upon corporations, includes every phase of corporate stock. This tax is general; is without the $4,000 redemption allowed to individual incomes. It is provided that, in collecting the tax on corporate stock, the corporation shall pay the tax, and deduct the amount from the dividends of the stockholders.

There are in New York City, at a conservative calculation, the surprising number of 1,157 individuals and estates that are each worth at least, $1,000,000. There are in Brooklyn 162 individuals and estates each worth at least $1,000,000. In these two cities there are then 1,319 millionaires. But many of these are worth much more than $1,000,000; they are multi-millionaires. Let us see how much are the annual incomes of some of these millionaires, and, aproximately, also, how much they will pay each year to the government should the income tax become a law.

The nature of these great fortunes is different, and, they therefore, yield different incomes. The rates of interest which some of the more conspicuous ones draw, are reckoned in round numbers thus:

John D. Rockefeller's, 6 per cent.; William Waldorf Astor's, 7 per cent.; Jay Gould's estate, which being wrapped up in corporations, is still practically undivided, 4 per cent.; Cornelius Vanderbilt, 5 per cent.; William K. Vanderbilt, 5 per cent.

Calculating at the foregoing rates, and compounding the interest semi-annually, to allow for reinvestment, the yearly and daily incomes of the four individuals and the estate are as follows:

	Yearly income.	Daily income.
John. D. Rockefeller	$7,611,250	$20,859
William Waldorf Astor	8,960,000	25,577
Jay Gould's estate	4,040,000	11,068
Cornelius Vanderbilt	4,048,000	11,090
William K. Vanderbilt	3,795,000	10,397

The average rate of interest is 5½ per cent. The incomes of the millionaires in the list that follows here have been calculated at the rate of 5 per cent. The amount of income tax has been calculated without deducting the $4,000 from the incomes. Four thousand dollars is here insignificant, and, besides, in many cases would be paid by corporations:

John D. Rockefeller, worth $125,000,000; income $7,611,250.

William Waldorf Astor, worth $120,000,000; income $8,900,000.

Russell Sage, $90,000,000, income $4,500,000.

Gould estate, $100,000,000; income, $4,500,000.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, $100,000,000; income, $4,048,000.

William K. Vanderbilt, $80,000,000; income $3,795,000.

H. M. Flagler, $60,000,000; income $3,000,000.

F. W. Vanderbilt, $35,000,000; income $1,750,000.

John Jacob Astor, $50,000,000; income $2,500,000.

L. C. Tiffany, $35,000,000; income $1,750,000.

C. P. Huntington, $20,000,000; income $1,000,000.

William Rockefeller, $60,000,000; income $3,000,000.

Mrs. Eliot F. Shepard, $20,000,000; income $1,000,000.

Mrs. Hetty Green, $60,000,000; income $3,000,000.

Moses Taylor, $50,000,000; income $2,500,000.

Robert Golet, $25,000,000; income $1,250,000.

Ogden Golet, $20,000,000; income $1,000,000.

Singer estate, $30,000,000; income, $1,500,000.

J. Pierpont Morgan, $25,000,000; income $1,250,000.

Davis Dows, $20,000,000; income $1,000,000.

Elbridge T. Gerry, $20,000,000; income $1,000,000.

Schermerhorn estate, $25,000,000; income $1,250,000.

J. A. Bostwick, $20,000,000; income $1,000,000.

Theodore Havemeyer, $30,000,000; income $1,000,000.

Henry O. Havemeyer, 30,000,000; income $1,500,000.

W. Sloane, $20,000,000; income $1,000,000.

Mrs. W. D. Sloane, $20,000,000; income $1,000,000.

Henry Hilton, $20,000,000; income $1,000,000.

Andrew Carnegie, $20,000,000; income $1,000,000

H. Victor Newcomb, $15,000,000; income $750,000.

Mrs. H. McK Tombley, $20,000,000; income $1,000,000.

Geo. W. Vanderbilt, $30,000,000; income $1,500,000.

William C. Whitney, $20,000,000; income $1,000,000.

William P. Furniss, $20,000,000; income $1,000,000.

Darius O. Mills, $20,000,000; income $1,000,000.

Percy R. Pyne, $30,000,000; income $1,500,000.

Andrien Iselin $12,000,000; income $600,000.

This includes probably all the millionaires whose fortunes exceed 10,000,000. There are over a thousand others in New York who can count their wealth at over one million dollars.

Killed by Escaping Gas.

San Francisco, Feb. 20.—Jean Pierre Stock and his wife, a middle-aged couple, were found dead in their sleeping apartment late last night, asphyxiated by gas. When found, Stock was sitting in his chair while his wife was in bed. The gas had evidently been either blown out or turned on accidentally.

Twice a Murderer.

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 19.—News comes of a double murder at a wedding in Allegheny county. Daniel Slaughter had a difficulty with some persons present. Suddenly Slaughter sprang at John Bare and stabbed him to the heart. Bare fell dead and Slaughter dashed for the door. On his way he stabbed John Long, killing him instantly. Slaughter was captured two miles away and safely lodged in jail at Sparta.

Lynchers Discovered It.

Visalia, Cal., Feb. 20.—This morning develops the fact that there was a well-organized vigilance committee last night who intended to take Evans and Morell out and hang them. The attempt on the jail was to have been made at 10 o'clock, but the officers got wind of it, and, together with Sheriff Scott, got two carriages and were driven up to the side entrance of the jail and at 8 o'clock they were quietly taken out and driven rapidly toward Goshen. A few moments after they left the fire bell rang mysteriously and word was passed around that the birds had flown. All sorts of conveyances were pressed into service and the chase commenced. Officers here telephoned Sheriff Kay, at Goshen, that a committee were on the track, and instead of stopping their whips were plied freely, and they made for Traver. It is supposed they took the northbound train there or further on for Fresno, which was their destination. There is no doubt had they not been removed something would have been found gracing a tree or telegraph pole.

NOW ON HIS WAY TO FOLSOM.

Fresno, Feb. 20.—Evans and Morell were landed in the Fresno jail this morning, having been driven from Visalia over the plains by Sheriff Scott of Fresno, and Sheriff Kay and Deputy Sheriff Witty of Tulare. The officers left Visalia shortly before 8 o'clock to avoid an attack that was to have been made on the jail at Visalia at 10 o'clock last night. A posse of citizens that started in pursuit were eluded, and the sheriff and his prisoners drove into Fresno, stopping at Kingsburg to change horses. At the Fresno jail Evans called out to Jailer Manley, "I want to come home," and the doors were opened to let him in.

Evans was taken from the jail to the superior court by Sheriff Scott and deputies at 10 o'clock this morning. The court room was soon crowded with excited spectators. Judge Harris announced that the hour for passing sentence had arrived and asked the prisoner if he had anything to say. His attorney, S. J. Hinds, made the customary motion for a new trial, which was denied. He then in behalf of his client, asked that the prisoner be sent to San Quentin instead of Folsom, but the judge disregarded his request and ordered him incarcerated at Folsom for life. Evans was not fettered in any manner, the officers apparently not fearing that any effort would be made by him to escape. Evans' face bore a cheerful look throughout the proceedings, and he greeted those who spoke to him after and before the sentence with a smile. He denies in positive terms that he in any manner abused Mrs. Brighton, as charged in previous reports. Evans will leave here on the noon train for Folsom under a strong guard. His pal, Morell, seems to regard himself as somewhat of a hero.

Stockton Flooded.

Stockton, Feb. 20.—The indications are that the city of Stockton will be entirely flooded by the middle of the afternoon. The great storm has not ended, and the warm rain here is falling and melting the snow in the mountains and foothills. The water is reported coming with a rush, and at Holden station, seven miles from here it is four feet deep on the railroad track. Mormon channel has overflowed its banks on the avenue at the intersection of Sutter, San Joaquin and Hunter streets, and is fast flooding the southern part of the city. The water from this channel at noon had slowly approached the business center and crossed a tier of three blocks. Miner channel is now running over at Hunter and San Joaquin streets, and the water is creeping along to the jail and new telephone building. Residences in the neighborhood of Miner channel cannot escape the flood. Business men have worked all night getting goods from the cellars and lower floors. The Calaveras river and streams adjacent are out out of their banks, and the cemeteries and additions north of the city are getting the benefit of the water.

An Extensive Fire.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—The immense tin-can and japanned-ware factory of Norton Bros., on Dock and Water streets, was burned last night. Loss $600,000.

Passed Forged Checks.

Denver, Feb. 20.—Robert S. Holding has been arrested, charged with attempting to pass forged checks amounting to nearly $8000. His family are prominent people of Terre Haute, Ind., where he has a wife and two children. His brother is a popular minister in Toledo, O., and his sister the wife of Rev. George M. Jeffrey, of Provo, Utah.

Insane Asylum Burned.

Rochester, N. Y., Feb. 20.—The state hospital for the insane located here burned early this morning. Loss, $120,000. The greatest excitement and panic prevailed among the inmates, but all were removed safely. There were in the institution 220 male and 213 female patients, and 110 keepers and officials.
